Maryland Efforts To Save Key Farmland Are Falling Short

Barnice Kepple, Farm Editor

Farming In Maryland.....

Asserting Maryland is not safeguarding its priority farmland from development, a diverse group of 20 farmers, environmentalists, planners, developers, and state officials has advocated adopting a strategic, more focused approach to farmland protection based on sophisticated new mapping techniques and a model program of proven incentive-based and regulatory land preservation tools.

The group, Chesapeake Farms for the Future Board, said that if embraced by Maryland, the plan would be the country's first and would serve as a national prototype for defining and preserving threatened or important farmland. It called for greater federal, state, and county financing and urged that the Rural Legacy Program, which this year will target some $29 million for farmland protection, remain fully funded.

Interests with traditionally divergent views on the issue endorsed the plan, including the Home Builders Association of Maryland, Chesapeake Bay Foundation, Maryland Farm Bureau, the Nature Conservancy of Maryland, and American Farmland Trust.

CFFB, part of the Future Harvest Project which was formed in 1994 by local agriculturists and environmentalists to promote the economic, environmental, and social sustainability of area agriculture, said its proposals follow a comprehensive three-year appraisal of Maryland's current farmland protection efforts. The assessment showed that despite having one of the country's oldest farmland protection programs, the state is still losing considerably more farmland than it saves--one acre preserved for every three acres developed—with more than 1.8 million acres unprotected from the growth pressure now buffeting the state. Compared to its model program, CFFB said Maryland's farmland protection programs and incentives are frequently weak or ill-funded, agricultural conservation zoning often is ineffective, and economic development incentives for farmers generally are nonexistent. Less than 10 percent of the state's farmland identified as having the greatest agricultural, economic, cultural, environmental cultural, or historic importance has been preserved, and fewer than half of Maryland's 23 counties, have established farmland protection goals. Of those, only two have established a timeline to reach their objectives.

The Maryland Department of Agriculture reports that for every person added to the state's census rolls, one acre of productive farmland is being lost. It says that should that ratio persist, the state in two generations will not have a single acre of farmland left to feed its projected population of 9 million.

CFFB and Future Harvest Project leaders said that for a natural resource so crucial to Maryland and its future well-being, the state can and must begin doing better.

"Protecting our farmland preserves our countryside and open space, our environment and leading industry, our watersheds and wildlife habitat, as well as our key social, historical, and cultural landmarks," observed Wayne McGinnis, CFFB chairman and a fourth-generation Baltimore County grain and beef cattle farmer, who, as head of the Maryland Agricultural Land Preservation Board has been a leading proponent of stronger state and national farmland protection programs.

"The fact is, it protects our very quality of life from development. If we are to be successful, truly successful at saving this resource, we need to begin looking at newer, more effective strategies and techniques than those that have served us until now. Certainly one way is to become better focused and targeted in our farmlaud protection efforts."

Under CFFB's approach outlined in a report released this week, "Farms for the Future: A Strategic Approach To Saving Maryland's Farmland and Rural Resources," strategic farmland, the ag land most worthy of protection, is first pinpointed on maps based on the residential development risk or its environmental, economic, historic, cultural, or productive agricultural cable. CFFB used existing state and federal databases and sophisticated Geographic Information System computer technology to create the county and statewide ntaps. Then one or more of the tools or techniques in its model program would be employed over a given time to save the strategic land from urban development and to direct growth elsewhere.

Specified tools include purchase of development rights, transfer of development rights, donations of development rights, agricultural conservation and cluster zoning, right to farm protection, property tax credits, infrastructure restrictions, ag economic development incentives, and more. (Descriptions of the fore-going are available upon request.)

To fund the effort, CFFB called on the state to provide counties matching farmland protection grants, interim financing for key, critically threatened farms, special funding for individual farm economic development plans, and greater funding for existing state farmland protection and open space programs. It also urged the General Assembly to continue fully funding the Rural Legacy Program and asked state agencies to fully implement the Smart Growth and Neighborhood Conservation Initiative. CFFB also advocated an expanded Federal Farmland Protection Program.

The proposals are a result of a unique three-year consensus-building process that brought together groups that historically had differed over the issue of growth management and farmland protection. In the end, however, all endorsed the report and its recommendations.

"We believe it is important to have a broad agreement on where high value farmland exists and viable mechanisms to preserve it," said Dr. John E. Kortecamp, executive vice president for the Home Builders Association of Maryland. "We also belleve that all parties must recognize that because of our growth protection for Maryland in the next 20 years, new land, some of it farmland, will have to be developed. The concern is to preserve the land which is of uniquely high value and provide mechanisms for the development of other areas."

Michael Hirshfield, vice president of resource protection programs for the Chesapeake Bay Foundation, noted, "Well-managed farms are critical to the economy, culture, and ecology of the Bay, which is why the Chesapeake Bay Foundation has worked for years to promote innovative and sustainable farming practices. As the report illustrates, the state must take a more aggressive approach to farmland protection if farms are to be part of Maryland's future."

And Ralph Grossi, president of America Farmland Trust, observed, "The information developed and the recommendations made in this report come at a critical time for the state of Maryland as it moves to implement its Smart Growth and Rural Legacy initiatives. Other key agricultural regions across the nation will be watching this model very closely for application in their areas."

Agriculture is Maryland's top industry, with $1.56 billion in annual commodity sales. The state has 13,700 farms averaging 153 acres in size. Broilers, greenhouse/nursery products, dairy goods, corn, and soybeans are the state's leading agricultural products.

George Maurer, land use planner for the Chesapeake Bay Foundation, and Jill Schwartz, mid-Atlantic field director for American Farmland Trust, prepared the report for CFFB, which was established in July 1995 by the Future Harvest Project. Future Harvest is a collaborative effort funded by the W.K. Kellogg Foundation. Project collaborators include the Chesapeake Bay Foundation, Cooperative Extension services of the University of Maryland and Delaware State University, Accokeek Foundation, American Farmland Trust, Chesapeake Wildlife Heritage, Maryland Farm Bureau, Maryland Department of Agriculture, Maryland Organic Food and Farming Association, and the Maryland/Delaware Sustainable Agricultural Association.

Chairman, Chesapeake Farms for the Future
Future Harvest Project

Recent opinion polls and news reports all suggest the public is becoming increasingly concerned over runaway growth and its ramifications in the metropolitan Washington and Baltimore areas and the surrounding mid-Atlantic region. As our population soars and shifts to rural areas with cheaper land and greater open space, growing numbers of residents are openly voicing their frustration and distress over the impact of sprawling development on their lives.

Frequently overshadowed in the clamor about sprawl-induced construction, congestion, crime, and overcrowded classrooms is the destruction of our farmland and the agrarian way of life it has provided generations of Maryland farmers and the escalating conflicts between farmers and city dwellers who want country surroundings but eschew the agricultural traditions.

In the last 45 years, about 2 million acres of Maryland farmland, more than half the total agricultural land base in 1950, were paved over as the state's population swelled by 2.5 million. That means just about one acre of farmland production was lost for every person added to the state's census rolls. The Maryland Department of Agriculture says that should the ratio persist, the state in just two generations will not have a single acre of farmland left to feed its projected population of 9 million. If that trend is not sufficiently sobering, then consider the fate of the Maryland farmer. In 1950, the state had 39,000 farmers. Today, the number is 13,000 and falling.

As a fourth-generation Maryland farmer with a true passion for the land and a strong commitment to seeing it saved from rampant, runaway growth, I am concerned about the loss of the state's farmers and farmland. This is a state with a proud agricultural heritage. During the Revolutionary War, our farmland generated flour, meat, and other foodstuffs for George Washington's army and his French allies, an action for which we later were hailed as the Breadbasket of the Revolution. Soil additives were developed in Maryland, and the nation's first manufactured fertilizer was produced in Baltimore. Even today agriculture remains Maryland's largest industry with $1.5 billion in annual sales, and the farmland upon which this economic powerhouse is based continues to offer numerous other environmental, social, scenic, historical, cultural, and wildlife benefits.

To its credit, the state has recognized the widespread but often underappreciated values of our farmland and the development threat facing it. Long before most, Maryland established a number of farmland protection programs, and it now leads the country in farmland acreage permanently saved from development.

But admirable as they are, the programs still have not been enough. Much of our most important farmland remains at serious risk of being overrun. Moreover, less than seven percent of the state's farmland with prime or productive soils and an even smaller percentage of ag land with key environmental, cultural, or historical features have been permanently protected.

Three years ago, the Future Harvest Project brought together a diverse group of public and private agricultural, environmental, political, planning, and development interests as the Chesapeake Farms for the Future Board. The board completed an appraisal of the state's farmland protection efforts. As part of the process, it identified on sophisticated, computer-generated maps the state's strategic farmland, the land most deserving protection because of its agricultural, environmental, cultural, or historical importance or its risk of being developed. It also developed a model farmland protection program.

The model is the first of its kind in the country. It relies on a comprehensive mix of proven incentive-based and regulatory farmland protection techniques that evenly divide program cost between individual landowners and the general public.

With the program, responsible county and state agencies would establish plans with firm farmland protection goals and timetables— goals and timetables that identify on the maps which strategic farmland to save and how. Agricultural zoning protection would be strengthened. More compact, efficient housing would be encouraged in farming areas. Landowners would receive stronger incentives for enrolling their land in agricultural protection districts. Federal and state funding for farmland protection programs would be increased to truly allow landowners the option of saving their land rather than developing it. Counties would provide agricultural economic development incentives and make sure rezoning requests adhere to their farmland protection goals.

Under the proposed approach, strategic farmland would be saved while growth is directed to land of less environmental and agricultural importance. Sprawl could be slowed, if not stopped.

I was born and raised on my family's farm in Baltimore County. Farming has been my life. And I want it to be my children's life and their children's too. But we are at a crossroads when it comes to the farmers and farmland of this state. Do we continue along our present path, knowing that in just a few generations, sprawl will have blanketed most of Maryland and a truly significant natural resource will have been lost? Or do we consider newer, more effective farmland protection and growth management strategies and techniques than those that have served us until now? Do we become better focused and targeted in our farmland protection efforts and adopt the tools and techniques of this model program?

For me the choice is clear. For me, saving farmland is the surest sprawl stopper of them all.

Wayne McGinnis, a fourth-generation Baltimore County, Md., farmer, is chairman of the Chesapeake Farms for the Future Board. The board is one of four created to carry out the mission of the Future Harvest Project. Future Harvest is working to ensure a future for agriculture in the Chesapeake Bay watershed by promoting the adoption of more economically, environmentally, and socially sustainable farming programs and practices. McGinnis is also chairman of the Maryland Agricultural Land Preservation Foundation Board.

BROILER SHOW '98 RESULTS - Twenty-two Garrett County youth participated in the annual 4-H/FFA Broiler Show on June 10 at the Garrett County Extension Office. Southern States Oakland Cooperative Inc. donated the chicks to the participants, who raised them for seven weeks. The dressed bird samples were judged on several factors, including feed to meat conversion ratios, weight, and appearance. Participants had to present two dressed bird samples and turn in a record sheet to complete the project. Winter Wheat Harvest In Full Swing

Winter wheat harvest came into full swing as 24% of the crop has been combined. This was a 14 point increase from the previous week and put wheat harvesting well ahead of the previous year and the five year average. Wheat condition was 2% very poor, 7% poor, 33% fair, 51% good, and 7% excellent. Barley harvesting made a large advance as it progressed 23 points from last week. Barley condition was 2% poor, 40% fair, 51% good, and 7% excellent. Rye harvesting moved to 53% complete. Rye condition was 1% poor, 20% fair, 68% good, and 11% excellent.

Soybean planting progressed fairly well as 68% was reported as planted. This was ahead of both the previous year and the five year average. Sixty-one percent of the planted soybeans had emerged. Sorghum planting made great progress and is nearly finished for the state.

Apple condition was 1% poor, 18% fair, 64% good, and 17% excellent. Peach condition was 1% poor, 15% fair, 69% good, and 15% excellent. Pasture condition was 4% poor, 18% fair, 58% good, and 20% excellent. There were 3.6 days suitable for fieldwork during the week.

Topsoil moisture was 7% short, 78% adequate, and 15% surplus. Subsoil moisture was 5% short, 84% adequate, and 11% surplus.

Maryland's crop progress for the week which ended June 21, listing the item, the percentage for this week, last week, last year, and the five year average, in that order, follows.

Development: barley, harvested 81, 58, 40, 42; winter wheat, turned 96, 80, 64, 75, harvested 24, 10, 0, 3; rye, harvested 53, 52, 21, 16.

Planting progress: soybeans, planted 68, 49, 65, 65, emerged 61, 44, [illegible]; sweet corn 93, 92, 93, 94; snap beans 77, 76, 85, 83; cucumbers, harvested 9, 6, 9, 8; sorghum 96, 71, 76, 78; lima beans 71, 70, 40, 63; green peas, harvested 70, 65, 71, 61.

Fruit crops progress: strawberries harvested 91, 85, 62, 83.

Hay harvesting progress: other hay, 1st cutting 88, 81, 81, 87, 2nd cutting 23, 15, 6, 4; alfalfa hay, 2nd cutting 25, 21, 24, 20.

Winter Wheat Production Up 2 Percent

Winter wheat production is forecast at 1.74 billion bushels, up 2% from May 1, but down 7% from last year. Based on conditions as of June 1, the U.S. yield is forecast at 42.9 bushels per acre. This is up a bushel from the last forecast, but still down from last year's record high average. Grain area totals 40.6 million acres, slightly less than last month.

Hard winter wheat production is up 4% from last month to 1.03 billion bushels. White winter wheat production is up 3% to 263 million bushels, due to improved Pacific Northwest yields. Soft red wheat is down 2% from last month to 454 million bushels.

The winter wheat crop developed ahead of normal as the month began. In the southern Great Plains, hot weather caused the crop to rapidly mature, but also caused conditions to steadily decline as the month progressed, especially in Texas. From the central Great Plains northward, above-normal temperatures, combined with timely rains, kept development well ahead of normal and conditions remained mostly good. Warm weather also promoted rapid growth in the eastern Corn Belt, but crop conditions declined slightly due to diseases caused by excessive rainfall early in the month. In Montana, excessively dry weather for most of the month caused conditions to decline.

Yields in the delta and southeastern soft red winter states are generally equal to or lower than last month. Hot, dry weather has sped Alabama's harvest to 27% complete. The Georgia harvest started at mid-May and is also 27% complete. Disease problems and lodging have Kentucky growers less optimistic than a month ago. The March freeze has apparently hurt Tennessee wheat more than was thought. This, coupled with disease pressures, has lowered yield prospects. Rains have caused ponding in some southwest Indiana wheat fields; a very good crop is expected in the northeast.

McHenry Man Nets Jail Sentence For Resisting Arrest

A McHenry man was sentenced to 10 days in jail after pleading guilty to charges of resisting arrest and disorderly conduct in recent Garrett County District Court proceedings.

William Scott McKenzie, 22, received a 30-day sentence, all but 10 days of which were suspended, and was placed on one year of supervised probation by Judge Ralph M. Burnett. The charges stemmed from McKenzie's March arrest by Maryland state troopers who were summoned to the Garrett Highway BP station/BFS convenience store by McKenzie himself.

The charging statement reported that when troopers arrived they found McKenzie, who appeared to be intoxicated, claiming that the convenience store clerk had stolen money from him. McKenzie's behavior, described as loud and profane, reportedly grew more agitated as he related his story, and he allegedly began pushing the troopers when they attempted to remove him from the store. He was then placed under arrest, and reportedly continued his loud and profane language as he was transported to the McHenry State Police Barrack, where he allegedly initiated a physical altercation with troopers there.

In other district court news, Paul Allen Friend, 20, Oakland, was sentenced as a result of an earlier conviction for second-degree assault. He was handed a six-month suspended sentence and placed on one year of supervited probation for allegedly punching out the driver's side window of a parked car occupied by a female acquaintance. The glass reportedly showered in on the woman and a shard cut her lip. The Garrett County Sheriff's Office arrested Friend after the February incident, and he pleaded guilty in his court appearance.

Nathan Joseph Bridges, 18, Frostburg, was sentenced after an earlier conviction for second-degree assault. He was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $100, and placed on one year of supervised probation. The judge also required Bridges to pay $117 to the victim and $100 to the Domestic Violence Shelter.

Bridges had earlier entered a guilty plea to the charge, which stemmed from his October arrest by sheriff's deputies of allegedly punching a female acquaintance during a domestic dispute at his residence. He reportedly also pushed her to the floor, and when she ran out of the home and got into her car and to attempt to flee the assault, he allegedly chased after her, grabbed her by the arm, and forcibly dragged her out of the car.

Jason Lewis, 23, Oakland, pleaded guilty to a charge of felony theft and was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of supervised probation, ordered to complete 40 hours of community service, and required to make a restitution payment of $300 to the complainant. The Oakland City Police arrested Lewis in February for allegedly stealing furniture and other items belonging to the owner of an Oakland residence that he had been renting.

Shirley Dale Jarrell, 32, Accident, was sentenced following a previous drug conviction of obtaining prescription medication via fraud. State troopers arrested Jarrell following an investigation that uncovered allegations that she had fraudulently obtained a large quantity of the schedule 4 narcotic propoxyphene from seven different Garrett County doctors. Jarrell pleaded guilty to the charge in her earlier court appearance, and upon completion of the pre-sentencing investigation she was handed a 60-day suspended sentence and was placed on one year of supervised probation.

Greg Robert Grieser, 25, Oakland, received a probation before judgment (PBJ) after pleading guilty to marijuana possession. He was handed a 30-day sentence, with all but time already served suspended, fined $100, placed on six months of unsupervised probation, and ordered to complete 30 hours of community service. The charge had been filed against Grieser by the sheriff's office in March when correctional officers who were booking him on an arrest warrant found marijuana on his person during the routine booking search. An additional charge of possession of drug paraphernalia was not prosecuted.

PICK ME! NO, ME! - Why not both? This pair of friendly four-legged companions is available for adoption, singly or together, at the Garrett County Animal Shelter, located at 152 Oakland Sang Run Road, north of the Oakland Golf Club. The part-Pomeranian on the left is a 3-year-old gray and white male, while the golden retriever mix on the right is a 1-year-old male. The animal shelter is open Monday through Friday and may be reached by calling 301-334-3653.

Christopher Steven Warnick, 19, Grantsville, pleaded guilty to marijuana possession and was handed a 30-day sentence, all but two days of which were suspended, placed on six months of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 20 hours of community service. Warnick had been arrested by state police after they reportedly found marijuana and drug paraphernalia during a search of his room. An additional charge of possession of paraphernalia was not prosecuted.

Kelley Lynn Duckworth, 26, Frostburg, received a PBJ after pleading guilty to a charge of making a false statement to a police officer. She was placed on six months of unsupervised probation and ordered to complete 30 hours of community service.

Duckworth had been arrested by sheriff's deputies in January as a result of her actions in regards to a traffic stop for speeding three months earlier. At the time of the October traffic stop, Duckworth claimed she didn't have her license with her and gave the deputy a false name. When she didn't appear for the ensuing traffic court hearing, a bench warrant was issued for her arrest using the false name which was still understood to be her real name by the sheriff's office. The person whose name Duckworth had falsely used then reported to the McHenry State Police Barrack to clear her name, and Duckworth was summarily asked to report to the barrack where the deputy who executed the traffic stop made a positive identification and placed her under arrest.

A motion to revise sentence was granted in the case of Jail Michael Mastro, 23, Friendsville. His previous conviction on a charge of marijuana possession now reflects a PBJ.

DWI & DUI HEARINGS

Several driving while intoxicated (DWI) and driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs (DUI) cases were heard in court recently.

Duane Durwood Guthrie, 27, Mars, Pa., pleaded guilty to DWI and was fined $225, handed a 30-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service.

David Ellis Fackrell, 22, South Bend, Wash., pleaded guilty to DUI and was handed a PBJ, fined $100, given a 30-day suspended sentence, and placed on one year unsupervised probation.

John Brian Richard, 21, Oakland, pleaded guilty to DUI and was fined $155, handed a 30-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service.

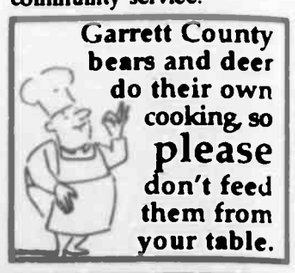
John Carson Thomas III, 33, Frostburg, pleaded guilty to DUI and was handed a PBJ, fined $155, handed a 30-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service.

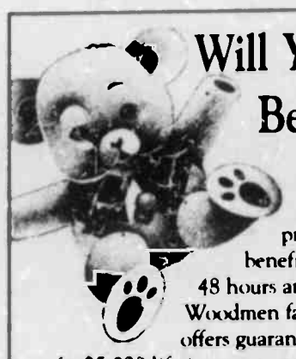
Cecil Dwight Tasker, 28, Mtn. Lake Park, pleaded guilty to DWI and was fined $155, handed a 30-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service.

William Hayes Digman Jr., 30, Maryland hometown not available, pleaded guilty to DUI and was handed a PBJ, fined $155, handed a 30-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 30 hours of community service.



William Lester Shomo, 41, Mtn. Lake Park, was handed a stet ruling for DWI and asked to make a $500 donation to the Domestic Violence Shelter.

Clarence William Collins, 20, Maryland hometown not available, failed to appear for a DWI hearing and a bench warrant was issued for his arrest, with bond set at $5,000.



Noel Jason Powell, 19, McHenry, was granted a sentence revision for a previous DWI conviction, which now reflects a PBJ.

Michael Lee Kitzmiller, 22, Grantsville, was found in violation of his DWI probation, which was revoked and his original incarceration time was reimposed.

Roy Edward Mills, age not available, Keyser, W.Va., was handed a stet ruling for a DUI charge, with the requirement that he complete 30 hours of community service.

Herpel Elected MPhA President

Gerard A. Herpel, doctor of pharmacy, has been elected president of the Maryland Pharmacists Association (MPhA) for the 1998-99 term. Herpel is the pharmacist/owner of Deep Creek Pharmacy in McHenry, which he founded in 1986, and president and CEO of Tri-Towne Pharmacy in Westernport, which he and a partner founded last year.

A 1982 graduate of the University of Maryland School of Pharmacy, Herpel has been on the Board of Trustees of the MPhA since 1991 and was chairman of the MPhA Legislative Committee from 1995 to 1997. He has served on steering committees for the National Community Pharmacists Association from 1993 to 1998 and represented MPhA at that organization's house of delegates from 1991-1997. Herpel has also been president of the Garrett County Pharmacist Association since 1988.

"As president of the MPhA," Herpel commented, "I want to make our association the voice of the pharmacist in the state of Maryland. Whether we practice in a community setting, health system, hospital, consulting, long-term care, or managed care, we all share one common bond — our profession. We can no longar stand idly by as outside forces dictate to the pharmacist how he or she is to practice our profession. It is my hope that the coming year will open new horizons for Maryland's pharmacists and I want MPhA to be in the forefront leading the way."

Herpel resides in Accident with his wife Betsy Ann and their 7-year-old children, Edward, Grace Anne, and William.

BEARS TO HELP HOUSE OF HOPE - Two sets of collectible Independence Day Bears will be raffled at the 4th of July Homecoming Festival in Accident, and the proceeds will benefit the House of Hope. The bears, handcrafted by local artisan Katie Kleratead, were donated by Patty Wells, board member of the House of Hope and owner of Animal Crackers Pet Grooming Salon. "I feel fortunate and blessed to be able to help such a worthy organization as the House of Hope, especially in its 20th year of operation. It is particularly important that aid is given to those truly in need, and that the funds stay in this area rather than go to some corporate headquarters, with a fraction of the amount serving local people," Wells said. Raffle tickets will be available during the homecoming festival. They can also be purchased at Just Us Styling and Tanning Salon, and Animal Crackers, both in Accident; at Pizzazz Pizzeria, McHenry; and at Stained Glass Gallery, Oakland.

FSA Reminds Farmers Of Deadlines

Michael Kozier, county executive director of the Garrett and Allegany Farm Service Agency, made the following reminders in a recent newsletter to area farmers.

Farmers have until July 15 to report their spring crops for 1998. Reporting is voluntary and free. However, there are still USDA programs (CRP, EQIP, AMTA, when fruits and vegetables are planted on contract acreage) that require a crop report.

He asks that farmers keep a record of all crop yields on the farm (corn, oats, hay, etc.). These records will help when purchasing crop insurance or applying for the USDA's Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program. The office has a "free" actual production history worksheet to keep a record of all crops and yields.

There are a number of farmers who still need to update the Production Flexibility Contract for rented land. Kozier asks all farmers to update these contracts now.

Loan Deficiency Payments (LDP) are made to producers who, although eligible to obtain a commodity loan, agree to forego the loan in return for a payment on the eligible commodity. In the past, LDP's have no' been beneficial but with today's market, there may be some possibilities for farmers in the county, he said.

LDPs must be requested before:

*Beneficial interest is lost

*By filing either a CCC-666 or CCC-709

*At the county office where the farm records are kept.

All producers sharing in the commodity shall sign required forms for the jointly owned or stored commodity.

The LDP rate is based on the amount by which the county loan rate exceeds the daily market rate. For example:

*1998 Oats Loan Rate = $1.21

*Market Rate on 6/16/98 = $.95

*The farmer will receive $.26 per bushel

All federal payments made after January 1, 1999, will be made by Electronic Funds Transfer (EFT). Kozier tells farmers to stop by the office if they have not completed the forms for payments. Also, he asks them to contact the office if they have changed financial institutions.

Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (NAP) offers disaster assistance for uninsurable crops suffering from a production loss that is greater than 50% as a result of a natural disaster.

A county committee requests through the state FSA Committee a NAP area be designated when a crop has suffered at least a 35% loss in an area. This request is submitted with documented evidence related to the disaster, normal planting practices, prices, etc.

Only crops grown for food or fiber, and for which crop insurance is unavailable, are covered under NAP.

Those with losses who wish to apply for NAP benefits should do the following: (1) Report the crops they planted by the crop acreage reporting deadline. Late filed crop reports are accepted for a nominal fee. (2) Report a notice of loss within 15 days of the disaster occurrence or upon completing harvest. Late filed applications will not be accepted. (3) Submit yield records for the affected crops.

Crop reports and yield evidence are important, Kozier says, and he asks farmers to keep these records up to date.

The FSA offices in Garrett and Allegany counties will be closed on Friday, July 3, to celebrate Independence Day.

NRCS Wildlife Conservation Sign-Up Set

The Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) is holding a second sign-up period for farmers and landowners to apply for $87,000 in funds to create and improve wildlife habitat through a new conservation program, the Wildlife Habitat Incentive Program (WHIP)," said David Doss, state conservationist for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) NRCS. "WHIP provides cost-share assistance to landowners to install conservation practices that will restore and manage upland grass habitat and riparian buffers to benefit game birds, songbirds, and associated wildlife.

"WHIP funds are primarily targeted toward restoration of wildlife habitat on private lands and are an excellent resource for developing outdoor educational classrooms for local schools where wildlife habitat can be studied and managed," said Doss. "WHIP funds can be used to plant buffers along streams, which ultimately protects water quality and the Chesapeake Bay. Private and public schools are encouraged to apply for WHIP funds to create wildlife habitat areas and stream buffers on their school grounds."

"The first WHIP sign-up period was held in January and February 1998 and was very successful," said Anne Lynn, NRCS state biologist and program manager for WHIP. "NRCS received 33 applications, all requests were funded, and $63,000 will be provided to applicants after conservation practices have been installed. Most WHIP project applications averaged five acres, requested $2,000 in funding, and will restore upland grass habitats by planting warm-season grasses."

Conservation practices eligible for WHIP funding in Maryland are the restoration of grassland habitat in field borders and entire fields, the restoration of riparian buffers with trees, shrubs, or herbaceous plants, and the stabilization of adjacent streambanks with trees and shrubs. To qualify for WHIP, the area must contain at least one acre of grassland, shrub or tree plantings, or at least 150 feet of streambank stabilization plantings. Outdoor classrooms or educational projects may be exempt from the minimum size criteria.

"The use of native plants, especially grasses such as switchgrass, little bluestem, and indiangrass, are encouraged because they are well adapted to the area, less invasive, and more likely to provide a higher quality habitat with lower maintenance costs, " said Lynn. "Native plants provide additional benefits by protecting soil from erosion and improving water quality. WHIP is important because it restores habitat that was lost due to intensive farming and urbanization."

WHIP participants enter into a cost-share agreement to install specific wildlife conservation practices, as established in their conservation plan. Conservation plans are developed together by the landowner, the Soil Conservation District, and NRCS. The WHIP agreement lasts from five to 10 years, with NRCS providing technical assistance and paying up to 75% of the cost of installing the conservation practices. Cost-share generally cannot exceed $10,000 per contract.

"Ducks Unlimited and the Chesapeake Bay Foundation are providing additional cost-share funds to WHIP participants who install conservation practices, such as streambank stabilization, riparian herbaceous buffers, riparian forest buffers, and fences along streams to protect the buffers," said Doss. "These additional funds will cover up to 25% of the project and when combined with the 75% funded by WHIP, there is virtually no cost to the landowner." Other cooperating state wildlife organizations or nonprofit agencies may provide expertise and additional cost-share funding to help the landowner complete the project.

A voluntary conservation program, WHIP was created in the 1996 Farm Bill. WHIP is currently budgeted nationwide at a total funding level of $50 million through 2002. Funds will be targeted to wildlife and fishery areas currently experiencing significant declines in wildlife habitat.

Applications and information about WHIP are available at local NRCS or Soil Conservation District offices, both located in USDA Service Centers. Applications will be ranked according to criteria which will determine which proposals offer the most environmental benefits at the lowest cost. The deadline to turn in applications for funding consideration during the second sign-up period is July 17, 1998.

NRCS, formerly the Soil Conservation Service, is USDA's lead conservation agency.

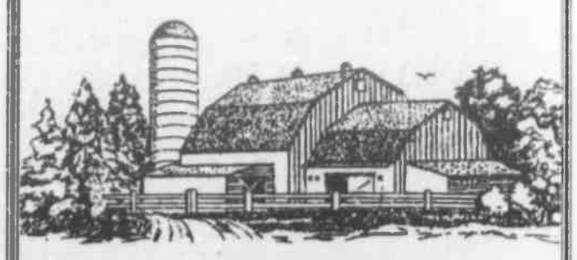
If you are interested in attending, I wil try to coordinate the transportation.

A Reminder on Recycling Pesticide Containers



The Maryland Department of Agriculture will be collecting empty pesticide containers on July 6, 1998 from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. at the Oakland Southern States Cooperative Store. Triple rinse all containers. MDA will be giving each person who brings in containers a power rinse nozzle free of charge.

Potato Leafhoppers on Alfalfa

Alfalfa fields should be sampled weekly using a 15-inch sweep net as soon as the hay is removed. Make a count of both adults and nymphs. Adults are about 1/8" long, green and jump/fly quickly, while nymphs are smaller, yellow-green and skitter sideways. Decisions to use an insecticide should be made prior to the appearance of damage. If stunted, yellow plants appear as a result of leafhopper injury, the field should be harvested rather than sprayed. The level of leafhopper activity that warrants control action increases as the alfalfa grows. The best way to express this relationship on a continuous scale is to compare the leafhopper count with the alfalfa height. If leafhopper count per 100 sweeps exceeds 10 x the average stem height in inches, control is recommended. If the alfalfa is less than 60% bud and a treatment threshold is exceeded, spray immediately. However, if the alfalfa is over 12 inches and is 60% or more in bud, it may be wise to harvest within a week rather than spray.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Sussman

HOSPITALIZED

Etta Buckel, a resident of Meyersdale Manor Nursing Home, has been a patient in Meyersdale Hospital. Another "Grand Dame" of Bittinger, Etta will celebrate her 89th birthday on June 30. The family is requesting a card shower and her address is M yersdale Manor, 201 Hospital Drive, Meyersdale, PA 15552.

BIRTH

Christopher Allen Marple arrived on Friday, June 12, weighing in at 8 lbs. 3 ounces. Parents are Robbie and Jenny Marple.

CHURCH NEWS

A congregational meeting will be held at Emmanuel Lutheran Church on Sunday morning, June 28, concerning the building project.

St. John's Lutheran Church is conducting Vacation Bible School this week.

PERSONALS

Father's Day dinner guests of Sally, Torrey, and Lenay Poholsky were Blair Buckel, Ferne Beachy, Dave and Nancy Beachy, and Cindy, Sam, Lea, and Aaron Stanton.

Ferne Beachy and Cindy and Lea Stanton visited with Steve and Mary Ellen Preasraves, Bowie, and the Michael Sehretfres family in Rockville over the weekend.

Ralph and Ethel Buckel attended the Lutheran Brotherhood annual branch picnic held at the Farmer's Wildlife Pavilion at Horse Shoe Run, W.Va., on Saturday, June 20.

Bud and Sharon Lowery, formerly of Bittinger, and living in Grantsvule, are celebrating their 29th wedding anniversary this week.

Jim Fey, Washington, D.C., was a weekend guest of the Sussman family. There is no one more popular with the Sussman girls than "Snake Jim." They love to talk to him about nature. On Sunday on their excursion with him they saw a white chipmunk and a family of killdeers. On Monday morning, Jim went on a solo bird watching trip. He was very lucky as he saw a couple of kingbirds, a flock of baby wild turkeys that were trying to learn to fly, a green heron, a coot, five different kinds of sparrows, a marsh hawk, a coran, and a deer who barked at him.

WOW AWARD PRESENTED TO CRELLIN STUDENT - Recent Crellin Elementary School graduate Andrew Uphold, left, is shown with Crellin principal Keith D. Harvey as he holds his Woodman of the World Social Studies Award plaque. The young historian will be entering the sixth grade at Southern Middle School this fall.

Jim was in town for my art show.

A great surprise for me was a visit by my old dear friend, Marla Frickey of McGaheysville, Va., with her new husband, Rick Hanslew. They also visited her mother, Donna Frickey, in Salisbury, Pa.

Also in town for my show was Molly Vick, Fairfax, Va. She always tries to make a visit at this time of year to the Country Acres Strawberry Farm where the berries are now at their peak. The Maust farm is filled with crowds of eager berry pickers who are trying to take advantage of a few days of sunshine.

Our hay fields, like many others in Garrett County, must wait for better haymaking weather.

A big loss in our area was a very old magnificent maple tree on Jimmy Glotfelty's farm that came down. One of the most lovely old trees in Garrett County is now lost. It will take a hundred years to make those mighty queens. After every severe storm I check fearfully to see if our last big sugar maple in our back pasture is still standing. When it goes down I will feel like I lost an old honored family member.

Long ago about every farm had a sugar camp. It is one of the staples of our life. Our ancestor's sweet teeth were often satisfied by maple sugar candy. Now in the 1990s you do not see that many complete maple groves. Many times you see just a few trees, or maybe only one. A few miles from my house a truly great maple grove is still standing, the Brenneman grove. These trees have weathered some pretty rough storms. They still give the best autumn show anywhere.

Right now the woods are just about every shade of green. I heard many people remark that you can't beat June weather in Bittinger. It is truly pure summer with a bit of breeze, sometimes balmy, and quiet evenings with color in the sky and green everywhere.

Claire, Caitlin and Meredith participated with the Manta Rays Swim Team at a swim meet on Saturday in Cumberland, held at the YMCA.

Gibby, Joel, and Nicole Comfirt from Oneida, N.Y., were weekend guests of Sam and Ellen Housley.

Ferne Beachy and Cindy Stanton visited Dorothy and Ruth Beachy in Huntingdon, Pa., on Wednesday.

Beulah Moon, Mary Simpson, and Ruth DiPaolo attended the U.S. Air Force "Airmen of Note" concert at the college on Friday evening.

Maryland State Arts Council Seeking Applicants For Awards

The Maryland State Arts Council (MSAC) is currently accepting applications for both its fiscal year 1999 Individual Artists Awards and Mini-Grant Program. Visual artists, photographers, writers, and other individuals can benefit from the contest by winning monetary grants, and groups presenting concerts, children's shows, special after-school programs, poetry readings, or arts exhibits can earn one of numerous available mini-grants.

The Individual Artist Awards program, designed to assist Maryland artists with their pursuit of artistic excellence, awards grants of $1,000, $3,000, and $6,000.

"Maryland has an outstanding reputation for supporting the arts," said Governor Parris Glendening. He said the Individual Artist Awards "is only one of the ways we ensure that Maryland continues to provide a supportive and rich environment for the arts, both for our Maryland artists and for the enjoyment of our citizens."

The Individual Artists Awards will be offered in the following categories: choreography, music composition, playwriting, fiction, poetry, visual arts (crafts), visual arts (photography), and visual arts (three-dimensional, including sculpture and installation).

To apply, artists must be at least 18 years of age and have had primary residence in Maryland for at least six of the 12 months preceeding the date an application is submitted.

Grant applications can be obtained by calling the MSAC at 410-767-6555 or TDD/TTY 410-333-4519. Completed applications for the Individual Artists Awards must be postmarked on or before July 24, 1998, or hand-delivered by 5 p.m. on that day to the MSAC office at 601 N. Howard Street, Baltimore.

All entries will be judged anonymously by out-of-state jurors, whose decisions will be based solely on artistic merit, a spokesperson stated. Jury meetings will be open to the public and are scheduled to take place at the MSAC offices in the fall. For more information, persons may call the offices at the number noted above.

The Mini-Grant Program is open to not-for-profit organizations, such as civic groups, libraries, museums, religious organizations, schools or social clubs, all of which are open to the public and are accessible to persons with disabilities. The program, which awards grants up to $1,000, is designed to assist community-based organizations in producing and presenting arts activities in their communities, the spokesperson explained.

Mini-grants are awarded four times each year and organizations may submit only one application per deadline, and may receive only one mini-grant per fiscal year. The next grants to be awarded this fiscal year (1999) are for activities taking place between Oct. 1 and Dec. 31, 1998. The deadline for applications is July 24.

Grant applications may be obtained by calling the MSAC number. Applicants for the mini-grants are encouraged to contact the MSAC to speak with the appropriate staff member before an application is submitted.

The remaining deadlines for the rest of fiscal year 1999 are Oct. 16 for activities taking place between Jan. 1 and March 31, 1999, and Jan. 15, 1999, for activities taking place between April 1 and June 30, 1999.

Crellin Assembly Schedules VBS

Crellin Assembly of God will be sponsoring a Vacation Bible School Monday through Friday, June 29 through July 3, starting at 6 p.m. each evening. The program is titled "Space Missions Bible Camp." Worship, Bible lessons, crafts, games, and refreshments will make up the program each evening.

Youth ages 3 to 13 are invited, but it is requested that all children under age 6 be accompanied by an adult. The program and activities will last until approximately 8:30 each evening. For more information, persons may call the church office at 301-334-3867.

Goldstein Seeks Re-Election To Comptroller Post

Louis L. Goldstein of Calvert County recently announced his candidacy for re-election as Maryland State Comptroller. Goldstein said he wants to lead the comptroller's office into the 21st century "with service that is prompt, efficient, and personal."

Goldstein said he will be making income tax filing even more convenient next year by providing the opportunity for taxpayers to file from their home computers and expanding the option for taxpayers to request direct deposit of their refunds into personal bank accounts.

The high tech community has applauded his achievements, Goldstein said, ranking Maryland first among the states in using digital technology in taxpayer service and tax administration.

"Our peers in the government financial community have recognized our efforts as well. The Government Finance Officers Association of the United States and Canada made Maryland one of the first two states to earn the Certificate of Achievement for Excellence in Financial Reporting, and we've earned that recognition for 18 consecutive years," he said. "At least 45 states and 20 foreign countries have come to Annapolis to study our innovations in tax processing."

Goldstein also stated that he recognized the year 2000 computer problem early and, as a result, all of the comptroller's computer applications will be year 2000 compliant by the end of 1998, leaving a full year for testing.

According to Goldstein, the national financial community has recognized Maryland's financial management with the Triple A General Obligation Bond rating, which has saved taxpayers $142 million in interest costs since 1971. He also noted the recognized strength of the $28 billion state retirement system, of which he is chairman, saying that the system's investments have earned 25.5% in the past year and more than 13% over the past 10 years.

"As a member of the Board of Public Works, along with the governor and state treasurer, I will continue to work for and support the kinds of educational, technology, and environmental programs that we need to be successful in the 21st century," said Goldstein. "Thanks to a strong economy, a balanced budget, strong reserve funds, and a revenue surplus, we can make investments in higher education, scholarship programs, and technology. I will continue to keep working for public school construction and technology enhancements to provide all Maryland school children with a level playing field and excellent teachers.

"Goldstein also said it's necessary to protect natural resources through Program Open Space, agricultural easements, and the Rural Legacy Program.

Pointing to efficiencies in his office, the comptroller said, "We're doing more, we're doing it faster, and we're doing it more efficiently," noting that the comptroller's office is processing more tax returns, collecting more revenue, and providing more service with 217 fewer people than in 1990. "I intend to lead the comptroller's office into the 21st century using technology as a bridge—not a barrier—between government and the people we serve," Goldstein concluded.

NOTICE TO PUBLIC OF FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT AND NOTICE OF INTENT TO REQUEST RELEASE OF FUNDS
TOWN OF DEER PARK

The purpose of this Notice is to identify two separate but related actions to be taken by the town of Deer Park.

On or about July 13, 1998, the above named town will request that the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development release funds under the Small Cities Community Development Block Grant Program to be used for the following project:

Project Title: Deer Park Sewer Connection Program

Purpose of Project: To connect income eligible residents to the recently installed sewage system.

Finding of No Significant Impact

Notice is hereby given that the above named municipality has prepared an Environmental Review Record on the project described in this Notice and has determined that said project will have no significant effect on the quality of the human environment. No further environmental review of said project is proposed prior to requesting Release of Funds.

The Finding of No Significant Impact is based on the following:

The project involves only the connecting of individual house laterals to the recently installed septic tanks. Environmental disturbances are minimal in nature in that no streams will be directly impacted by the installation, and by virtue of the fact that the average depth of excavation will be approximately two feet. The Contractor will be required to return the disturbed area to a condition equal to or better than that which existed prior to excavation, including adequate reseeding and mulching.

The Environmental Review Record which documents the Environmental Review of this project is available for public examination at the town office during normal business hours.

Public Comments on Finding

All interested agencies, groups and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments respecting the environmental impacts of the described project to the offices of the town and to the Department of Housing and Community Development. All such comments must be received no later than July 13, 1998. All comments will be considered and the town will not request the release of funds nor take any action on the project prior to this date.

REQUEST FOR RELEASE OF FUNDS

The town will undertake the project described above with Small Cities Community Development Block Grant Funds. This Notice also certifies that Donald Dawson, serving in the official capacity of Mayor, consents to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal Courts if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to environmental reviews decision making and action; and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval, the town may use the Small Cities Community Development Block Grant Funds and the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development will have satisfied its responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

Objections to Release of Funds

Objections to the release of funds will be accepted by the Department of Housing and Community Development only if it is on one of the following bases:

a) that the certification was not in fact executed by the Certifying Officer; or (b) that the town Environmental Review Record for the project indicated omission of a required decision finding or step applicable to the program in the Environmental Review Process; (c) no opportunity was given to the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation or its Executive Director to review the effect of the project on a property listed on the National Register of Historic Places, or found to be eligible for such listing by the Secretary of the Interior, in accordance with 36 CFR Part 800(d) Objections by a Federal Agency. All interested agencies, groups, and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments to the Town of Deer Park and to the SCCOBG Program Manager, MD Department of Housing and Community Development, 100 Community Place, Crownsville, MD 21032-2023. All such comments must be received no later than July 29, 1998.

Former Oakland Resident Observes 101st Birthday

Edith Kimmell Starkey, born and raised near Oakland, celebrated her 101st birthday this past winter. Mrs. Starkey was born to John W. and Agnes Kimmell on February 11, 1897, during the closing weeks of President Grover Cleveland's second administration.

The Kimmells made their living farming and timbering, and her father, also known as J.W., was twice elected to serve as treasurer of Garrett County. Mrs. Starkey often worked side by side with him as he carried out his duties in this capacity.

Mrs. Starkey resides in Harrison, Ark., with her daughter, Velma O'Neill, who reports that her mother is "doing great, and doing a lot of remembering of her childhood and youth spent in Oakland, Deer Park, and Mtn. Lake Park."

Town Residents Advised Of GC Dog Ordinance

Friendsville mayor Spencer R. Schlosnagle and the members of the town council have issued a statement remiuding town residents who are pet owners that dogs must be controlled in accordance with the Garrett County Dog Ordinance, sec-tion D, which states that it is unlawful in Garrett County for a dog to be "at large."

The ordinance further states that dogs may not be off the property or premises of the owner, unless under restraint. The exceptions include hunting dogs accompanied by owner or trainer, the mayor's statement explained. It also described the penalties for violation of the dog ordinance. Considered a misdemeanor, a violation would result in a fine of $50 to $200.

Enforcing the ordinance within the town limits "is deemed neccssary to keep order in the community, and to keep Friendsville safe and pleasant," the statement concluded.

What role does fear play in your life? Indeed, fright can cause us to move quickly in an emergency, perhaps even to save our life or that of another, for adrenaline flows freely.

Fear, however, can be a troublesome intruder in our life. Fear can be real or imagined; it can creep into our reality so that we become ill physically and emotionally. What can we do to expel fear from our doorstep in an increasingly troubled world?

We must expel fear with faith. Though our world changes, God does not. Neither does the love of our Heavenly Father. He is always near to us, ready to help us fight fear. In 1 John 16-18 we are assured..."And so we know and rely on the love God has for us. God is love. There is no fear in [God's] love. But perfect love drives out fear."

Worship God each week. Worship builds faith, and when faith meets fear...fear flees!

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

NOW I KNOW!
June 28, 1998

Background Scripture:
Job 38:1-7; 42:1-6-10
Devotional Reading:
Job 28:20-28

The "friends" of Job have all had their say: three times, in fact. Job has answered each of their discourses, insisting upon his innocence and the rightness of his cause.

A fourth visitor, Elihu, suddenly appears, vents his anger upon Job and just as suddenly disappears from the scene.

Job has repeatedly asked God to come and hear his complaint. Now at last, enter God, demanding: "Who is this that darkens counsel by words without knowledge?" The Lord of the universe governs in light, but Job's ignorant complaints bring not light, but darkness. Job wants to argue with God and challenge him to

May Bird Count Numbers Down, Weather Cited

In spite of a record number of participants, only 140 species of birds were reported during the 27th annual Garrett County May Bird Count. Logging a total of 108.8 hours watching bird feeders, and 224 hours traveling a total of 626.1 miles by foot and by car, the 59 observers recorded 7,960 birds of 140 species.

While the total number of individual birds reported is the third highest count in the past decade, the total number of species ties with the lowest total of species recorded for a Garrett County May bird count over the past 10 years. Weather probably contributed to the low species total, as temperatures for most of the count day were in the 50s and 60s with some rain in the morning and afternoon hours. Many waterfowl had already migrated through the county on their way south by count day.

The top ten birds, in order, were: American robin, 548; red-winged blackbird, 467; barn swallow, 347; American crow, 316; chipping sparrow, 301; American goldfinch, 272; blue jay, 205; common yellowthroat, 223; song sparrow, 219; and common grackle, 201.

Results of the local May bird count will be published by the Maryland Ornithological Society in its journal Maryland Birdlife. Maryland's May Bird Count was the inspiration for the North American Migration Count as well as International Migratory Bird Day, both of which are now observed annually and globally on the second Saturday of May.

CHALK UP ONE WINTER WREN FOR THE COUNTY - The 1998 May bird count uncovered a single winter wren, one of the smallest songbirds in North America. Measuring 4 - 4½ inches long, with wingspread of 5 ½ - 6½ inches, this tiny creature creeps about like a mouse in woodpiles, brush heaps, and on the edges of swamps. Its tiny size belies an unforgettable song, a loud, rich, intricate creation lasting about seven seconds and containing about 108-113 separate rising and falling notes. Garrett County is the only county in Maryland where the winter wren is known to breed. (Apparently the name fits its climate preferences.)

Alzheimer's Group Correction Noted

The Alzheimer Caregiver/Support Group will not meet on Monday, June 29, as was published in last week's issue of The Republican, nor will the group meet in July or August. Meetings will resume on September 28, and details will be announced prior to that meeting.

Sauerbrey Names Bennett As Running Mate In Candidacy

Republican gubernatorial candidate Ellen Sauerbrey has announced that former United States Attorney Richard D. Bennett will be her running mate in her campaign to unseat Maryland Governor Parris Glendening.

"Dick Bennett is a devoted family man and has a proven record as a crimefighter," Sauerbrey stated. "He is a man I am very comfortable with as someone who could step into the governor's office in an emergency. And a Sauerbrey-Bennett ticket unites the two strongest Republican vote recipients in Maryland's recent electoral history," she concluded.

4-H Club News

SNOWY CREEK
by Shelby Glover
reporter

The Snowy Creek 4-H Club held its monthly meeting on Thursday, June 11, with 18 members present. Mitchell Guard and Lincoln Lowdermilk led the pledges.

Stacey Glover and Drew Glover did their demonstrations on their broiler projects. They also attended the Broiler Show on June 10 at the Garrett County extension office. Stacey placed 4th in the senior division. Drew placed 5th and David Smearman placed 4th in the junior division.

We had three guest speakers from the Country Kids 4-H Club. They were Debbie Barnard, Arthur Pysell, and Sarah Pysell. They talked about everything that goes on at the fair, and about showing livestock, such as sheep, hogs, and steers.

On Saturday, June 6, the club was scheduled to go hiking, but instead voted to go to Salisbury to help the tornado victims clean up. We were assigned to help Bill Mast, whose farm was almost completely destroyed. We picked up steel, wood, etc., and put it in piles to be hauled away. Members who helped were: Mark Wolf, Willy Gallagher, Jeremiah Guard, Michael Guard, Mitchell Guard, Henry Smearman, Cindy Smearman, Stacey Glover, Shelby Glover, Drew Glover, and Randi Rodeheaver, plus several parents.

For our float entry in the Old Pike Festival parade, held on May 16, in Addison, Pa., our club won second place and received $50. We then spent that money to buy supplies for the tornado victims.

We will be going to the Yough Overlook to serve refreshments to travelers on June 27. The next meeting is scheduled for July 9, with plans for a campfire and roasting hot dogs at the home of Nancy House.

DAR Yough Chapter Travels To Washington

Members and guests of the Oakland Youghiogheny Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR) recently took a bus tour to the national headquarters of the DAR in Washington, D.C.

The national headquarters complex covers an entire city block near the White House. Two buildings of this complex are designated Registered National Historic Landmarks: Memorial Constitution Hall and Constitution Hall. Many different events take place in the auditorium of Constitution Hall, including the annual graduation exercises of several Washington-area schools.

An administration building houses the offices of the National Society of the DAR and completes the complex. This is the largest group of buildings in the world owned and operated by women.

Guided tours of the galleries and State Period rooms are open to the public and are free of charge.

Amateur Radio Service Offering License Exams

The Amateur Radio Emergency Service of Garrett County will sponsor examinations for amateur radio licenses on Saturday, July 11. Testing will be available for all license classes, from "novice" to "extra."

The public is invited to take part in the examinations. To pre-register or for more information, persons may call Jay Kestner at 301-387-6167 or E-mail <Kez@genet.net>.

Teens changing the face of women's Wimbledon

By Jim Baker
©TVData Features Syndicate

Martina Hingis

The big story at Wimbledon (airing weekdays on HBO and weekends on NBC) this year is the blossoming of four teenagers who are changing the face of women's tennis.

Defending champion Martina Hingis, while defeated by Monica Seles at this year's French Open, remains in the driver's seat at age 17. But analysts Chris Evert, Mary Carillo and Tracy Austin all say they expect American sisters Venus and Serena Williams and Russian Anna Kournikova to make determined challenges.

Evert, who will join Dick Enberg and John McEnroe for NBC's traditional "Breakfast at Wimbledon" coverage next weekend, correctly picked Hingis to oust an improving Venus Williams on clay in the French Open quarterfinals in Paris earlier this month.

Evert calls Hingis and the older Williams sister "the best two in the world now," and says the teen players have brought women's tennis to a level we haven't seen before.

"Hingis has that refreshing smile. Kournikova is confident and hip with sex appeal," she says. "And the Williams sisters came out of the ghetto, are self-taught and bring a new set of fans."

While she says the teens inject needed charisma into the sport, Evert warns against dismissing veterans such as Seles, Jana Novotna and French Open winner Arantxa Sanchez Vicario.

They haven't been forgotten. The teen-agers can't do it alone, but there's no question they've brought depth," she says.

Carillo, who is working with Wimbledon greats Billie Jean King and Martina Navratilova on HBO's Wimbledon coverage, says, "Every one of the four teen-agers is for real."

Kournikova especially merits watching, Carillo says, because the teen reached the Wimbledon semifinals last year. "She also beat four of the world's top 10 players in the Lipton Cup before losing to Venus in the final."

Former teen tennis star Tracy Austin believes the pressure is now on Hingis with so many nipping at her heels. "Hingis is versatile and smart, still has an edge and can think her way out of a bad day," she says.

Austin doesn't expect this generation of teen players to experience the burnout that she did. "These girls are so tall and strong, and they thrive on pressure," she says.

Austin may surprise some with her opinion that Serena, who blew a huge lead to Sanchez Vicario in Paris, will eventually emerge as the stronger of the Williams sisters.

"Venus probably moves better, but in the end Serena might be more powerful. Both will be a huge force," Austin says.

"One thing that impresses me is the two sisters are so close. They seem to care about each other so much. They're very supportive of each other. There's no jealousy."

Evert notes that the younger Serena lacks experience, yet ranks her "right behind Venus in ability and stronger than Kournikova. But Martina (Hingis) is still No. 1."

FISCAL YEAR 1999 BUDGET MESSAGE
MAY 5, 1998

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners is pleased to present the Fiscal Year 1999 Operating and Capital Budget. The County Administrator and the Finance Department have dedicated their efforts to making this budget possible. Our goal of financial accountability to the people of Garrett County was the basis for this final budget. This year's budget reflects an increase of $3,138,362 over Fiscal Year 1998 Amended/Approved Budget without an increase in the property tax rate of $2.59 per hundred. However, this increase requires an explanation that will clearly define the actual appropriation of County revenue and associated expenditures. Fiscal Year 1999 Operating and Capital Budget includes State of Maryland funding of $2,100,000 for Mountain Top Mental Health Associates, Inc. The purposes of this non-profit corporation are to plan, manage, and monitor the public mental health services system and to promote full community participation in the planning and delivery of mental health services in Garrett County. The actual increase in Fiscal Year 1999 Budget is $1,038,362 over that of Fiscal Year 1998 and is outlined in the Budget Report.

Fiscal Year 1998 Operating and Capital Budget	$35,210,848
Fiscal Year 1999 Operating and Capital Budget	38,349,210
1999 over 1998	3,138,362
Less MTMHA	(2,100,000)
ACTUAL INCREASE 1999 OVER 1998	$ 1,038,362

The Board remains conscious of the financial deficit that limited the expenditure of funding over the past three fiscal years. Public funds were directed to a reserve account, deficit reduction, and contingency. Unaudited financial indications are that the deficit will be non-existent at the beginning of Fiscal Year 1999; however, the County is obligated to appropriate funds to restoring a solvent financial position. Funds are again directed to Contingency ($200,000), Reserve Fund ($200,000), and Deficit Reduction ($300,000).

The largest expenditure in the Budget for Fiscal Year 1999 is Education, which continues to be the significant priority for funding. Thirty-nine percent [39%] of the total Operating and Capital Budget for Fiscal Year 1998 is designated for education. Public Works continues to be the second highest segment of Fiscal Year 1999 Operating and Capital Budget with twenty-seven percent [27%] of the total Budget appropriated for the County Roads Department, the Department of Solid Waste and Recycling, and County Airport. Public Safety comprises seven percent [7%] of appropriated funds to the Sheriff's Department, Detention Center, Animal Control, and Emergency Management.

The Board of County Commissioners will continue to make Economic Development and Tourism top priorities with plans to improve infrastructure in the Southern and Northern Garrett Industrial Parks. The Visitor's Center, located at Deep Creek Lake, is expected to be completed by the end of the second quarter of Fiscal Year 1999.

Future year commitments for capital funding allocations are reviewed by the Board of County Commissioners, the County Administrator, and the Finance Department as part of the Five-Year Capital Improvement Plan. Debt service for Fiscal Year 1999 will remain basically the same as Fiscal Year 1998. The Capital Expenditure section outlines capital improvement projects and capital equipment purchases, which are investment resources, which the County is able to fund by financing. The current debt percentage of 6% is consistent with recommended levels outlined in the Debt Affordability Study completed in Fiscal Year 1998.

The County is committed to financial and strategic planning that will rely on the statement that good business decisions have to become exceptional and the County must operate more efficiently than at any time in the past. The provision of public services to the citizenry of Garrett County will continually be enhanced and improved by our team of dedicated and proficient employees. We cannot say enough about these individuals. We will continue to focus on aggressively moving toward better systems, better processes, and better trained employees. The Board of County Commissioners and each employee will continue to prioritize the appropriation of public funds to effectively serve the citizens of Garrett County.

The Board of County Commissioners has established mutual goals of innovation, growth through knowledge management, open communication, and a commitment to continually improve the quality of our obligations.

The Board of County Commissioners
203 South Fourth Street
Court House
Oakland, MD 21550

Dear Commissioners:

It is my opinion that the passage of the Fiscal Year 1999 Operating and Capital Budget will continue this Board of County Commissioner's record of accomplishment by meeting the requirements of Garrett County residents without an increase in property tax revenue. At your direction, Garrett County Government has aggressively automated various departments, improved responsiveness to the public, and increased proficiency. The positive changes that have taken place will continue to grow with the approval of this budget.

I would like to express my direct appreciation to Wendy Yoder, Finance Supervisor, and Scott Weeks, Staff Accountant, for their many hours of concentration in preparing this budget. Prior year actual expenditures were evaluated along with statistical estimation in calculating anticipated revenue. The Finance Office produces year to date revenue and expenditure reports on a monthly basis that are distributed to each department. As a result of uncompromising fiscal discipline, our financial position is again solvent. As impressive as the past two fiscal years have been, we must not rely on past efforts to ensure a continuation of our progress.

The efforts of this Board of County Commissioners, the professional competencies of your department heads [John Nelson, Lee Thorne, Rodney Glotfelty, Jim Hinebaugh, and Gary Mullich], the expertise of other component agency managers, and the dedication and hard work of all our employees have made this budget achievable.

I am looking forward to accomplishing the many goals that we have set for Fiscal Year 1999.

Respectfully,
R. Lamont Pagenhardt
County Administrator

Illinois Man Dies On Yough Rafting Trip

An Illinois man collapsed and died Monday afternoon during a guided rafting trip on the Youghiogheny River.

Gene Swanson, 54, of Bolingbrook, Ill., and his group had just traversed the last rapid of their expedition about two miles south of Friendsville, when he collapsed at approximately 1:50 p.m. A Mountain Streams and Trails Outfitter guide immediately paddled Swanson downstream to Friendsville, where he was met by the Northern Garrett Rescue Squad and transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Swanson was pronounced dead shortly before 4 p.m.

The investigation mto the incident is being conducted by Maryland Department of Natural Resources park rangers, who were called to the scene along with the rescue squad. Results of an autopsy are still pending.

VISITORS CENTER TAKING SHAPE — The Garrett County Visitors Center is about "half under roof," according to Gary Mullich, head of the county's general services office. Mullich told the county commissioners this week that the wet weather has slowed the building process somewhat, but work is continuing despite the mud and muck. The center is being built along Rt. 219 in McHenry, and, when completed, will house the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce. The building is to be finished by autumn of this year. GCC Students Score High On New Test

Garrett Community College students in the school's Introduction to Business course who recently participated in a norming of the new DANTES test of course content scored high among students from 46 participating institutions, according to course instructor and associate professor of business Hal Wendling.

Among the 46 participating institutions, GCC's students ranked eighth with a mean score of 65.10 and a median score of 68.50. Among 32 schools with 20 or more reported grades, GCC ranked fourth.

The DANTES test measured students' knowledge of topics covered in the introductory business class, such as economic issues affecting business, international business, government and business, forms of business ownership, small business and entrepreneurship, management process, human resources management, production and operations, marketing and financial management, and information systems. The test is administered to award college credit to a student who has acquired the knowledge without having taken the course.

Dr. Lillian Mitchell, dean of academic affairs, expressed her pleasure with the performance of GCC students on the DANTES test.

Accident Schedules Events For July 4th Homecoming

Traditionally, the Accident community has celebrated July 4th with picnics, a parade, arts, crafts, and music. It is set aside as homecoming day for current and previous residents of the town and its surrounding area. A full schedule of events has been planned for this year's celebration.

The day will begin with an ecumenical worship service at 9 a.m. at St. Paul's Lutheran Church (see separate story). At 10 a.m. a flag raising, by American Legion Post 208, will take place in Town Park East at the War Memorial, with music provided by the Accident Concert Band.

From 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. a craft show and sale, to be held on the upper level of the fire hall, will feature items made by local and non-local crafters. Antiques and collectibles will also be available, as will Accident souvenirs, including shirts, hats, buttons, town decals, and local history books. The Accident Cultural and Historical Society (ACHS) will display items relating to the Drane House and town history.

The Drane House will be open for tours from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The art exhibition will be held at Flowery Vale July 3 and 4, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., and July 5 from 1:30 to 4 p.m.

McCartney Assumes Office As Assistant Superintendent

At a meeting of the Garrett County Board of Education Monday night, Dr. Brenda McCartney was unanimously approved to take the office of assistant superintendent of schools. This change in school administrative personnel is the latest of several.

The position of assistant superintendent was vacant following the resignation of Al Coviello, who accepted a superintendent position in Connecticut, as reported in a previous edition of The Republican. "We're going to miss Al and his leadership in that position," said Dr. Wendell Teets, school superintendent. He also stated that Dr. McCartney is very qualified for the position she will assume.

In accepting her new role, Dr. McCartney leaves her post as director of curriculum and instruction for PK through middle school. "This position will be advertised in the near future with some changes," said Dr. Teets. The position will include directing the curriculum for grade PK through elementary, he explained.

Another change in school administrative personnel involves the director of high school curriculum, Maxine Miller. She has requested a transfer to the classroom as an elementary school teacher. Her request was granted. "This change was at her request; it was for personal reasons," Dr. Teets said. He added that he was very pleased with the work that Miller had done in her administrative capacity.

The office that Miller leaves will be filled by longtime board employee Henrietta Lease, who is currently director of personnel for the school system. She will continue with some of her responsibilities in personnel. "It will be a real asset for whoever goes into the personnel position to be able to work with her. She's done an exceptional job," the superintendent said.

Dr. Teets also said he took great satisfaction in working with the Garrett County Board of Education during the past school year. "This is the most outstanding group I have ever worked with," he stated.

Theft Of Mining Supplies Under Investigation

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office is investigating a theft of over $500 of mining and electrical supplies from a site on Backbone Mountain owned by the Masteller Coal Company.

Employees who arrived at the site located in the 15000 block of Maryland Highway on the morning of June 22 told sheriff's deputies that they discovered that the equipment had been taken over the weekend. Reported stolen are two Westinghouse starters, a collection of circuit breakers, a Makita drill, and a toolbox filled with tools.

In other sheriff's news, two incidents of thefts from parked vehicles reportedly occurred between midnight

Gerald Polansky, Property Owners President, Dies

Gerald Polansky, president of the Deep Creek Lake Property Owners Association and member of the Garrett County/Deep Creek Lake Advisory Committee, died last night at the Suburban Hospital in Bethesda. Polansky fell 20 feet from a ladder last Wednesday morning at his Rockville home, suffered a severe head injury, and then some days later experienced a massive heart attack. He succumbed last night at about 10 p.m.

In his early 60s, Polansky was known nationwide as an accomplished and skilled certified public accountant. Locally, he was an active participant in the recent Deep Creek Lake sale project, and worked extensively with Helmuth Heise in the financial management of the Wisp Resort.

Polansky had a history of heart ailments, having undergone bypass surgery in his 40s. He had suffered a heart attack last November, but was apparently managing the ailment until the fall last week.

He is survived by his wife Elizabeth, three grown children, and four grandchildren. The complete obituary will be published in next week's issue of The Republican.

"This is a terrible loss for the county," said Ed King, member of the property owners group and local realtor. King and several other callers to The Republican this morning described Polansky as a very kind person, as well as a sharp businessman. "He has done a lot for Garrett County — probably a lot more than people realize," King said.

Polansky was a member of St. Andrew's Lutheran Church in Silver Spring, and was planning to join St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland as well. A funeral service has been tentatively planned at St. Andrew's on Monday, although the final arrangements had not yet been made at press time.

Wheels To Work Grant Awarded; Emergency Volunteers Thanked

Commissioners hear staff reports

A $120,000 grant for "Wheels to Work" sought by the local Department of Social Services and the Community Action Committee was awarded to those agencies this week, as reported to the Garrett County commissioners at Tuesday's staff meeting. The grant will help to provide low-cost automobiles to those persons attempting to leave welfare and enter the working world. Also at the staff meeting, thanks to local rescue volunteers for their work in the past several weeks was voiced by Brad Frantz, director of the county's emergency management system.

Social Services

Social Services representative Margaret Carlson told the commissioners about the Wheels To Work grant, explaining that the $120,000 will be used to purchase retired state cars, which will then be made available at a low purchase price to persons who have obtained employment but who have no transportation.

Henry Brown, local Social Services director, explained at last month's meeting that the transportation issue was often the last remaining problem for persons trying to leave the welfare system, and that the grant would be a great help to the county.

Carlson also told the commissioners that a grant of $19,000 has been awarded for the Center Street day care facility, which will keep it operating for another six months.

In another announcement, Carlson said Brown has been named the chairman of the Local Management Board.

Emergency Management

The efforts of rescue volunteers during the recent weeks of damaging weather were commended by Brad Frantz, director of emergency management.

"The volunteers have been dedicated and reliable throughout these past weeks," Frantz said. "We've had terrible storms that have caused a lot of damage, and the rescue workers have been great."

Commissioner Wayne Wilt noted that the commissioner board has sent letters to all the county rescue departments, thanking them for their efforts.

Frantz said the recent weather has sparked a renewed interest in safety issues, and that he and his staff have been meeting with the local school board to discuss these issues. He noted that tornado safety in the schools has become a concern, and that there is a small-cost detector system that could be installed at each school to alert the staff of any impending danger.

"We'll be looking into this further," he said.

Education Board

Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent of Garrett County schools, announced that Dr. Brenda McCartney has been appointed as assistant superintendent of curriculum and instruction.

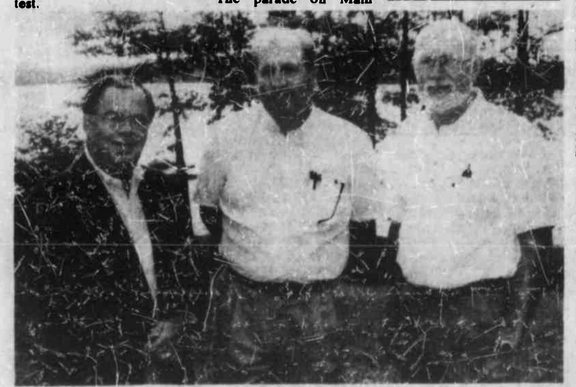
Blaze Destroys Petting Zoo Barn At Hoyes

Lightning is believed to be the cause of a fire last Friday afternoon that destroyed a barn which housed a petting zoo along State Rt. 42 in Hoyes, just north of McHenry.

The zoo was part of Schoolhouse Earth, a gift and antique shop and, while none of the animals was injured, the fire destroyed a number of antiques. The 4:10 p.m. blaze, which was discovered by owner Nancy Graham, caused the roof of the barn to collapse.

Volunteer fire fighters from Deep Creek, Accident, Friendsville, and Oakland responded to the scene and Deep Creek units remained there for nearly three hours. Phil Workman, assistant chief for the Deep Creek Fire Company, said that all of the animals were able to escape the burning barn and the stable was still usable. He said that damages were estimated to be $50,000.



Also responding was the Northern Rescue Squad. There were no injuries reported.

MOBILE HOME BLAZE

Last week's issue of The Republican carried a photograph and some information about a fire that gutted a mobile home in Deer Park last Thursday morning.

According to Deputy Fire Marshal Steve Wendling's report, the single family, one-story manufac-

An accident on Route 219 on Saturday resulted in injury to one person. According to a report by the Maryland State Police at the McHenry barrack, Tanya M. Beitzel, 24, Accident, was westbound on Bumble Bee Road at 3 p.m. She allegedly stopped at the stop sign at the intersection of Bumble Bee Road and Route 219.

At the same time, William E. Charlesworth, 55, Addison, Pa., was northbound on Route 219. Beitzel pulled onto Route 219, failing to yield the right-of-way to Charlesworth, the police report said.

The two vehicles collided, and Charlesworth's vehicle struck the guardrail. Charlesworth was transported by Northern Rescue Squad to Garrett Memorial Hospital. Deep Creek VFD also responded to the scene.

F&M BANK SPONSORING GLAF SHOW — Dancers and singers will take the Garrett Community College stage next weekend as the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival presents "New York, New York In Motion," under the direction of Brenda Brosnihan. The show, featuring numerous local performers, is being sponsored by the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Oakland. A check was presented by the bank this week to help fund the presentation. Pictured left to right are Fred Stample, GLAF executive director; Kim Conroy, assistant manager of F&M Bank; and Brosnihan.

GLAF To Present "New York, New York In Motion" Next Weekend

A fast-paced music and dance show titled "New York, New York In Motion" is the next show on the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival summer line-up, slated for July 10 and 11 at 8 p.m., and July 12 at 3 p.m. The event will take place on the stage at Garrett Community College.

"We are pleased about the quality and variety of dancing and singing this show has to offer," said Brenda Brosnihan, director. "We hope the audience comes away with a little of the magic that comes from the 'Big Apple.'"

This performance is being sponsored by the Farmers and Merchants Bank in Oakland, and will feature 75 local dancers and singers.

The show opens with actress Malia Collins, whose character is visiting New York City for the first time. Her adventures take her on a taxi ride, to the Rosie O'Donnell show, the Hard Rock and Fashion cafés, and to shows on Broadway.

Kimberly Grimm Weimer, 1990 Miss Maryland, will perform several vocal selections, including the opening number New York, New York, while a group of local women will perform a Rockette-style kick-line routine. Other guest performers include John Wilson, Susan Bell, Sue Harkins, Mike Fratz, Doug Gaither, Tom Peterson, and Karen Seilhamer, who will present selections from The Lion King, Phantom of the Opera, Les Miserables, and Jekyll and Hyde. Over 20 youth will also present highlights from the classic show Oliver.

Brosnihan, a local dance and fitness educator with a lengthy background in performance and choreography, said she was honored to be invited to direct another dance revue for GLAF.

Tickets, which are $5 for adults and $4 for youth 18 and under, are available at the GLAF office on the GCC campus, or can be reserved by calling the office at 301-387-3082 on Mondays, Wednesdays or Fridays between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. If tickets remain at show time, they will be available at the door.

Car Accidents Investigated By GCSO, DNR

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office and the Maryland Department of Natural Resources each received reports of separate accidents this past week.

On Saturday, June 27, sheriff's deputies were notified of an accident on George Washington Highway just east of Table Rock Road at 1 a.m. The investigation revealed that a 1990 Chevrolet truck driven by Albert Lynn Boch, 66, Mt. Storm, W.Va., was traveling westbound on Route 50 when it crossed the center line and collided head on with a 1989 Volvo driven by Judy Ann Upole, 46, Oakland.

Upole's injuries required a transport to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad, where she was treated and released. The Gorman Volunteer Fire Department was called to the scene as well. Boch was later charged with failure to drive to the right of the center line.

DNR state forest and park rangers investigated a Sunday evening single-vehicle accident, in which Karen Sue Broadwater, 33, Swanton, overturned her 1985 Ford Tempo on northbound New Germany Road near Twin Churches Road when she swerved to avoid hitting a deer and lost control. A second vehicle discovered Broadwater and her vehicle shortly after the 10:20 p.m. accident and transported her to a park ranger's residence at the Savage River Complex.

The Northern Garrett Rescue Squad was then called to transport Broadwater to Cumberland Memorial Hospital, where she was treated and released. The Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department responded to the scene as well.

Oakland Planning "Charrette" For Community Input

The town of Oakland and the Greater Oakland Business Association (GOBA) will sponsor a public forum to develop ideas on rebuilding or revitalizing the remains of the structure on second street which burned in a 1994 fire. The format selected for the meeting is based on the "charrette," an intense work session held by architecture students striving to complete a design project.

The meeting, to be held Friday, July 10, at 8 a.m., will bring together Oakland residents, business owners, public officials, and architects to share thoughts and ideas on how to best use the commercial town property. Doug Devlin of Devlin Design Architects, Pittsburgh, Pa., will facilitate the discussion.

"We'll start the meeting with a tour of the building at 8 a.m. and then we'll go to the Mountain Fresh Pavilion to brainstorm ideas," said Glenn Tolbert, Oakland town manager.

The public brainstorming process was chosen to give all interested parties an opportunity to be involved with the design concepts, he explained. Bringing communities together for this charrette process increases the number of design and use ideas that can be considered, and it encourages a sense of responsibility for the town on the part of the participants, Tolbert said.

"We want anyone who is interested to take part in the charrette. We want this to be a very public process," he concluded.

For further information persons may contact Glenn Tolbert at City Hall, at 301-334-2691.

The meaning of a mother's love, how tender and how wise,
Her patience and forgiveness, that are part of everyday.
Years go by before we know the depth of her concern,
The love in her protectiveness, it takes so long to learn.

Local Historical Society Slates MLP House Tour

The Garrett County Historical Society is sponsoring a house tour on Saturday, July 11, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The five Victorian homes are within walking distance of each other. The following homes will be featured:

Richardson Cottage, 104 F Street, was built in 1898 by Richard G. and Agnes A. Richardson, parents of a dozen children. Two of their daughters lived in the Park until 1969. After several owners and many futile efforts to winterize the cottage, it was abandoned and fell into disrepair. Today it is being restored by owners Hopwood and Karen Wooddell. An added feature at this home will be an art display by local artist Jon Boone.

The Gables, corner of Oak and G Streets, was built by S. L. Allen in 1882. In 1910 it was bought by E. J. Stone, whose descendants have lived there for many years. The property is now owned by Rev. and Mrs. Manning Smith.

The Grimes Cottage, 204 H Street, was built by Dr. and Mrs. Laughlin, and was set back from the street with the intention that it would be used as a stable. After the doctor died, Mrs. Laughlin had the structure converted to a house. Their daughter later married Jack Grimes. Today the house is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Whittlesey.

The Watson-Enlow Cottage, 215 H Street, was built by Maggie Watson around 1884, and remains much the same as when it was constructed. Because it was used as a summer home in the past, it was referred to as a "cottage." It remained in her hands, and subsequently in her estate, until 1924. At that point it was purchased by the Enlow-Utterback family and remained in their possession until 1980. Today the home is owned by Michael and Wendy McCaffrey.

Tiffany Lady, 214 I Street, was built in 1885 by L. F. Yoder, and has had several owners during the past century. Currently the home is owned by Louis DiCarlo, who has replaced the windows with stained glass ones. Many of his other handcrafted items will be featured during the tour of his home, as well as a look at his stained glass studio. Guests may also enjoy the beautiful flower gardens around his home.

"This house tour is a fund-raising activity of the society, and it is most appreciative of the owners for the opening of these beautiful Victorian homes," said a spokesperson for the historical society. Each home will be marked with a sign at the street. Tickets for the tour may be purchased in advance at the Historical Society Museum, Proudfoot's Pharmacy, Gregg's Pharmacy, and Gonder Insurance.

Restoration Of Potomac Topic Of Corps Meeting

Plans for the restoration of aquatic habitats at seven sites along the North Branch Potomac River will be presented and discussed in a public meeting hosted by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Baltimore District, at 7 p.m. on Thursday, July 9, at the Frostburg Community Center in Frostburg.

The meeting will feature a presentation of the Upper North Branch Potomac River Environmental Restoration Feasibility Study, which includes most of the upper North Branch watershed and extends 97 miles along the North Branch from Fairfax Stone, W.Va., to Oldtown.

The focus of this feasibility study, still in progress, is to identify fish and wildlife habitats that have been adversely impacted by acid mine drainage, and determining ways to restore these habitats. The proposed restoration actions include constructing wetlands, and regrading and planting lands along the North Branch to restore impacted areas. Corps officials note that improvements in the aquatic and terrestrial habitats in the upper reaches of the Potomac River will have noticeable benefits to downstream water quality and natural habitats, according to a spokesperson.

The Maryland Department of the Environment and the West Virginia divisions of Natural Resources and Environmental Protection are co-sponsoring the study. Officials estimate that a draft feasibility report will be available for public review in the winter of 1999.

The appointment followed Albert Coviello's recent resignation from that post.

Teets also noted that the outdoor corridor project at Southern High School is nearly complete. The project has been planned for over eight years, and was finally finished with in-house contractors. Another construction project is the Head Start Center at Crellin Elementary School, which Teets said is all "under roof" now.

"It's going to be a fine addition to Crellin," he said.

Planning and Zoning

John Nelson, director of the county's planning and zoning office, told the commissioners that 154 people attended the June 18 State Highway Administration (SHA) meeting about the proposed bypass alternatives for the town of Oakland. He reported that those attending were in favor of constructing a bypass, except for George Falter of G.C./CARES. He said that even the land owners affected by the bypass were supportive of its construction.

Nelson stressed to the commissioners that the bypass would be a two-lane road, not a four-lane.

"There have never been plans to make the bypass a four-lane," he said. "The SHA will build a two-lane, but, as in all their construction projects, they will purchase the right-of-way land on either side of the road. This idea has been on the books for over 30 years, and there have never been plans to make it four-lane. It has absolutely no connection to Continental One."

Nelson that several persons at the meeting suggested an overpass over Memorial Drive, making the bypass a limited or no-access road. (Plans already indicate that the bypass would also go over Dennett Road.) This would limit the number of roadside developments that could occur if the road is easily accessible.

"The people in those areas don't want to see a lot of development around the bypass," he said.

More public meetings will be scheduled as the plans develop, with the final session to be held "in about a year," Nelson said. As many as six years could pass before the bypass is actually completed.

Health Department

Interim health officer Ed Dressman was introduced by the commissioners to the staff members, and he informed the group that the position of health officer of the county has been advertised in a number of newspapers, locally and beyond. He also noted that an employee satisfaction survey has been mailed out, and the results of this survey will be compiled in the near future.

Dressman is in the local office on Tuesday and Friday mornings, and can also be reached at the Allegany County Health Department, where he is the full-time health officer.

Sanitary District

Wendell Beitzel, administrator of the sanitary district, announced that eight bids were received for the Jennings sewer project, and that the lowest bid fell well within the district's proposed cost. The low bidder was the Green River Group, a company that has a satellite office in Grantsville and, Beitzel said, does hire local workers. He said the project will now proceed, and should be finished next spring.

Beitzel also reported that the Deer Park sewer system is working well, and that the Hutton sewer project bid has been awarded to local contractor Frank Arnold. Arnold has offered to connect residents to the system as he installs it, which Beitzel said relieves the residents from having to make their own arrangements for hook-up.

The Deer Park water system design has been initiated, Beitzel said, and the project should be started next spring.

Sheriff's Office

Larry Gnegy, an officer of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, and Brenda Arnold, victim witness advocate, reported to the commissioners that they will be traveluig to Baltimore this month to receive au award for the local domestic violence awareness program.

Gnegy asked the commissioners to consider matching some funds to provide Arnold with some medical insurance, as she is currently working without any fringe benefits. He has already secured $2,000 in grant funds to obtain insurance for her, and hopes to receive a similar amount from the county.

Arnold has been working as a victim advocate for over a year, contacting victims of domestic violence and alerting them to options available to persons in such situations.

What's Right...

We Americans spend a lot of time, effort, money, and newspaper space bellyaching about all of our problems in this nation, and heaven knows we have our fair share. As long as fallible human beings are in charge, we will always be confronted with a wide variety of inequities and issues.

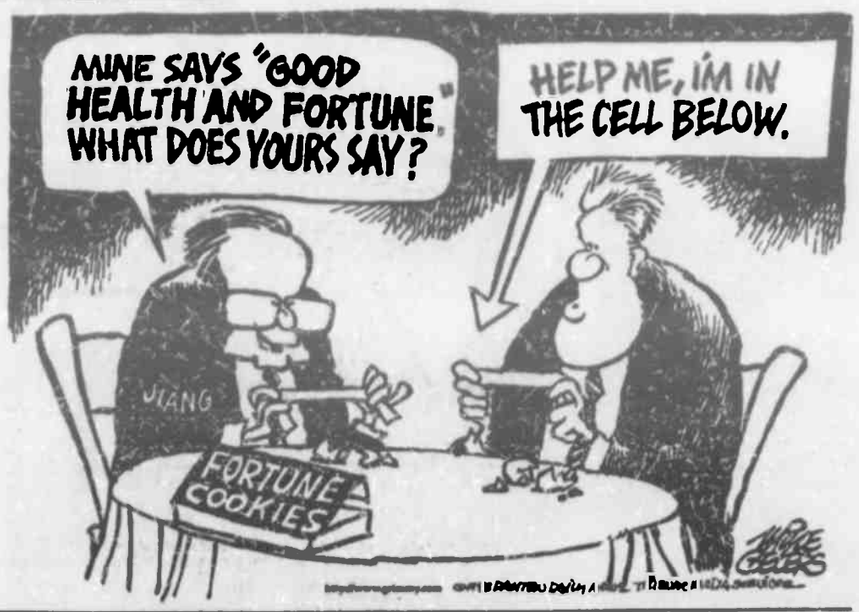
However, it is both prudent and therapeutic to take time out from all of this complaining to recognize and appreciate what is right with America, and certainly July 4 is a perfect day for that purpose. It is a day to stop, at least momentarily, our taking so much for granted, specifically the freedoms that we enjoy every single day.

For those of us in our business, freedom of the press, of course, immediately comes to mind. We have the freedom to produce our newspaper every single week with absolutely no intervention or restrictions from any level of government. We have the freedom to search out the truth and publish it, even though that truth may be an attack on the very government that upholds our precious constitution.

Similarly, our readers have the freedom to express their opinions on a limitless array of topics by writing letters to the editor. They can, and often do, slam our government relentlessly, and may do so without fear of legal reprisal.

We are also free to stand on the street corner and verbally express our opinions, again, no matter how accusatory they may be.

We are free to assemble; that is, to call meetings for the purpose of discussion and action, even if that purpose is in opposition to something that our government is doing.



We are free to worship any thing, any way, and at any time, without the threat of our government restricting or prohibiting such actions.

We are free to pursue an education, in the public system or in a private system, and to pursue a career, without any form of government intervention.

We are free to buy and sell property, without the government controlling how much property we may own.

Even though there are plenty of regulations involved in owning and operating a business, we are nonetheless absolutely free to start and operate a business.

Most other nations of the world have not or do not enjoy many of the forms of freedom just described. The crafters of our Declaration of Independence and the U.S. Constitution were exceedingly wise, and we wonder if perhaps there was even some divine intervention involved in the creation of these documents. We should take time — and not just on July 4 — to reflect upon, appreciate, and give thanks for all that is right with this great nation of ours.

Make A Party Of It!
by Mary Sincell McEwen

This weekend will be a true blast, being the Fourth and all. I like a good celebration, especially when it's a national thing and just about everyone is really into it. John and I try to keep our three boys informed about holidays; we try to explain what they mean and why we do certain things. We don't want them just going off willy-nilly on these days without having a little bit of knowledge as to why we're all acting goofy or being somber, whatever the case may be. They get perplexed, of course, being so young, but we think there's value in starting to explain things early so they have at least a foothold. (Alex, 3, is still a little confused about his birthday, which is 10/31. Just this week he said: "On my next Halloween, I'll be four!")

But speaking of celebrations and rituals, I have thought recently that we don't have enough in our culture. Yeah, yeah, we all blow out candles on our birthdays and we have our confirmations or bar mitzvahs and we waltz up the aisle once or twice (or thrice), but I think we really should highlight other rites of passage that mean something to us all.

As we verge on one important milestone in our family, I have decided that we will host a "Potty Trained At Last" ceremony. I think all parents should have such an event because, face it, this is a Big Deal. Our youngest, Michael (2 1/2), has made some definite steps in this direction in just the past few days, and John and I are simply giddy. To think: no more dollars shelled out for dipes and wipes, no more olfactory abuse (or at least a lot less), no more hogging the landfill with thousands of the "disposable" items — six years of solid diapering might truly be coming to a close. Yes!

And so the ritual could go like this: We'll invite the entire family and all friends who have children, trained and otherwise. We'll need a pile of faux diapers, an old diaper pail, two crisp new pairs of Power Ranger undies, and a catapult. There could be a traditional "diaper dance" that all children would be expected to know, and they would begin this part by parading around the pretend diapers, which could be ritualistically made of out-grown T-shirts or former spit-up cloths. The music could be something like "Looks Like We've Made It." So then the kids would pick up the pretend diapers, one at a time, and would place them in the diaper pail. When they were all in, the parents would joyously hang the diaper pail on the catapult and whack the holding rope. The pail would then be hurled into the landfill, and there would be much rejoicing. The potty trained honoree would then be presented with the new pair of undies, and the children still wearing diapers would be gathered together. The honoree would place the new pair on his head and pick up the second pair. Turning his back on the crowd of diapered babes, he would toss the new pair over his shoulder. The baby who caught the new pair would traditionally be the next one to be trained. Refreshments would follow.

For a more sober ritual, I think we should somehow mark that dreadful day when the kindergartner brings home his first discipline slip. This would be called the rite of "Oh, Good Grief, He's In Trouble Already." In this event, the parents would put on loads of blush and would sigh a lot and wonder if their kid was going to turn out to be a bad seed. The kindergartner would dance around them, first denying ever pinching anyone at all, and then, as the parents continue to stare him down, would finally admit the crime and look downward. The parents then threaten the child with the "No TV For Three Days" declaration and the child would apologize profusely, promising to stop pinching, or at least to keep it to a minimum. Parents would recite the "That's Not Really Good Enough" lecture, and the child would then promise to stop pinching all together, and would contritely sing "I Fought the Law and the Law Won." A round of Conciliatory Ice Cream would traditionally close this ceremony.

How about when the laundry is completed and put away? This could be the "Every Sock Has A Mate" event, and the Laundry Master, whomever that may be, could ceremoniously open a drawer, stroke the clothes inside, and say, "See you next week." Then she would static-cling a used dryer sheet to her shirt, trot through each room to take in the sight of no clothes on the floor, and sing "My Laundry's So Bright I Have to Wear Shades." This observance should be capped with a glass of ice water, although some factions might prefer cold beer.

There should be a Vacation's Over Observance, which would be a bittersweet occasion. It would be marked by the "Putting Away Of the Suitcases" march, with spouses handing the luggage fire-bucket style to each other and into the closet. If there are children in the family, they can be part of the Luggage Line, too, and everyone involved could sing "The Party's Over." An added feature of this ceremony could be a closing duet for worn-out parents: "Let's Blow This Loony Bin and Take a Vacation Of Our Own."

Parents could have a short rite for when the evening winds down with no major fighting among the children. This could just be a little jig or something they would do when leaving the kids' bedrooms and realizing the rare thing had actually occurred. Wait a minute — John and I already do that one. Oops!

Anyhow, whatever you do, celebrate once in a while. Life's short — we all ought to dance a little.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Does this make sense?

A bear breakfasted last Sunday on garbage from a container provided by the real estate people who rent out the place next door, in an area loaded with kids.

Meanwhile, there's a three-year-old Garrett County garbage dump nearby.

Yo, real estate people. Stop feeding the bears. Introduce your renters to Garrett's best-in-the-USA garbage dumps.

It's the right thing to do.

Sincerely,
Ron Yuzuk
Swanton

To the Editor:

Concerning the continued discussions and debate about the proposal to build the Rt. 219 bypass around Oakland, I have this to say. For a little more than 10 years I have lived near Oakland. During those years, I have been a motorist, a pedestrian, and a bicyclist in and around Oakland all seven days of the week at various times from sunrise to sunset. Never have I felt that there is a serious problem with traffic congestion or tie-ups; nor have I felt that my safety was ever threatened by the traffic in and around Oakland. For times when traffic is a little heavier than usual, existing roads can be used to re-route it by varying traffic patterns as alternate plans suggest.

An Oakland bypass is a costly and unnecessary solution to a relatively small problem. Why not just slow down?!

Truly,
Ken Bauer

To the Editor:

We would like to thank Jarett Rasel of Oakland 84 Lumber Company and David Maust of Casselman Lumber Do It Center in Grantsville for supporting the Academy of Tae Kwon Do Karate (Oakland) and National Academy Karate Systems (LaVale) demonstration at Grantsville Days. Also, G. Days Chairman Gerry Beachy for squeezing in our act at the last minute, when the schedule was already full.

Thanks to these generous gentlemen, Grantsville Days was able to add a new event that could not have transpired otherwise.

Gratefully,
Craig Speicher
Geoffrey Newman
Demonstrators

To the Editor:

I would like to use this column of your newspaper to publicly thank a group of citizens who care. I cannot provide their names as they are anonymous even to me.

From February to May 1998, various law enforcement offices and the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force received anonymous "tips" about drug activity occurring in an area of Mtn. Lake Park. With police investigation, we were able to corroborate information received from these concerned citizens. A search and seizure warrant was executed at a residence and enough marijuana was found to charge the adult occupants with felony drug charges.

This only goes to show that each and every person can play an important part in the ongoing fight against illegal drugs. If any person has information about suspected drug activity, he/she can contact the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force at 301-387-9566 or 301-895-5889, the Maryland State Police at 301-387-1101 or 301-895-1101, or the Garrett County Sheriff's Office at 301-334-1911 or 301-895-3188. Your information can make a difference!

Sincerely,
Cpl. Mark Rodeheaver
Task Force Supervisor

To the Editor:

How sweet it is to be vindicated by your editorial last week on the proposed Oakland bypass. I was one, along with Ernie Gregg and Truman Paugh, who voted against the bypass some years ago when the elected officials had the responsibility of either endorsing or rejecting State Highway programs. Senator Mason and Les Hunter voted to build. Of course the vote was three to two.

I voted against it for the very reasons you outlined in the editorial. Also, I might add that, if the bypass had been built at that time, I don't think that McDonald's, Sheetz, the Car Wash, Pizza Hut, Radio Shack, Long John Silver's, and other businesses would have materialized where they are, and the town of Oakland would not have benefited taxwise.

At that time I recommended a tunnel be constructed at High Street so that the students could walk or ride bicycles to Southern High and even Dennett Road School. This was not an endorsement to build, but if they were hell-bent to do so, then this protection would be a part of it.

My recommendation would be to begin at Sand Flat Road and unprove Rt. 38 to Deer Park by widening and eliminating many of the curves, build a clover leaf at Rt. 135 and Rt. 38, and direct through-traffic to Mtn. Lake on Rt. 135 on to Rt. 219 South at the 219-135 intersection. This may be less costly and less disturbing to farmland where Rt. 36 already traverses.

I also want to commend you for your editorial on the flag amendment. It was courageous and timely. I wrote to National Headquarters of the American Legion and told them to get off the flag kick and get back to what the legion is about: widows, orphans, and education.

To the Editor:

In response to your invitation in last week's editorial, I would like to propose some ideas on the Rt. 219-Oakland bypass issue; and the re-routing of traffic away from Rt. 219 in general.

Begin diverting traffic away from Rt. 219 early on. Westbound traffic on I-68 seeking points south of McHenry and Oakland can be siphoned off at Rt. 495. Make it a major exit. Have plenty of advanced notice — one sign for McHenry via Rt. 495, Rock Lodge Road, and Mosser Road; one sign for Deep Creek Lake via Rt. 495 and Glendale Road; and one sign for Oakland and points south of Oakland (list a few) via Rt. 495, Rt. 135, and Rt.

THOMAS JEFFERSON: PATRIOT AND ENIGMA

Six years ago Deborah and I made our way to Charlottesville, Va., where we stayed on a farm that had once belonged to Thomas Jefferson. We visited Monticello and the University of Virginia. It was a special time: it was our wedding trip.

Admiring Jefferson is easy. Even if he had done nothing but write the Declaration of Independence, he would still be among the most notable of Americans. There is, of course, much more than the Declaration to his credit.

As an amateur architect, he is probably without equal. He did much to promote the propagation of plants and animals, and considered this area of endeavor among the most important of human enterprises. As a diplomat, secretary of state, and president, he rendered outstanding service to our country. As a political philosopher, he is well worth reading.

While it can hardly be counted as an achievement, even Jefferson's death made him remarkable. Both he and John Adams—occasional enemies and perpetual friends—died on the 50th anniversary of signing the Declaration: July 4, 1826.

Let it be said again and again: Thomas Jefferson was a great man.

Here it comes: BUT. He was a great man, but he lived in ways that were inconsistent with his announced principles and commitments.

Jefferson penned the immortal words "All men are created equal," but he kept slaves. He believed the institution of slavery to be immoral, but only promised to free his slaves after his death when their freedom would not prove inconvenient to him.

Even that promise of convenience, however, he did not keep. Jefferson maintained a lifestyle the cost of which substantially exceeded his means. His debts were so great that on his death, his slaves were sold in order to pay Jefferson's creditors.

Like many an ambitious person, Jefferson never let friendship stand in the way of his self-advancement. Probably the most significant example of that flaw was his betrayal of John Adams in 1800.

We do well to remember that while Jefferson was the chief author of the Declaration of Independence, it was Adams who served as floor leader for the cause. The two men cemented their friendship as they labored together to achieve a political determination, which would ever after affect the course of our country's history.

When Adams' first term of office was coming to an end, Jefferson allowed his name to be put forward in opposition to Adams. The Jeffersonian party prevailed, opening a breach between Jefferson and Adams which from then on was never entirely closed. Adams wrote copiously about his pain at Jefferson's betrayal.

At a much more trivial, but no less revealing, level, Jefferson bought an expensive English piano at just the time he was ordering a national boycott of British goods. He refused to let his principles interfere with living the good life.

Someone observed that Jefferson's "life had always been about promise." It was not only his personal promise, but the principle of promise which he infused into the American system. Jefferson's posture of promise became embodied in the notion that the United States of America is the land of opportunity.

On this Independence Day, we do well to consider the promises implicit in our history, and to ask if in our day we are reneging on those promises which are fundamental to our national identity, namely, "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness." We do not want our heirs to discover, after we are dead and gone, that our promises died with us.

EVERYBODY LOVES A PARADE - As the 21st annual celebration of Grantsville Days began on Friday, rain clouds hung ominously over Garrett County. Crowds lined Main Street in spite of the drizzle and cheered for the passing floats, trucks, cars, and marchers. The volunteer fire department sponsored the parade, which kicked off a weekend of activities, games, music, entertainment, and good food! Photos by Lisa Broadwater.

Rain On Parade Doesn't Dampen Grantsville Days

Downpours, thunder, and lightening threatened the area all weekend, but activities of the 21st annual Grantsville Days celebration continued in spite of the weather. The parade Friday evening brought spectators to the Main Street, even though a light rain had begun.

Entertainment in the park that evening was later interrupted by heavy rains and air-to-ground lightening strikes. "There were rumors that a tornado was passing through Pittsburgh," one festival-goer said.

Rain continued on Saturday, but so did the celebration. "We had a pretty good turnout considering the weather," said Gerry Beachy, chairman for the event. "We couldn't set off the fireworks on Friday night because of high winds, so we set them all off on Saturday. It was quite a display," he added.

High winds, rain, and lightning did not slow down the sale of the Lions Club's barbecued chicken dinners. "We cooked 800 dinners on Saturday and sold out early. On Sunday we cooked only 200 because it was raining so hard. They were gone by noon, so we cooked another 400. They sold out, too," Beachy stated.

Among the Grantsville Days events that continued, foul weather or not, was the 11th annual horse pull. The winners for the competition in each division were as follows: light weight division — Mike Warnick, Grantsville, first place; Bob Howard, Acme, Pa., second place; and Jerry Riggs, Cameron, W.Va., third place; heavy weight division — Charlie Geno, New Freeport, Pa., first place; Greg Davis, Mercer, Pa., second place; and Matt Warnick, Grantsville, third place.

The tennis tournament, which began Friday at 1 p.m. was postponed before it was concluded, because of the bad weather. Tournament coordinator Linda Wengerd said the matches will be continued this weekend and the winners will be announced later.

food will be available as well, including pit beef barbecue prepared by chef Larry Roby, and chicken barbecue, Rotary fries, and other items. Coca-Cola will be sponsoring its own food tent, and Cheers Shoppe will be operating a beer tent throughout the festivities.

Patrons are invited to stay in the Market Square parking lot to enjoy the fireworks display at the Wisp Resort, which will begin shortly after dusk.

"This is a perfect location to watch the fireworks," said Hugh Umbel, owner of Foodland Fresh. "We hope people can come out and enjoy an old-fashioned party with good food, fun, and entertainment while helping a local charity that has helped so many others in our community."

She received her bachelor of science degree from West Virginia University, and a master's degree from Columbia University. She also had a six-month internship at Columbia Presbyterian Hospital in New York City. She taught school for two years in West Virginia and was the assistant dietician at Shepherd Pratt Hospital, Towson, before accepting a position as a dietician and nutritionist in the Baltimore public schools, where she established their school lunch program. She served there for 30 years, retiring to Aurora in 1957, and then moving to the Bridgewater Retirement Community in Bridgewater, Va., in 1977. She remained there until the time of her death.

She was a West Virginia 4-H All-Star, a member of the West Virginia Chapter of Nature Conservancy, a member of the Maryland Retired Teachers Association, and a life member of the American Dietetic Association.

A graveside service will be conducted at the Aurora Cemetery on Tuesday, July 7, at 11:30 a.m., with the Rev. William V. Connelly officiating.

The family suggests memorials take the form of contributions to St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Aurora, WV 26705, or to the Bridgewater Healthcare Foundation, Bridgewater, VA 22812.

Boating Safety Test Given Each Friday In McHenry

Throughout the summer boating season the Maryland Department of Natural Resources Police (NRP) will administer, free of charge, the Boating Safety Equivalency Test each Friday at 9 a.m. at the McHenry Public Safety building on Friendsville Road. The final class will be offered on Friday, Sept. 4.

Maryland law specifies that anyone born after July 1, 1972, must successfully complete a boating safety course before operating any motorized vessel in the state of Maryland. This includes all motorized boats, jet skis, Wave Runners, and other powered vessels and personal watercraft (PWC).

Those who pass the equivalency test will receive a Maryland Certificate of Boating Safety Education card. Anyone who fails the first time may retake the test one more time at a later date. However, anyone who fails the second time must take the Boating Safety Course to receive the card. Persons interested in more information about this test may call the NRP office at 301-777-7771. TOWN NEWS

The mayor and town council have extended gratitude to the individuals and civic organizations who helped spruce up the town park.

A town-wide yard sale is scheduled for Saturday, July 18, the same day as the Fiddlers' Contest. This is open to all Friendsville residents, churches, and businesses. All who wish to do so must set up tables on their own property, as no tables will be set up at the town park. The sale is to be from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m.

The mayor and town council would like to encourage the residents of Friendsville to mow their grass away from the streets, instead of toward the streets, to help prevent clogging of the storm drains. Due to all of the wet weather this year, clippings from the street are being washed into the storm drains, which can lead to flooding.

The mayor and town council would also like to remind town residents who are pet owners that dogs must be on a leash when off the property or premises of their owners. The Garrett County Animal Control Officer will be making periodic drive-throughs to help enforce this law. Violating the dog ordinance is considered a misdemeanor and can result in a fine of $50 to $200.

Hot Stove League Action

TCI Falls; All-Star Tourney Held

The Hot Stove League schedule was cut short this past week by a combination of soggy weather, but players and fans were able to get their baseball fix during the league's all-star tournament at Westmar High School over the weekend. The only regular season game played by a Garrett County team was a visit by TCI Computers to Ellerslie, where host Document Solutions handed TCI a 16-13 loss.

TCI threw three pitchers at Document Solution's batters with varying results. Fifteen walks and 12 hits helped the hosts score in every inning they came to the plate. Chris Bloskey singled four times to knock in five runs, Cass Martin doubled twice and singled once, and Darren Johnson and John Emerick each singled twice for Document Solutions.

Paul Beitzel tripled and added three additional hits for TCI, Adam Brenneman doubled and singled, and Ryan Brenneman and Guy Beitzel each singled twice.

TCI's record stands at 7-5, with an upcoming slate of games showing a matchup this evening with the Cumberland Elks at Northern High School, a Monday evening visit to Ridgeley, W.Va., to take on the Ridgeley VFW, and a Wednesday evening contest with Keyboard World at Northern.

The Hot Stove League All-Star Tournament saw the top players from across the region gather in Lonaconing for the two days of action. In the 13-year-old bracket the American League West team defeated the A.L. East team 5-1, while the National League East team downed their N.L. West opponents 4-2. The 14-year-old American leaguers, East and West, tied 2-2. The N.L. 14-year-olds from the East squeaked by the N.L. West by a run, 8-7. The 15-year-old A.L. West team defeated the A.L. East 9-8, while their N.L. 15-year-old West counterparts thumped their East opponents 10-1.

In addition to the TCI games of the coming week, local Hot Stove action will see Grantsville host Cumberland Optimist tomorrow evening, followed by a Wednesday evening matchup at Frankfort, W.Va., with Fort Ashby. Western Garrett has a pair of games, one Monday evening versus Frankfort VFW at Frankfort, followed by a Thursday evening contest in Friendsville against Oldtown.

Storey's Wins Four More To Stay Unbeaten

The local softball team sponsored by Timothy J. Storey Construction remained unbeaten in the Sugar & Spice League by capturing four more victories this past week. Storey's whipped Frostburg Pride last Friday, 10-2, topped Mt. Savage, 12-8, Monday in the completion of an earlier suspended game, crushed Mt. Savage again the same day, 17-4, and finally mashed the Dapper Dans of Cumberland yesterday, 15-5. Storey's leads the league with a 9-0-1 record.

Jennifer Bosley was the winning pitcher against Frostburg Pride, as she recorded 13 strikeouts, allowed just one hit, and walked four. Offensively, Storey's recorded six hits off Kaitlin Sweeney, with Jennifer Teagarden rapping a double and a single and Nicole Kitzmiller finishing with two singles. The only hit off Bosley was a seventh-inning single.

Teagarden was the winning pitcher in the completed game against Mt. Savage, as she recorded five strikeouts and allowed nine hits and six walks. Storey's finished with 14 hits, as Bosley hit a homer and two singles, Ashley Liller and Mika Myers each recorded three singles, and Missy Simmons added a double.

Mt. Savage was led offensively by Amber Booth with a triple and a single, and Mary Beth Kennell, who hit a double and a single.

Bosley won on the mound in the second game against Mt. Savage, as she again struck out 13 batters, allowed just two hits, and yielded four walks. Liller hit a pair of singles in Storey's nine-hit performance, Heather Brenneman contributed a triple, and Bosley aided her own cause with a double.

The only two hits off Bosley were a double by Lou Booth and a single by Kennell.

Teagarden smacked a double and two singles, and also had another complete-game win on the mound against the Dapper Dans yesterday. She gave up just three hits, walked five, and struck out seven.

Other leading hitters for Storey's in a 12-hit effort were Kitzmiller with a double and a single, and Cortney Tressler and Melissa Kuykendall with two singles each.

Storey's will complete a suspended game with Metco in Cresaptown on Monday, which will resume in the third inning with Metco on top, 7-0. Then Storey's will play another full game with Metco. The local team will be at home Tuesday for a 6:30 p.m. game with Midland.

Oaks Split With Cumberland; Still Atop Pen-Mar League

The Oakland Oaks are still in sole possession of first place with an 11-5 record in the Pen-Mar League after splitting a pair of doubleheaders with Cumberland this past weekend. Catcher Alan Sebold was named co-player of the week for his offensive production, marking the third consecutive week that an Oaks ballplayer has been selected the league's player of the week. Sebold's nine hits in 16 at-bats against Cumberland, including two doubles, a triple, and a three-run homer, helped the former Northern High School, Garrett Community College, and Frostburg State University standout compile seven RBI for the weekend's action.

In Saturday's opening contest at Bel Air, Sebold and Jeremy Fitzwater both connected for a home run apiece and racked up nine RBI between them to lead the Oaks to a 15-5 victory.

Ryan Folk paced the 20-hit Oakland offense with three doubles and a single. Fitzwater's two-run homer came in the lead-off inning, and he followed that shot with a one-run double later in the contest. Sebold belted a round-tripper with two aboard in the seventh inning and also doubled and singled twice to drive home five runs. Ryan Ferretti had a double, two singles, and two RBI, Matt Lupis knocked in two runs on a double and a single, and Jimmy Pamepinto sent home one RBI in punching out two singles.

Pitcher Ernie Galusky took the complete-game victory, giving up only six hits as he struck out two and walked two. He aided his own cause by doubling, singling, scoring three runs and knocking in two runs.

Cumberland's offense was led by a home run from Tye Miller and a triple and a single by Rick Swanger.

The second game saw the Oaks come out swinging, as they pounded out 11 runs in the first inning of a 17-5 win. For the game, Sebold tripled and singled, Joey DiSimone doubled and singled, and Folk, Galusky, and Fitzwater each singled twice. Pamepinto and Folk paced the evenly-spread offense with three and two RBI respectively. Justin Foutz pitched the first four innings of the contest, which was shortened to five runs because of the 10-run rule.

Cumberland's Swanger doubled and singled, while Miller and Jeff Barclay sent home an RBI apiece on singles.

The tides turned for the Oaks on Sunday, however, as Cumberland circled their wagons for 8-7 and 14-2 wins at GCC.

Although Oakland held a one-run lead going into the seventh inning, a Cumberland rally put the visitors on top for the victory. Barclay kicked off the comeback by walking, followed by a base on balls received by James Peterman. Dave Deter then tied the game with an RBI single, then Miller singled to send Peterman across the plate with what turned out to be the winning run.

Oakland was led by a one-run homer and an RBI double from Pamepinto, DiSimone added a solo homer, and Sebold doubled. Cumberland's Myrle Grose belted a three-run homer, Miller added a two-run home run to add to his RBI single, Deter finished with a double and a single for two RBI, Barclay compiled two singles and Swanger whacked a double.

Pat Pennel took the win for Cumberland, striking out five in seven innings.

Three innings into the nightcap the Oaks were down 6-1, as Cumberland was well on its way to a 14-2 victory. Cumberland mounted an 18-hit attack for the contest, with a grand slam, a double, and a single from J.R. Cross and a bases-loaded triple and two singles from Peterman. Deter doubled and singled twice for two RBI, Wiseman belted a solo homer and two singles, while Swanger tallied two RBI on three singles and Bobby Uhl added a two-run single.

The Oaks' offensive production was stymied by Cumberland's Barclay, who allowed only five hits in five innings. Fitzwater doubled and drove home one run, and the other Oakland run was knocked in on a single by Chris Peters.

Oakland's 11-5 record leads second-place Hyndman (7-4) by a game and a half. An open tournament involving the Oaks and teams from Pittsburgh and West Virginia will be held this weekend, Friday through Sunday, at GCC. The Oaks will play two games on Sunday, one at noon and the second at 2 p.m., against opponents to be determined by the tournament's action to that point.

Pen-Mar League All-Stars Fall To Fayette Co.

All-stars representing the Pen-Mar Baseball League were topped yesterday by the Fayette County, Pa., all-stars, 10-7, as the local players allowed the Pennsylvanians to score four unearned runs in the seventh inning.

The Pen-Mar squad, which was out-hit by a 15-12 margin, rallied for four runs in the bottom of the seventh, but there was no more scoring by either team.

Leading Pen-Mar's hitting were Todd Stevens of Fairmont, who rapped a three-run homer in the seventh, and Ernie Galusky of Oakland, who reached base four times with two singles, a walk, and a fielder's choice. Other Oakland players contributing offensively were Ryan Folk with a single and a walk, Jeremy Fitzwater with a single, and Alan Sebold, who reached on an error that led to a run.

Pacing Fayette's hitting effort were Ron Shipley with a three-run homer and Mike Sankovich with a solo shot.

Fayette's uncarned four runs in the seventh were a result of an error, three walks, and a hit batsman.

"That inning really killed us," stated Terry Helbig, player/manager for the Oakland Oaks. "But it was a very competitive game between two balanced teams. We had a great time."

The Oakland Oaks will play again this Sunday in an open tournament at Garrett Community College. Although their opponents were unnamed at presstime, the Oaks will play at noon and again at 2 p.m. The tourney will include teams from West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Garrett Legion Team Edged By Cumberland, Sweeps Frostburg

After dropping a 7-5 decision to host Fort Cumberland Post 13 last Thursday, the Garrett County American Legion baseball team recorded a doubleheader sweep of visiting Frostburg on Monday, 14-9 and 12-6. The results left Garrett County with a 3-2 record for the first half of the season, tied with Post 13.

The Garrett players were out-hit by an 11-7 margin in their loss to Fort Cumberland, as Jim Barrett pitched all nine innings for the host team and struck out nine. There were no multiple hitters for Garrett County.

Recording a double and three singles for Fort Cumberland was Brian Powell, while Jeremy Bolyard rapped a double and a single.

In the first game against Frostburg on Monday, the local team was behind 6-1 going into the bottom of the fourth inning, but that's when Garrett scored seven runs to take the lead for good.

Jordan Uphold hit three singles and had three RBI for Garrett County, while Derek Everd hit a pair of singles for two runs.

Pacing Frostburg's 12-hit performance was Brian DeHaven, who hit a double and three singles for four RBI. Jamie Clark finished with a double and two singles.

Garrett County Outdoors

By Robert Yonke

A new Maryland state record for walleye was recently established by John McCarley at 14 pounds 4 ounces, with a catch from the Jennings Randolph Reservoir. That's a really big walleye. Could Jennings Randolph be Garrett County's hot lake this season? It might be worth checking out.

Authorized by the Flood Control Act of 1962, the project is located on the North Branch of the Potomac River about eight miles upstream of Bloomington. The dam controls a drainage area of 263 square miles and was designed to improve the water quality downstream, to reduce flood damage, to provide a reliable source of water for municipalities and industry downstream, and to afford the public opportunities for recreation.

Construction of the dam began in 1971 and took 10 years to complete. At summer pool, the lake holds approximately 31 billion gallons of water. Releases from Jennings Randolph are coordinated with the releases from the Savage River Dam to maintain the best possible water quality downstream.

The lake itself extends upstream from the dam some 5.5 miles. It has a surface area of 952 acres with a shoreline of 13.6 miles and is one-half mile wide at its widest point. Jennings Randolph has access areas both in Maryland and West Virginia. Maryland's access points are two scenic overlooks off Maryland Route 135 and a boat launch on Mt. Zion Road. West Virginia access points are from W.Va. Route 46. The lake is an excellent fishery, as proven by the recent walleye record.

Below the dam, a successful trout fishery has been established in an area that, prior to construction of the dam, was totally void of aquatic life. This is the area near Barnum, W.Va., with both catch and release and put and take sections.

OPEN MONEY ALL NIGHT BASS TOURNAMENT

The Big Pool Bass Fishing Club is sponsoring an all night tournament on June 27 right here on Deep Creek Lake. This event is open to the public and will fish from 3 p.m. Saturday to 8 a.m. Sunday.

Entry fee is $62 per boat (two anglers), and 70% of the fees will be paid to 10% of the entrants. That means the more anglers, the bigger the cash pool and more in the number of winners. There is also a $10 lunker pool with a 100% payback.

Interested anglers can call Kenny Mills at 301-582-4348 for more information.

RIVER REPORT

Barring swollen streams caused by out rather wet late spring and early summer, the river and stream fishing has been very good. The Casselman regulations changed from catch and release to two trout per day on June 16. Fly anglers can still have some good fishing there, and there are some very big trout in deep holes and around sheltering rocks. Flies most apt to tempt these big guys are big, wet types such as wooly buggers. Recent warm days have shown the fish very receptive to caddis type flies.

High water and inclement weather through the spring kept the number of fishermen down on the North Branch and the large number of trout that were stocked here remain virtually untouched. The lower North Branch should fish well with large nymphs, wooly buggers, and clouser minnows. The put and take area located between the two catch and release sections is loaded with fish.

The lower Savage River has just started to fish well. Flies that should work here include blue wing olives, midges, light cahills, caddis patterns, and terrestrials. The upper Savage has a lot of fish remaining and will for the summer if water levels don't get too low. Remember, the lower Savage is regulated as "Fly-Fishing Only" and "Trophy Trout." The upper is now (as of June 16) open to any technique or bait.

As water levels return to more normal flow, the Yough will start producing some of the big ones that have been reclusive for much of the early season. Caddis patterns generally work well here.

FISHING ON DEEP CREEK LAKE

When the weather has cooperated, the shoreline around the lake has been producing smallmouth, chain pickerel, yellow perch, and a few walleye (12 to 16 feet deep). Large bluegills are being taken near docks and other shoreline structure, and some trout are being taken near the 219 bridge. Check "the book" at Johnny's Bait House for the latest big catches registered there. This can be a wealth of information as to where and when to fish and what to use.

FOR LONGER CRANKBAIT CASTS

It is possible to cast a crankbait farther if the front treble hook is removed and a split shot sinker pinched onto the eye that remains in the lure. The added weight makes it easier to cast for a longer distance and will cause the lure to sink more rapidly. Vibrations caused by trolled craukbaits tell the angler when the lure is running properly. The rod tip should pulsate rapidly. If it pulsates irregularly or begins to slowly bend back, it's time to reel up and check the lure for weeds or other problems.

Drivers Race In Somerset

Racing fans on the scene this past Friday night at the Outlaw Speedway in Somerset, Pa., witnessed local driver Cody Hardesty take first place in his first heat race and second place in his second heat race in the stock medium class. In the feature he took runner-up in a heated four-kart battle.

Oakland's Jason Miller won both heat races in the gas and oil class, earning a front row starting slot for the feature race. Pulling away from the pole position, he drove to an impressive win, lapping all but his two closest competitors in his class.

Sailboat Racing

On Deep Creek Lake

by Ted Rissell

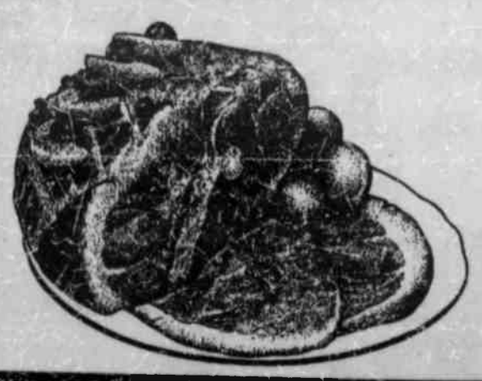
It was another dark and stormy Saturday morning. A small crowd of sailors gathered at each club. The race commander for the weekend, Bruce Spinnenweber, ventured forth to set a race course. The anemometer at the Turkey Neck Club hit 42 mph as one of the numerous squalls passed through. It was clear that there would be no race. Waves were breaking over the docks and the air was filled with spindrift. 'Twas not a fit morning for man nor beast nor sailboat. The race was canceled.

By 2 p.m. conditions had improved. Radio consultations between the two sailing clubs confirmed that there would be two fleets of at least three boats each.

The local rules require three boats to have an officially scored race. Many sailors suspected another squall. They were right. It hit just before the start. Two boats capsized, but quickly recovered. One skipper reportedly told his crew, who was still in the water, to quit hanging on to the side of the boat because he could not steer. The crew eventually got back on board, and the two were later seen joking with each other about their adventure. One crew saw the squall coming, quickly doused the sail, and were able to sail home to the Deerhaven club on bare poles. Obviously the race was abandoned.

If Saturday saw too much wind, there was barely enough on Sunday. At the 1 p.m. race time there was a fair breeze, but several boats had not drifted to the starting area. The race was postponed for one half hour. By 1:30 the southwest breeze had almost died, but picked up within 15 minutes and held more or less for the entire race. The race commander wisely shortened the course so that the boats finished in a little over an hour.

The finish was interesting. Just as most of the Flying Scots were approaching the finish line, the breeze shifted about 120 degrees and freshened. Many skippers opted to fly their spinnakers for the last few hundred yards, and the boats crossed the finish line in a bunch. Much of the race was visible from the Turkey Neck club, which was a welcome sight for those no longer able to sail.



In the Lasers, Keith Spinnenweber was first, followed by Jessica Potts. Loren Spinnenweber was first in the Laser B Fleet. In the Flying Scot A Fleet, Oakland's Harry Carpenter with wife Karen were first, followed by Doug MacMillian with son Keith. The two of them left the rest of the fleet way back. Dave Mahan and wife Jane were third.

In the Scot B Fleet, Susan Meehan and Ken Gibbs were first, Ed and Barbara Peters second, and Al and Jean Thagard were third. A day of weak sun and mild breezes were welcomed by most sailors after so many stormy days.

The Deep Creek Sailing School opened this week. If these articles have aroused your interest in sailing, give them a call at 301-387-4497. Next week we'll report the final results of the June race series, which was much shortened by all the storms we have experienced.

July 4 Last Free Fishing Day Of Year

This Saturday, July 4, will be the last Free Fishing Day this year in Maryland that anyone can fish without purchasing a fishing license. All other fishing regulations apply, such as complying by the creel limit and size limits of fish. Anglers are reminded to observe signs posting regulations for specific areas or to stop in a bait and tackle shop to learn the rules.

The Fisheries Service of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources encourages people and their families to take advantage of this opportunity to enjoy and share the pleasure of fishing, especially with someone who wants to learn to fish.

scenes without using a script," Avery explained. "Usually some sort of circumstances are given to the actors, who then create the scene off the top of their heads. Adrenalin rushes abound in this type of theatrical experience, and among numerous other advantages, these exercises build self-confidence and give actors the ability to think fast and land on their feet.

"Our improv sessions on the 8th and 11th are for teens and children, respectively, but there will be some improv nights coming up for adults," she said.

The entrance fee for the Teen Improv will be $2, and the Children's Improv will be $1.

"In Memory of Felix Robinson: A Celebration," slated for July 10, was also explained by Avery.

"Mr. Robinson was a native Garrett Countian who proved to be a multi-talented individual. He initiated the Mountain Top Choir Festival, wrote historical pageants for the towns of Oakland and Friendsville, and was instrumental in the establishment of the Garrett County Historical Society. I feel that Felix Robinson helped to create a love in this community for the performing arts, so OTT is celebrating with his family, friends, and the community what would have been his 100th birthday." This production, which consists of the words and songs of Mr. Robinson, as well as numerous memories of him, is free to the public.

The play-reading series will open on Sunday, July 12, with a presentation of Thornton Wilder's Our Town. Avery commented that audience members are invited to read parts, but there is no obligation to do so.

"If they just want to sit back and listen and think, we encourage them to do that," she said. "Some people like to act and others like to watch them act — that's partly what theatre is all about."

The theatre is located at 121 East Center Street in Oakland.

The second incident resulted in a loss of 30 music CDs with a total value of $450, two Jeep factory stereo speakers worth $70 each, and one black Case Logic CD carrying case worth $30.

Information is being sought concerning a 19-inch Sanyo television set that was taken from a Deer Park residence on the night of June 16, and a $200 Olympus camera that was taken from the Grantsville Town Park on Saturday evening.

tured dwelling sustained an estimated $55,000 in damage from the fire, the cause of which is still under investigation. The structure was owned by Michael Cogley, 34, who resided there with his wife, Cynthia, 32, and their three children, ages 14, 13, and 6.

Wendling said that all five members of the family were at home at the time of the 8:42 a.m. fire. All were asleep except for one child who went to get something in the kitchen and discovered the fire in that area. The child woke up Mrs. Cogley, who then alerted Mrs. Cogley. They fled the house with their two older children, and then rescued the youngest child who was sleeping in another bedroom.

The living room and kitchen areas were destroyed, and smoke, heat, and water damage was extensive throughout the rest of the structure. The fire was brought under control in about 10 minutes. Responding to the fire were units from the Deer Park, Deep Creek, Oakland, and Gorman VFDs, along with the Southern Rescue Squad. There were no injuries reported.

The family received assistance from the American Red Cross.

Wendling added that the home had a smoke alarm, but it was not in operating condition.

219 south of Oakland. Eastbound traffic on I-68 seeking points south of McHenry, and Oakland can be siphoned off at Rt. 42 near Friendsville by similar methods. Large signs must be boldly and clearly worded to inform drivers of destinations south and that congested areas will be bypassed.

For through traffic already traveling south on Rt. 219 seeking points south of Oakland, there are at least two available routes that already exist by which to send that traffic around Oakland and on its way. One would be to use Sand Flat Road and Rt. 135 to link Rt. 219 north of Oakland to Rt. 219 south of Oakland. For example, at the intersection of Rt. 219 and Sand Flat Road, signs would be posted marking Sand Flat Road/Rt. 135 as the bypass around Oakland for ALL traffic seeking points south of Oakland (Must Exit Here). Other traffic take Business Rt. 219 to Oakland. There are already extra lanes at this intersection that could be utilized as exit lanes while allowing locally bound traffic to continue ahead. The bypass traffic would be emptied back onto Rt. 219 South where Rt. 135 intersects with it, west of Foodland. This intersection, as well, already has the potential to be upgraded to a practical entry and exit area for a bypass.

Northbound traffic reaching this intersection of Rt. 219 and Rt. 135 would be presented with the choice: Business Rt. 219 through downtown Oakland or bypass to Rt. 219 North for Deep Creek Lake and points north via Rt. 135 and Sand Flat Road.

If for some reason Sand Flat Road will not work, then a similar connection between Rt. 219 and Rt. 135 could be made via Kings Run Road and Oakland-Deer Park Road. Either way, these roads would probably require some improvements to make them safer for the increased volume and clearly marked for efficient passage.

This is only a very general outline of ideas. There are a number of details not included here, as well as some interesting options too. I am available to discuss any of this. The point is: this could work just like any other ideas could work. We do not have to build a brand new bypass, unless somebody really wants it. And then they will do and say anything to justify why we need it, when in fact it is not a need at all. I believe it is our responsibility as stewards (caretakers) of this earth to stop gobbling up farms and forests for new roadways, when we can re-use what we already have in creative ways.

Life is good,
Ken Bauer

To the Editor:

I remember when it was the rule rather than the exception—a sense of pride in our nation; when most people still understood the gravity of the Declaration of Independence and still revered the courage and determination of the men who signed it, and pledged their fortunes, their lives, and their sacred honor that we might inherit what Lincoln called this last, best hope of man—America.

Looking at it from here, too many people just think it is part of a myth or an historical colloquialism—like the tale of George Washington and the cherry tree. They have no real comprehension of the desperate reality that faced those patriots; the only thing standing between them and a British rope being an untrained, rag-tag gang of farmers known as the Continental Army. Before Washington's great victory at the Battle of Trenton, only a few months after the signing, it took a great leap of faith to expect anything but abject defeat and disaster. They faced the most powerful military establishment which, until that time, the world had ever seen.

I remember as a small boy, after World War II, the conventional wisdom was "the British Empire is on its last legs." And, of course, by then it was. But in 1776 it was at the height of its power, stretching across the globe. The wisdom then was "the sun never sets on the British Empire." I was proud that America had become so great a nation as to have had the resources and determination to save what was left of it.

The patriots who gave us this nation and this unique government were not just a bunch of disenfranchised have-nots. They were men of substance, property, position, and learning. They had everything to lose and only an ideal—only freedom—to gain. One wonders why they were so brave and we are so timid in the face of what has happened to the institutions and government they bequeathed to us at the expense of so many lives and fortunes.

If you want to recapture that pride, regain a feeling of what it was like in those beastly hot days in Philadelphia when our nation was born, you could do no better than to see the GLAF presentation of 1776, "a musical play by Peter Stone and Sherman Edwards."

Directed by Nancy Learey and starring a couple dozen local personalities, it is a wonderful experience. When the play began and I looked out and saw such friends as Bill Grant, Len Eiswert, Jeff Gilbert, Dave Martin, and Chuck Nolan, I thought — oh-oh. Was I wrong! I have never seen any play, on Broadway or Main Street, which I enjoyed more. Stirring performances were on hand from every member of the cast, but especially authentic were the characters created by Tom Graybill, as Pennsylvania's John Dickinson, who opposed the declaration to the bitter end; Chuck Harkins, as South Carolina's Edward Rutledge, who pointed out the hypocrisy of Northern interests which opposed slavery, while at the same time profiting from it; and John Wilson, who played a whimsical and delightful Ben Franklin.

The play is presented in the beautiful Garrett County Circuit Court Room. A perfect and very personal setting. It ends with the dramatic signing. That moment is coordinated with the ringing of church bells throughout Oakland. Cold chills.

It is incredible to me that our small county (in terms of population) could mount such a complex and lengthy musical production. Some of the singing talent is of professional quality. (Nobody told me Lenny Eiswert had a voice!) I for one was very proud and grateful. Even though the play was more than three hours long, my three younger children loved it and talked about it for days. Because of the efforts of those who brought us this wonderful experience, they, at least, will have a better idea of what America is really all about.

Sincerely,
Robert E. Watson

To the Editor:

When General Norman Schwarzkopf led our forces in Operation Desert Storm, his campaign was quick and decisive. The war was over in just a few days. However, the battle he faced later has never been given much attention. Not long after the victory in the Gulf, General Norman Schwarzkopf began his fight against prostate cancer.

In an interview in Coping Magazine, Schwarzkopf encouraged all Americans to join the war on cancer. "President Nixon declared war on cancer back in 1971. Twenty-seven years is a long time to fight a war—too long. I want to challenge the American people—all of us—to make the commitments necessary to win this war on cancer, starting with a new grassroots campaign called The March: Coming Together To Conquer Cancer."

General Schwarzkopf was recently named as the national chairman for the event, which is scheduled for Sept. 26, 1998. The march is the first of its kind and is designed to heighten awareness about the disease and the need of more research. The National Coalition for Cancer Survivorship has brought together dozens of cancer organizations for the event.

Well over a million people from across the country are expected to join General Schwarzkopf for the march, including celebrities like Larry King, Sam Donaldson, Michael Milkin, Ellen Stovall, Robert Urich, and Morton Downey Jr. The Allegany/Garrett Unit of the American Cancer Society is offering free transportation to individuals and groups interested in participating. Thank You So Very Much!

A few months ago when we heard of the tragic news of our sister having liver cancer, we only knew to pray tor her. Then, after word got out about her illness, Christians and good Samaritans gave from their hearts. Words cannot begin to express how thankful and grateful we are for all the monetary donations, encouraging cards and visits, food, time, etc. We can't remember everyone's name to thank them, but we would like to thank personally:

The Crellin Assembly of God Church and church family, the Oak Park Church and church family, the Crellin Methodist Church and church family, our family members, softball players and league, the Oakland Fire Department, Roy Bittinger and band, local businesses, Dave Martin, and so many, many more.

We only ask now for everyone to continue praying with us for our sister Donna Fike. Thank you again very much.

Sincerely,
Bob & Dee Murphy

Potomac Edison Rate Increase Approval Noted

In a June 30 order, the Public Service Commission of West Virginia granted Allegheny Energy Inc.'s (NYSE: AYE) subsidiary, the Potomac Edison Company (doing business as Allegheny Power), a $1 million increase in the fuel component of its rates. The new rates went into effect July 1.

The rate change is part of the utility's annual review of fuel costs and is primarily due to fuel cost increases.

West Virginia residential customers using 1,000 kilowatt-hours of electricity per month will see an average monthly bill increase of 34 cents, or 0.5 percent, from $66.61 to $66.95.

The company serves more than 97,000 customers in seven counties in the Eastern Panhandle of West Virginia.

Headquartered near Hagerstown, Allegheny Energy, with operating subsidiaries doing business as Allegheny Power, provides electric service to 1.4 million customers in parts of Maryland, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia, and West Virginia.

Tucker Arts Festival Set To Get Underway

The weekend of Friday, July 10, and Saturday, July 11, is the occasion of the opening of the Top of Tucker Summer Arts Festival's dramatic theatre production, Henrik Ibsen's classic play Ghosts (also to be performed on July 31 and August 15). Dr. E. Reid Gilbert, the artistic director of Valley Ridge Studio, is directing this drama of family relationships, hypocrisy, and sins of the fathers visited upon the children.

Gilbert, a native of North Carolina, first came to West Virginia to serve as a playwright in residence at Davis & Elkins College in the late 70s, where his summer Mime Festival also took place. An associate professor emeritus of Ohio State University, Gilbert is now a Tucker County resident and the director of the Thomas Education Center. He has just returned from Thailand, where he spent five months teaching and performing storytelling as a Fulbright Scholar.

Robin Lea Pyle, Gilbert's wife and head of the Playwriting Project and managing director of Valley Ridge Studio, plays the female lead of Mrs. Alving in Ghosts. She directed the previous summer seasons, which featured the Front Street Cabaret Theatre in an outdoor courtyard setting in Thomas, and was for two years an assistant professor in theatre and dance at West Virginia University.

On Sunday morning, July 12, at 11:30 a.m., Stone and Ivy will perform at a brunch at One World Concept. They will perform again on July 26 and August 9. Stone and Ivy is an ensemble of Celtic and Irish music, a blend of folk music, traditions, and tales.

On Friday, July 17, at 7:30 p.m., Traveling Connections will be performed by Gilbert and Pyle. This performance draws on travels from here and there, now and again, with stories told and danced from roots in Appalachia and American Modern Dance roots in East Asia. The dance pieces will utilize costumes, silks, and ornaments from Thailand.

All performances are at One World Concept, located on Front Street in Thomas. For information and reservations, persons may call 304-463-4522.

Watch out for hidden sugars to prevent tooth decay
A healthy, well balanced diet is essential for proper growth and development. This is also true for proper tooth development.
Most everyone knows that the simple sugars found in breakfast cereals, candy, soda, and gum can lead to tooth decay. But few realize the effects of complex sugars and starches.
Foods containing starches, such as breads and pasta, along with snack foods such as chips, pretzels, and crackers, may lead to tooth decay.
With summer here, fruits and vegetables abound. Changes in your snacking habits may save you from a few cavities down the road.
Proper prevention including frequent brushing, sugarless gum (especially around snack time) and regular dental visits will go a long way to protecting your smile.

ARMAGEDDON

Rated PG-13 - Running time: 2:30

Those poor people. Those poor, poor people. All their hopes and dreams shattered; all that they had worked for up in smoke. I'm referring, of course, to the investors who put their money into this movie, all those millions spent on such a terrible, interminable film that gives new meaning to the words "all flash; no substance."

Armageddon, directed by Michael Bay (The Rock), has turned out to be Twister all over again--a movie written around its special effects, with no concern for facts, no credible characters, and no emotional content except cheap sentimentality. It is impossible to count all the plot discrepancies; the story is bulging with unrealistic events. The only thing that saves it from being a total bomb is the effects and John Schwartzman's elegant cinematography. He obviously thought he was working on a serious film, and made it beautiful. But camerawork is not supposed to be the star of the picture; the fact that it's the best thing in the movie says something.

In a pretentious, sexist script written by a team of 10 (one woman, uncredited), the U.S. government learns that an asteroid the size of Texas is approaching Earth. If it hits, the entire global population will be wiped out--either vaporized by the blast or frozen in the resulting nuclear winter. Using all their collective powers of reason, the all-male disaster committee decides that the thing to do is send astronauts to land on it, drill down 800 feet, and detonate a nuclear warhead, breaking it in two.

Harry Stamper (Bruce Willis) owns an offshore oil rig, and employs a ragtag group of roughnecks including "A.J." (Ben Affleck), "Rockhound" (Steve Buscemi), "Chick" (Will Patton), and his own daughter Grace (Liv Tyler) among others. Grace has grown up with her father and his employees because of divorce, and therefore has the dubious distinction of being the only featured woman in the movie. She is currently dating A.J. against the wishes of her dad, who wants "something better" for her, although no one explains how he expects her to get it.

Harry is contacted because he is the best driller on the planet. He has invented a super drill (carbide tip, no doubt), and the government team, headed by NASA director Dan Truman (Billy Bob Thornton), wants him to teach a group of astronauts to use it. But he insists on using his own men--he doesn't trust anyone else--and remarkably, this group of blue-collar laborers all agree to accompany him into space to do the job. A few "real" astronauts go along to fly the two shuttles, including Col. William Sharp (William Fichtner) and a token woman who has less than five lines in the movie. Everything that can go wrong, does, but despite all reason and all the laws of physics, some of the above people actually survive.

This movie goes on so long that I was giving the door a longing gaze ½ hour before the credits rolled. Talk about overkill--roller-coaster thrills are fine, but everything has a saturation point. The script reads like an overlong SNL sketch; the bungling Russian astronaut caricature reminds me of something from the '70s. Mostly it's too flippant for the subject matter, and the "serious" parts are pretentious and overdramatic. The romantic content is cloying and supersweet, and Buscemi is the only actor in the film who displays any kind of realistic human characteristics. His face constantly betrays his lack of confidence in the mission, as if he's always thinking, "How did I get myself into this?!" Come to think of it, maybe he wasn't acting. ★★½

DR. DOLITTLE

Rated PG-13 - Running time: 1:25

It's always a bit depressing to me when Hollywood does a modern remake of an old children's classic movie, because it always says something to me about our changing tastes. Since censorship has been radically relaxed since the old days, new versions of those innocent old films almost always devolve into something rather cheap and crude. I can just imagine future releasee: Bambi with diarrhea, the tin man rusting up because he wets his pants, and Willy Wonka having an illicit affair with one of the Oompa-Loompas.

Don't get me wrong; I can enjoy an occasional off-color joke as much as the next guy, but I prefer if they're not written into the old movies I loved as a kid. Alas, such is the case with 20th Century Fox's new version of Dr. Dolittle, directed by Betty Thomas and starring Eddie Murphy in the title role. This rewrite of Hugh Lofting's 1927 novel, penned by Nat Mauldin and Larry Levin, is a far cry from Leslie Bricusse's 1967 version.

John Dolittle has been able to talk to animals since he was a little kid. But his father (Oscie Davis) forced the boy to squelch his talent, fearing that he would become an outcast in society. Not until he grows up and becomes a successful M.D. does the ability resurface. Just as he and his partners (Oliver Platt, Richard Schiff) are about to close a deal with a big company incorporating their small practice, John starts hearing voices from stray dogs and guinea pigs.

After a period of denial, he accepts his gift and helps a rat who is suffering from stomach pains. He gains instant fame in the animal community and is soon overrun with a menagerie of patients, all suffering from various different ailments. Confusing his partners, his wife (Kristen Wilson), and two daughters (Kyla Pratt, Raven-Symone), he must make the choice whether to save his human relationships or his growing animal clientele. Or perhaps he can manage to do both.

Eddie Murphy is one of those actors who is almost always funny. Although this is not one of his best movies, he is thoroughly enjoyable here, with the other actors mainly staying out of the way of his bits. The human part of the story is quite silly; it is obviously just there to provide marginal support for the animal plot.

But the most fun aspect of this film (for me) is trying to guess at the multitude of celebrity voices featured as the animals. Norm MacDonald (Lucky the dog) and Chris Rock (Rodney the guinea pig) are easy; they're featured characters. But there is a host of TV and movie actors' voices playing bit parts all the way through, each with different characterizations. Listen for Albert Brooks, Reni Santoni, John Leguizamo, Julie Kavner, Garry Shandling, Ellen DeGeneres, Brian Doyle-Murray, Jenna Elfman, and Gilbert Gottfried, among others.

While this film, with its toilet paper and fart jokes, cannot possibly aspire to the kind of magic created by the 1967 version (I'll never forget that huge snail and butterfly), it does pack a few laughs and a great diversity of funny cameos. ★★★½

OUT OF SIGHT

Ratad R - Running time: 2:02

Though its trailers make it look like another generic, shoot-em-up action flick, Out Of Sight turns out to be smarter than that. Written by Scott Frank, based on the book by Elmore Leonard, and directed by Steven Sodarbergh, the film owes a lot of its style to those produced by Quentin Tarantino, focusing heavily on characterization and quirky cinematography and not just pounding out a linear storyline.

Jennifer Lopez is Karen Sisco, a federal marshal who witnesses a prison break at Glades prison in Miami. The leader of the breakout is bank robber Jack Foley (George Clooney), and after he overpowers and disarms her, the two of them end up in the trunk of the getaway car, driven by Jack's friend Buddy (Ving Rhames). During their trip in these close quarters (and in one of the film's more flimsy plot elements), she can't help becoming attracted to her charming and gentle captor, who treats the trunk ride like a candlelit evening at his apartment.

But when she escapes, it's back to business. Against the wishes of her father (Dennis Farina) and her FBI agent boyfriend (Michael Keaton, in an uncredited reprise of his role in Tarantino's Jackie Brown), Karen begins a manhunt with a couple of different reasons for pursuing Jack. Obviously she has to apprehend this criminal, but she also just wants to see him again. Meanwhile, Jack, who should be concentrating on disappearing, can't get the comely marshal out of his mind, and dismays his accomplice by wanting to arrange a reunion with her.

After his escape, Jack and Buddy team up with another ex-con named Snoopy (Don Cheadle) to steal a few pounds of uncut diamonds. The "ice" is hidden somewhere in the huge mansion owned by Richard Ripley (Albert Brooks), a wealthy banker whom they know from prison (he served time for ripping off his customers). Thanks to the loose lips of a rather loopy dude named Glenn (Steve Zahn), Karen finds out and plans to meet them there, so our lovers can have their armed rendezvous.

Clooney, known for his charm and rugged good looks, has them both set on full power in this movie. The sexual tension between him and Lopez is palpable; it is what makes us overlook the unlikelihood of a U.S. marshal falling for a criminal and vice versa. But what really makes this a good film is director Soderbergh's choice to allow all the characters to be fully explored. The plot is like a by-product; it is not the main objective of the movie. What we are supposed to see is the interaction between these several people, and this we do.

This film's timeline skips about from present to past and back again, forcing the audience to assemble the pieces slowly, just like Karen has to. Though there are elements of the story that are a bit far-fetched, engaging work by Clooney and Lopez (and also Rhames, Cheadle, Zahn, and Brooks) make this movie better than average. ★★★★

Free Concert Series Continues With Sang Run

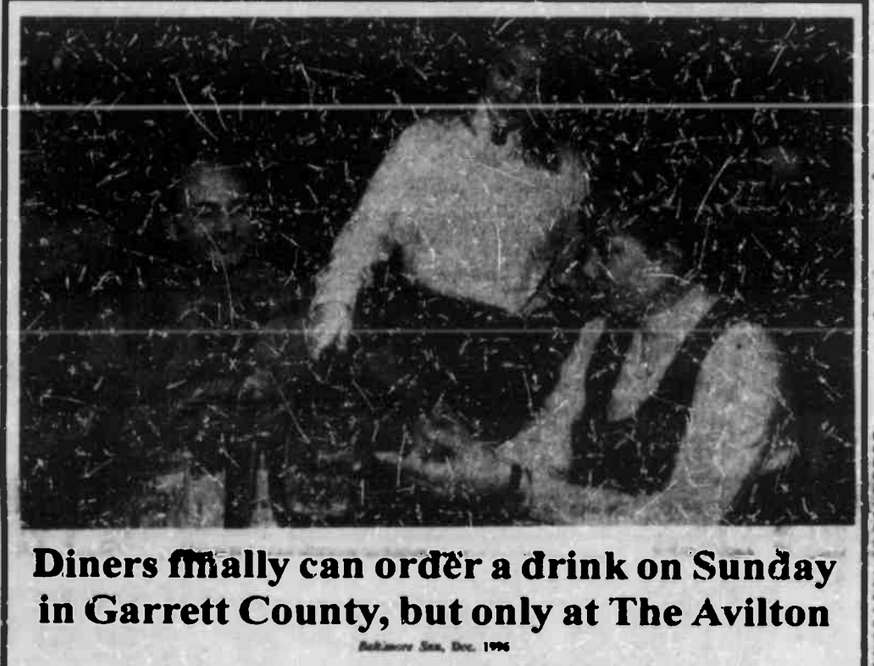
The second of six weekly concerts scheduled for Wednesday, July 8, at 7 p.m. in the plaza of the historic Oakland courthouse, will feature the memorable music of a group named after what is often referred to as one of Garrett County's most beautiful places—Sang Run. The concert series promotes the feeling of an outdoor adventure with visitors asked to bring their own chairs and refreshments.

While Sang Run plays mainly traditional acoustic music—such as Celtic, Klezmer, and Cajun—members Mike Broderick, Pat Morfoot, and Susan Weisbrod also perform blues, contemporary songs and tunes, and several original compositions.

Fiddler Mike Broderick has been playing for over 15 years and has a master's degree in music from the University of Nebraska. In addition to playing fiddle with Sang Run, Broderick is the music director for the Ecumenical Youth Ministry and plays organ for St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church in Oakland.

Pat Morfoot learned hammered dulcimer from Patty Looman, one of West Virginia's premier dulcimer players and teachers. Morfoot has produced a tape of original compositions—Blue Violets.

Susan Weisbrod has been playing guitar and singing for about seven years. Prior to moving to Garrett County, she performed with her brother and other musicians in the New Jersey area. In addition to playing with Sang Run, Weisbrod is a member of the Eveready Bluegrass Band with whom she plays upright bass.



Sang Run recently gave a concert as part of the sixth Music at Penn Alps summer series. The downtown Oakland summer series is sponsored this year by WKHJ and produced by the Greater Oakland Business Association with assistance from a Garrett County Arts Council grant. In case of rain the concert will be held at the Mountain Fresh Pavilion.

The rest of the Wednesday evening summer series includes: July 15, Diane Ilubka, jazz; July 22, Wendy Miller and Lisa Moscatiello, Celtic and folk; July 29, TBA; and August 5, Jeff Gilbert & Friends, pop/rock.

SANG RUN TO PERFORM AT COURTHOUSE - The acoustic group Sang Run will be featured in a free outdoor concert on the plaza of the county courthouse in Oakland at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, July 8. Local musicians Pat Morfoot, Susan Weisbrod, and Mike Broderick, shown above from left, play in a variety of musical styles, including Celtic, Klezmer, and Cajun. The concert is part of a free Wednesday night series of courthouse concerts that continues through August 5. In case of rain Sang Run will perform under the Mountain Fresh Pavilion.

Spruce Forest Sets 21st Annual Summerfest & Quilt Show

Spruce Forest Artisan Village, located just off Interstate 68, exit 19 or 22, and nestled on Old Route 40 east of Grantsville, MD, between the historic 1813 Casselman Bridge and Penn Alps Restaurant, has set its 21st Annual Summerfest and Quilt Show for Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 9-11 — from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day.

One of the features of the festival is the Quilt Show, which highlights the talents and artistry of hundreds of quilters from all over the country. The show is held at Grantsville Elementary School, where folks can browse through the show, selecting their favorites, as well as take the time to shop and talk with expert quilters. There is no cost to festival goers for a Shuttle Bus, which will travel continuously throughout the three days between the Quilt Show, the festival at Spruce Forest and to the following popular attractions in the Grantsville area: Yoder Country Markets, Pine Accents, Four Seasons Stitchery and Walnut Ridge Bed & Breakfast.

Once paying the festival admission, visitors to Spruce Forest may want to take the opportunity to stroll through the fourteen restored log cabins, schoolhouses and other rustic structures—all of which are set amidst cool and fragrant 75-year-old spruce trees. Inside these authentic buildings, visitors may see the village's resident artisans at work: Susan Holt, quilter and doll maker; Connie Stark, teddy bear artist and herb specialist; Meriam Brode, basketweaver and spinner; Ann Jones, weaver; Gary Yoder, bird carver, Jody Best, blacksmith; Lynn Lais, potter; John Daugherty, soap maker, Jim and Mary Ann Cummings, stained glass artists. Some of these artisans work at the village year-round, Monday through Saturday, and the others who do not have heated cabins work from mid-May through the last Saturday in October.

In addition to the village artisans, the festival features nearly 100 visiting artisans, storytellers and musicians throughout the three days. When coming to Spruce Forest, one may see strolling musicians taking up a spot on a shaded porch or under a tree, strumming a banjo or playing the hammered dulcimer or even one who yodels. There is also scheduled entertainment near the festival entrance, inside the air-conditioned 1903 Village Church and down by the cascading Casselman River. Entertainers scheduled for Thursday are Katie and Otto's Appalachian Tall Tales, Hergen's Button Box, Lynne Barnes, Ray Owen, Grover Broadwater, Otto Roes, Jay Best, Hazel Klotz, Susan Weisbrod and Greg Latta; Friday — Ray Owen's Early American Heritage Shows, Ed Rafferty and Back Up & Push, Grover Broadwater, Men of Accord, Lynne Barnes, Susan Weisbrod and Greg Latta; Saturday — Mainline Gospel Band, Men of Accord, Greg Latta, Hammers & Strings, Oakland Andrews Sisters, Grover Broadwater, Otto Ross, Lynn Barnes, Larry Smith and Carl & Kathleen Gotzmer.

Unique to this area, all of the artisans are at work on their arts and crafts at their booths and offer all of their items for sale. The artisans will also be dressed in colonial garb, accentuating the early pioneer days. Some of the work featured at the festival will be tole painting, fabric arts, crocheted works, saw paintings, handcrafted furniture, live flowers, perennials and herbs, wood carvings, jewelry, buckwheat hull pillows and flaxseed eye pillows, oil paintings and watercolors, calligraphy and scherenschnitte, terra cotta pottery, dolls, children's furniture and toys, tatting, stipple art, clay ornaments, woodburning art, papercuttings, bobbin lace making, Hmong textile art, hand-painted eggs, mosaic stepping stones, hand-painted china and miniatures.

Sponsors of the Summerfest and Quilt Show are Maryland State and Garrett County Arts Councils, Penn Alps Restaurant and Crafts Shop, Schoolhouse Quilters Guild, Hardesty's True Value, McClive's Restaurant - Deep Creek Lake and Printers Inc. Restaurant sponsors are Penn Alps, Hilltop Restaurant, Stray Cat Cafe, Goshringer's Country Restaurant, O'Donnell's Old Firehouse, Oak-Mar Restaurant, Silver Leaf Restaurant, D'Atri's Restaurant, Lindy's Restaurant, and Silver Tree Harbor Seafood Bar.

Free festival parking is being coordinated by the Grantsville Rotary Club and additional parking areas are being donated by Elliott House Victorian Inn.

On Friday and Saturday only, activities are being held at the festival for children near the foot of the Casselman Bridge. Children's Corner, under the direction of Miss Betty Jackson and Her Colonial Trunk, will offer 'make-it-and-take-it' arts and crafts projects for children, as well as storytelling and colonial dress-up, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. both days. Other children's activities include artifact interpretation, quill and slate writing, corn grinding, cornhusk doll making, and more. Dry Run Mennonite Church and School will offer "Barrels of Fun", a children's train ride near the Casselman Bridge. Children ages 12 and under are admitted free of charge to the festival; however, there is a $1.00 charge per child for Children's Corner and for "Barrels of Fun."

Also on Friday and Saturday only, the festival will hold a Silent Auction at the air-conditioned Great Hall at Pen Alps, adjacent to Spruce Forest Artisan Village, from 1 to 4 p.m. Stop in and place silent bids for your favorite items—all handcrafted by the festival artisans. Most items will have minimum suggested bids, and items may include ironwork, paintings, handcarvings, baskets, handstitched crafts, toys, pottery and much more. Bids are closed at 4 p.m. and the doors are reopened at 5 p.m. to claim auction items.

Not only can festival-goers enjoy arts, crafts, shopping, strolling and just enjoying soft, soothing music, they can also visit the ten different food stations in the village. Featured fare includes home-baked goods, cookies, pies, breads and rolls, sweet breads and cakes, hot Italian and Polish sausages with peppers and onions, hamburgers on the grill, homemade ice cream and other frozen novelties, stuffed cabbages, pirogies, borscht, Chicken Kiev, Pastry Napoleon, Bitochiki, fruit drinks, empanadas, chorizos, sloppy joes, hot dogs, corn dogs, funnel cakes, chicken salad, ham sandwiches, popcorn, sno cones, nachos and cheese, caramel apple chips, hot roasted nuts, soft drinks, homemade chicken noodle soup, apple dumplings, cinnamon rolls, barbecue beef sandwiches, homemade candy, bottled water, tofu or chicken shish kebabs, tofu or chicken fajitas, pita chips and hummus, zucchini cake, fresh cut potato fries and sweet potato fries, quesadillas, wrap sandwiches, and fresh squeezed lemonade, orange juice and lime fizz. All drinks are non-alcoholic and the festival grounds are tobacco-free.

All proceeds from this festival and its activities benefit the non profit Spruce Forest Artisan Village, which operates year-round thanks to the generosity of donors, corporate sponsors, fund-raisers and arts councils grants (approximately 10% of the operating budget). Spruce Forest does not receive any local, state or federal government monies. Trish Morgan, village administrator, is the only full-time, year-round staff person, and she manages scores of volunteers throughout the year to implement the many activities, festivals and events.

Gary Yoder, Spruce Forest bird carver, has been carving for over 25 years.

New Officers Introduced At GGBA Meeting

The new officers of the Greater Grantsville Business Association board of directors were introduced at the groups' monthly general meeting Tuesday at Penn Alps Restaurant

The newly elected officers of the organization are Lindy Moebs, president, Sharon Kazary, vice president, Debbie Klotz, treasurer, and Cindy Tiemersma, secretary. The other board members are Trish Morgan, Paul Durst, Sarah Durst, and Candy Fetterly.

Fetterly, who organized the GGBA and served as its first president, spoke to the group about her recent experiences in Ghana, Africa, where she traveled with a Mennonite mission group. The group is building a church for the people of Accra, Ghana.

OFFICERS SELECTED - The Greater Grantsville Business Association board of directors recently selected its new officers. The members of the board and officers in the photo are, in row one, Paul Durst and Cindy Tiemarama, secretary. In row two are Candy Fetterly, Lindy Moeba, president, and Trish Morgan. In row three are Sara Durst, Sharon Kazary, vice president, and Debbie Klotz, treasurer.

Fetterly described the harsh climate and poverty that she found and shared thoughts written in her journal during the two-week trip. Among the items she displayed to the GGBA members were samples of red, black, yellow, and green woven fabric, decorative batik fabric, and dozens of photographs of village streets, cacao plantations, and the Gold Coast.

The needs of the people of Ghana were described, and Fetterly handed out names and addresses where donations may be sent.

Mayor Fred Holliday reminded those present that maps showing possible expansion of Route 219N are on display in the town office. He encouraged everyone to stop in, study these options, and send comments to the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce.

Accident's Gosnell Twins Complete Plebe Year At U.S. Naval Academy

STEPHENIE GOSNELL

RACHAEL GOSNELL

Stephenie and Rachael Gosnell, daughters of Buz and Peggy Gosnell, Accident, recently completed their first year at the United States Naval Academy in Annapolis. Both girls were successful in making the commandant's list for the first and second academic semesters of their "plebe" (freshman) year. The "dant's" list includes the top 20% of the class in academics, all around military performance, and physical training. Stephenie and Rachael intend to major in political science, with a minor in Spanish.

In addition to a full academic load with no fewer than 15 credits, all midshipmen are required to participate in sports and extra-curricular activities. Rachael and Stephenie were members of Navy's cross country team. During the winter months, they raced on the Naval Academy ski team, in the Allegheny Conference. They both participated in the Model United Nations club, which included the U.S. National Competition in New York and the McGill University Model UN (Canadian nationals) iu Montreal. Rachael and Stephenie also attended the National Model NATO, sponsored by Howard University in Washington, D.C.

The Naval Academy's four-year program offers bachelor of science degrees in 19 academic majors including engineering, math, science, social sciences, and the humanities. Midshipmen also take military-professional, ethics, and leadership courses. The Naval Academy's academics rank among the toughest in the nation. There is strong technical emphasis of the core curriculum in what remains essentially an engineering school. All graduating midshipmen, regardless their major, receive a bachelor of science degree. Tuition to the academy, the undergraduate college of the Navy, is equal to approximately $225,000 for each midshipman. Each graduate is commissioned as a Navy officer with an obligation of five years.

In the summer months, they receive on-the-job training in surface ships, submarines, aircraft, and Marine units. The required summer training for rising "youngsters" (sophomores) midshipmen consists of two weeks on one of the Academy's Yard Patrol craft (108-foot converted minesweepers), with emphasis on navigation and seamanship. The ship travels along the East Coast and makes port calls in Boston and New York.

ACCOMPLISHED ALUMNI RETURN TO ACCIDENT ELEMENTARY - During their Christmas break from the U.S. Naval Academy this past winter the Gosnell twins, Rachael and Stephenie, from left in rear center, visited the fourth grade students of Donna Hinebaugh at Accident Elementary School. While they were students of Hinebaugh's in this very same classroom nine years ago, an annual fourth grade field trip to Annapolis first sparked the Gosnells' interest in attending the Naval Academy. The recent visit by the twins was at the invitation of their cousin Wesley Spiker, standing front and center with the "Navy" sweatshirt, to come and speak about their experiences as first-year midshipmen ("plebes") to his fellow students in Hinebaugh's fourth grade classroom.

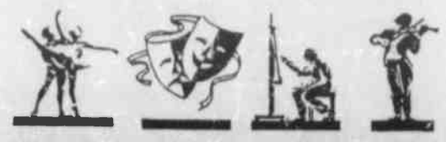
The second training block of the summer varies with the midshipman's preference. One choice is another cruise, this time utilizing the academy's 44-foot sloops to sail to New London, Conn., or Providence, R.I. Another option is Naval Tactical Training (NTT). NTT incorporates a week of Joint Operations, which includes visits to Army and Air Force bases and instructions from the Coast Guard. The second week is centered around SEAL training operations, followed by a week designed to familiarize the midshipmen with the Marine Corps. Rachael chose to participate in the training available from the NTT program.

A third option open to a select number of "youngsters" is the opportunity to participate in the Summer Seminar Program. This program is designed to expose nearly a thousand of the nation's top high school juniors to the rigors and opportunities of the Naval Academy. Stephenie was able to participate in this program, which demonstrated the academy's emphasis on leadership roles, as each "youngster" squad leader is responsible for approximately 10 students during each of three one-week sessions. Rachael and Stephenie both attended this program at the academy in their junior year at Northern High School.

On Thanksgiving Day, Rachael and Stephenie were featured on Baltimore's WBFF-TV FOX 45 nightly news segments, after a cameraman and reporter Lea Ann Canapé followed the girls through all activities of a typical day at the Academy.

Midshipmen must be nominated by a member of Congress, the vice president or the president to receive an appointment to the Naval Academy. Both Stephenie and Rachael received their nominations from Representative Roscoe Bartlett. According to recent data compiled by USA Today, the academy had the lowest average acceptance of any institution of higher learning in the United States. Approximately 20 percent of midshipmen are female. The average total attrition rate is 26 percent over the four years. The class of 2001 has already lost nearly 200 midshipmen.

Graduates of the academy have become national leaders, including 72 Medal of Honor winners, 202 members of Congress, 36 astronauts, 32 Rhodes scholars, many corporate CEOs, one Nobel Prize winner, and a president of the United States.



Midshipmen experience many opportunities to attend lectures by top speakers from throughout the country. The speakers this year included retired General Colin Powell, Senator John McCain, Secretary of the Navy John Dalton, and Commandant of the United States Marine Corps, General Krulak. The 1998 graduating class of midshipmen and their guests were addressed by the President of the United States Bill Clinton.

Glass Recognized At FSU Honors Convocation

Cynthia Glass, Cumberland, was one of over 50 graduate and undergraduate Frostburg State University students recognized for academic excellence at the university's annual honors convocation held recently.

Glass, a school counselor at Southern High School, received graduate honors in guidance and counseling.

At Southern, she also serves on the School Improvement Team as the achievement subcommittee chair, coordinates the Peer Counseling Program, and has organized the Special Olympics and the Blind Skier Program.

She said she hopes to continue to work with students, assisting them in the process of learning.

She is the daughter of Joseph and Nancy Glass.

Accident Students Earn Reward For Extra Activities

A select group of fourth and fifth grade students from Accident Elementary School were treated to a field trip for their involvement in special activities and assuming extra responsibilities during the school day.

The students who make these extra efforts include band and chorus members who skip recess in order to participate in additional music classes. The Safety Patrol members remind students to walk, not run, in the halls going to and coming from their classrooms. Star Scrubbers are the students who wash desks at dismissal time to help make classrooms more sanitary.

As a reward for their efforts, the PTA and the Veal Association sponsored an excursion and ice cream treat for the 58 fourth and fifth graders and their chaperons.

The first stop on the trip was Raymond Yoder's veal barn to see the calves and learn about nutrition. The next stop was WFRB Radio Station in Finzel. Students met radio personalities Hannah and the Trucker, Jim the newsman, and Chris Williams.

At Spruce Forest Artisan Village, Trish Morgan, administrator, gave the students an informational tour. A picnic lunch at the Casselman River bridge was followed by a visit to Goodwill Mennonite Home, where students sang to residents.

The culminating activity of the outing was a stop at Hilltop De-Lite for ice cream.

Those who made the trip possible were bus driver Delmar Yoder and parent chaperons Ann Kolbfleisch, Chris Miller, Lori Schmuck, and Lisa Schlosnagle. Teacher chaperons were Suzanne Clark and Roxanne Sherwood.

Senior Center Sets Activities For July

In addition to the regularly scheduled activities, the senior center will host a number of special events in coming weeks.

On Wednesday, July 8, a Chautauqua performer will provide a living history presentation on depression-era humorist Will Rogers from 10:30 to 11:45 a.m.

On Friday, July 10, from 11:30 to noon, Pat Steyer will host a sing-a-long/"Name That Tune" presentation.

On Friday, July 17, Gail Dever of the county's health department outreach program will conduct blood pressure screenings and provide nutritional advice.

On Wednesday, July 22, the senior center picnic will begin at 9:30 a.m. at Pavilion 4 in Broadford Park. In the event of rain, the picnic will be held at the senior center.

On Friday, July 24, interested persons may build birdhouses in a craft activity lasting from 11:30 a.m to noon. Participants are asked to bring their own hammers.

On Wednesday, July 29, attorney Donald Goldbloom will deliver a presentation titled "A Day in Court."

On Friday, July 31, a special exercise session from 11 to 11:45 a.m. will feature a chair dancing video.

The Mary Browning Senior Center is operated by Garrett County Community Action's Area Agency on Aging. Persons interested in further information about the activities may call Liz Edgar at 301-334-9431, ext. 134.

A Senior Nutrition Program lunch is served at noon on Wednesdays and Fridays. Persons 60 and older and their spouses are encouraged to contribute as much towards the full cost of the $3.25 meal as they are able. Reservations are necessary and can be obtained by calling 301-334-9431, ext. 131, or the new toll-free number, 1-888-877-8403 two days in advance of or by 9 a.m. on the day of the meal.

Menus are available at the senior center and are also published in the Senior Citizen's Menus column of The Republican.

Clarification Noted To Story On Fireworks

A story detailing the hazards of home fireworks that appears in Section B of this issue of The Republican incorrectly states statistical data regarding injuries sustained from illegal fireworks. The story should read that 7,000 injuries are sustained each year from the use of illegal fireworks, not 7,000 fatalities.

Discussions were held on weigh-in, workshops, and Service Learning opportunities at Cuppett & Weeks Nursing Home. Reports were given by Travis Sines and Nick Rush on Tractor Certification, Emily and Sarah Cosner on the State Healthy Lifestyle Quiz Bowl, Corey Stonesifer on the Rabbit Workshop, and Leah and Lori Gentry on their broiler project. A photography demonstration was given by Emily Cosner. After the meeting was adjourned, club members began work on their fair booth. Refreshments were served by Travis Sines.

The Trailblazers' next meeting will be held at the home of Erin, Nick, Jenna, and Carrie Rush on Thursday, July 23, at 7:30 p.m.

Garrett Rehab Services Unveiled As Joint Venture

Garrett County Memorial Hospital of Oakland and RehabSolutions of Cumberland have announced the formation of Garrett Rehab Services, a joint venture in rehabilitation services, formalized recently with the signing of the articles of incorporation.

"Signing this document marks the creation of a new entity whose mission is to provide the latest in comprehensive physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech and hearing services to the residents of our area," said Walter Donalson, CHE, president of GCMH. "Our goal is to build a modern outpatient rehabilitation facility that includes extensive gymnasium space, state of the art equipment, and an in-ground therapy pool designed for aqua therapy and aqua aerobics," he explained.

Architectural plans for the Oakland-based rehabilitation center provide for approximately 7,000 square feet of outpatient therapy and professional space. "Ground breaking for our building is scheduled for the spring of 1999," according to Bill Freas, president of RehabSolutions. "In the meantime, plans are under way to consolidate the existing rehabilitation services of the two organizations. Until the new building is completed, Garrett Rehab Services will be housed at the Revco building at Brodak Plaza in Oakland, the current location of RehabSolutions." The new entity will employ approximately 15 staff members.

"GCMH and RehabSolutions have worked on this consolidation for several years," commented Donalson. "We believe the community will greatly benefit by having a single source for all rehabilitation and restorative therapy services. This new facility will complete the progressions of rehab programs our respective organizations currently offer to hospital inpatients, rehab patients in GCMH's Subacute Care Unit and the restorative care offered by RehabSolutions, along with the local nursing homes," he concluded.

Prepaid College Trust Application Deadline Extended

The Maryland Prepaid College Trust has extended the application deadline for its 1998 open enrollment period from June 30 to July 31. The extension, approved last week by the program's board of directors, provides to Maryland families more time to apply for a contract to prepay for their children's future college education.

Over the past few weeks, calls to the Maryland Prepaid College Trust toll-free telephone number have been increasing. "This is a major decision for most families," said board chairman Edwin S. Crawford. "We didn't want anyone to rush into a contract without being able to fully read the application materials and develop a sound financial plan for their children's future."

The one-month extension also allows parents time to determine the impact of new tax legislation signed by Governor Parris N. Glendening on May 22. The two new tax laws eliminate the Maryland state income tax on the earnings when the contract benefits are paid to a college and provide up to a $2,500 Maryland state income tax deduction for each year a family makes contract payments to the program. The earnings are still taxable at the federal level, but at the child's tax rate and not the contract purchaser's.

"The extension also allows families who took vacation following the end of the school year time to get an application booklet and apply," said Crawford. Prior to the extension, the Maryland Prepaid College Trust had received more than 25,000 inquiries to its toll-free telephone number, 1-888-4MD-GRAD, from direct mail responses, and at its web site www.prepaid.usmd.edu.

Compton Inducted Into Honor Society At Westmar High

Amanda R. Compton, Swanton, a student at Westmar High School in Lonaconing, was inducted into the National Honor Society recently.

"It is a special honor for a sophomore to be inducted [into the honor society]," stated Susan Nolan, Compton's faculty advisor, along with Ray Miller. Ranking 12th in her class with a 3.79 grade point average, Compton plans to attend college to study sports medicine and become an athletic trainer. She is an active member of the Chestnut Grove United Methodist Youth Group.

Compton is the daughter of Tom and Yvetta Compton, Swanton, and the granddaughter of William R. Bever, Swanton; Doris Barnard, Florida; and Ellen Compton, Mtn. Lake Park, and the late James Compton.

Receives Who's Who Distinction

Melissa Steyer, daughter of David and Linda Steyer, Oakland, has been officially included in Who's Who Among American High School Students for two consecutive years.

Her overall academic achievements contributed to her selection for the honor. Only five percent of all high school students obtain this annual award and not quite one percent are honored for two or more years, according to a spokesperson for the organization. Miss Steyer was commended for her consistent commitment to excellence.

Miss Steyer maintained perfect attendance throughout her senior year. She received the Success in School award, obtained a child care certificate, and achieved distinguished honor roll status (earning a 90% or above in every course). Until her graduation this spring, she was an active member of the Southern High School chorus.

Miss Steyer is now enrolled at Garrett Community College, where she will major in liberal arts. She is the recipient of the Lucille H. Sines Memorial Scholarship. Upon graduation from GCC, she hopes to continue her education at Frostburg State University.

Let's Get Down To Business!

This is a feature of The Republican to better acquaint our readers with various area business establishments.

The Doctor's Billing Office

The Doctor's Billing Office was opened at 2332 Herrington Manor Road near Oakland six months ago by Vicki Kent. Vicki has operated her own business for four years and has a lot of experience in that area, having worked with her father in his insurance business since she was 18.

Vicki says her father enjoyed a tremendously successful insurance career. He was constantly in the "Million Dollar Club," selling life insurance in the days when a million dollars was a lot of money. After 15 years working in property and casualty insurance, Vicki moved into the life and health field selling group insurance, medical and dental, life, and disability products to businesses in the metropolitan D.C. area.

In her mid 30s, following the birth of her son Blaine, and because of her lifelong interest in medicine, she began working with Kaiser Permanente as assistant to the physician-in-chief of the Reston, Va., medical center. She also worked closely with the chief of medicine of the mid-Atlantic region, Vera Dvorak M.D., now medical director of MAMSI.

As a direct result of Kaiser's reorganization, one of the physicians with whom she had worked left Kaiser to start her own internal medicine/geriatric medicine practice. Vicki seized the opportunity and became business and office manager for that doctor, and started building the doctor's practice from the ground up, including the medical billing. Vicki says she so enjoyed that portion of her job that she took over the billing for another physician as well. Thus, the roots of The Doctor's Billing Office began to grow.

The Doctor's Billing Office now has clients from "head to toe," psychologists to podiatrists, from Silver Spring, Md., to Fairfax, Va., to Oakland. Paperwork from these physicians is picked up by courier or express mailed weekly and then billed electronically.

In this way, Vicki and employee Mary Vaughn offer state-of-the-art medical billing, patient accounting and practice management services with their own personal touch.

"I look at the claims I bill as my own," Vicki said, "and I make absolutely certain that 'my' claims get paid at the highest reimbursement level possible."

Vicki says she see growth and success for her business in the future. "My very happy clients are seeing to that," she said. "I also will be personally marketing my business in the Maryland, West Virginia, and Pennsylvania areas as well as the metro D.C. area."

The Doctor's Billing Office can be reached by calling 301-334-5032.

Historical Society Holds Annual Dinner Meeting

Two raffle winners were the recipients of donated pieces of art at the annual dinner and business meeting of the Garrett County Historical Society held recently at the Deer Park fire hall. "Mitchell's Barn," an oil painting by Edith Fauber Browning, was won by Linda Sherbin, and it now hangs in the law offices of Stover & Sherbin. A stained glass mallard window hanging crafted by Bob Burrell was won by Nathaniel Panther. The raffle proceeds have been applied to the mortgage on the historical society's museum building.

The Deer Park VFD Ladies' Auxiliary served the dinner to more than 130 members and guests. Larry Cosner, president, conducted the meeting, and officers were elected for the coming year. The financial report of the society was given by Willard Hayden, treasurer. Martha Kahl, corresponding secretary and treasurer of the fund-raising committee, gave the financial report and listed the fund-raising efforts to defray the mortgage on the acquisition of the Professional Building. Willard Hayden presented a check for $1,000 from Garrett Lodge #113, Knights of Pythias, for a payment on the mortgage.

Dolores Hayden, chairman, announced an upcoming fund-raiser, a house tour on July 11 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Five Victorian homes in Mtn. Lake Park will be featured. Tickets are available at the museum, Proudfoot's Pharmacy, Gregg's Pharmacy, and Gonder Insurance.

Offutt Johnson, Department of Natural Resources naturalist at Patapsco State Park, presented a program titled "Three Centuries of Maryland Park Rangers." He was dressed in an exact replica of one of the early park ranger uniforms. He also spoke on his local family history and early childhood in Oakland. Many of the slides in his program were made from old pictures of Herrington Manor, New Germany State Park, and Potomac Camp. He and his wife set up a large display of related artifacts, memorabilia, and models of buildings built by the Civilian Conservation Corps.

The society continues to hold fund-raising events, and gratefully accepts donations from any person or organization interested in preserving the history of Garrett County. Volunteers are always welcome.

Playing for American League Hot Stove All Stars were David Vagnetti and Ryan Morrison.

Ann McLister and children from Frederick spent last weekend and this week at the home of her mother, Margaret Wagner. She attended her grandmother's funeral and also attended her 20th year Northern High School class reunion at Silver Tree Inn on Saturday evening. According to information from Ann, the class remembered classmate Scott Glotfelty with a moment of silence.

Ann and Joanne Maxim took their children plus Meredith Sussman to Swallow Falls State Park on Monday. They then visited the Sussmans, where they were introduced to their new pony and their four new pigs.

The Allegany-Garrett counties 4-H camp is in full swing at Pleasant Valley this week. Quite a gang of youth from Bittinger are joining in the fun. Attending are Matthew and Scott Bass, Robbie, Blakely, Daryl, and Elliott Glotfelty, Claire and Caitlin Sussman, Brent Housley, Torrey Poholsky, Scott Pusateri and Max Beitzel. I can't wait for my two big girls to come back home on Thursday night. Meredith is just miserable with her big sisters gone. Caitlin spent last week at Camp Hickory. It's no fun around here without them.

Claire, Caitlin, and Mere Sussman participated in a swimming meet at Cumberland YMCA on Friday evening. They won several ribbons. The pool area set a new standard for being hot and humid. "Great Aunt" Helen from Westminster and son Courtney, Accident, along with Nate Blately and Jennifer Greathouse and myself were there to cheer them on. Helen spent several days in Garrett County visiting relatives and started a big quilt project for Marci Glotfelty and children.

Band practice was held in the barn for the Soul Band. It was extra special as two old band mates, Jim Jones and Steve Ashby, had a real jamming session. Both played in many bands when they were younger. In spite of 20-some years having passed, they sounded great. Steve's brother Mark is a regular member of the band. We look forward to more appearances from Steve.

Last week was a tough week for the Bittinger "Grand Dames." Sadly, Etta Buckel died before her 89th birthday celebration. Her remains were buried Saturday at Bittinger Emmanuel Church. Former Pastor David Rockwood was the attending pastor.

On another sad note, Ruth Hershberger died on Wednesday and will also be sadly missed. A memorial service for Ruth will be held Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at United Church of Christ in Grantsville.

Good news is that Martha Glotfelty is home following a hospital stay. Martha was visited by her son Kenny and wife, Ruth, from Carlisle, Pa.

Father's Day dinner guests at the Julius and Karmen Carey home near Frostburg were William and Linda Oester, Salisbury, Pa.; Jeffrey, Sheli, and Ashlin Gray, Hanover; James and Agnes Carey; Billy, Susan, Jesse, and Lydia Powell, Frostburg; Dwaine, Lisa, Adam, and Amanda Platter, Smithsburg; Jim and Donna Glotfelty; and Ida Reckner.

CIVIC CLUB HONORED BY CUPPETT & WEEKS — The Civic Club of Oakland was recently presented with a certificate of appreciation from the Cuppett & Weeks Nursing Home. The award was given in appreciation for the many volunteer hours club members donate on a regular basis. For many years, the club has been supplying and decorating Christmas trees for residents and patients at the home. As the need for trees grew, the club organized a craft group to make decorations. Under the leadership of Helen Wagner, Faye Denison, and most recently Pat Fleinger, the group has expanded its talents to include tray favors for special holidays and gifts for the children of the Salem Home. Help is always welcome, a club member noted. Pictured is Ms. Fleinger with the certificate.

Miss Stewart Faring Well At Interlochen

The first concert of the 1998 World Youth Symphony Orchestra at the Interlochen Center for the Arts was held on Sunday, June 28. Marin Alsop conducted the orchestra in Bernstein's "Jeremiah" Symphony and Symphony No. 4, by Brahms. Amanda K. Stewart, local trombonist, was given an initial selection as the second chair, first trombone prior to the start of the eight-week camp, and played as the principal second trombone.

Each week challenges are made by members of the brass sections, which allows the musicians to move up, or down, in standing. Following a challenge on Friday, June 26, Amanda became the principal trombone, or first chair, for the second week of camp.

On Sunday, July 5, the orchestra will be conducted by Timothy Russell, with piano soloist Kevin Cole and clarinet soloist Robert Spring. The concert will feature Williams's Overture to "The Cowboys," Tower's Clarinet Concerto, and Gershwin's Rhapsody in Blue and An American in Paris. During this concert, Amanda will have three solo parts to perform.

The camp continues until August 16, with the concert selections changing each Sunday. The remainder of the series will feature music by Stravinsky, Dukas, Mozart, Debussy, Britten, Berlioz, Shostakovich, Bartok, Ellington, Beethoven, and Liszt. Persons traveling to the Interlochen/Traverse City, Mich., area this summer who would like information about these and other performances by world renowned classical, country, and folk musicians and groups may contact Amanda's father and mother, Brad and Patsy Stewart, at 301-334-8624 or 301-334-2166, for more information.

People who would like to write to Amanda may do so at this address: Amanda K. Stewart, HSG Cabin, #18, Interlochen Arts Camp, P.O. Box 700, Interlochen, MI 49643-0200.

Butler Awarded Scholarship To Attend FSU

David Butler, Grantsville, recently received the N. Rose Atwood Scholarship to attend Frostburg State University.

He is the son of Tim and Edith Butler.

Wish Comes True For Grandson Of County Residents

Cody Ferguson, Hagerstown, recently spent a week at Florida's Walt Disney World as a guest of the Make-A-Wish Foundation. The 8-year-old Hagerstown youth, paternal grandson of Phil and Vera Ferguson of Deer Park, and maternal grandson of Charlie and Lorraine Mason of the Oakland area, is living with Duchenne muscular dystrophy, a life-threatening illness.

The trip to Disney World began with a police escort out of Hagerstown, complete with flashing lights and sirens. In Lorton, Va., Cody, his brother Travis, parents Bob and Sue Newton, and grandmother Lorraine Mason boarded the AmTrak Auto Train for the journey south to Orlando, Fla. There he was greeted at Disney World by the Disney characters and rode the amusement park rides, visited the Epcot Center and Sea World, and safaried through the new Wild Animal Kingdom.

Sue (Mason) Newton, the boy's mother, conunented that she wanted Cody to go to Disney World while he is well enough to enjoy himself. "He's so healthy and beautiful [now], and it's not going to always be that way," the Southern High School and Garrett Community College graduate said.

Cody's grandmother, Lorraine Mason, said that Cody just completed the third grade at Pangborn Elementary School in Hagerstown. "He doesn't let his handicap stop him from doing things like playing baseball or bowling," said Mason. She added that Cody loves to visit her and her husband Charlie's dairy farm, located south of Oakland.

The Ferguson family credited the assistance of Make-A-Wish volunteer Jerry Jennings with making Cody's wish come true.

WHEN YOU WISH UPON A STAR - Jiminy Cricket's theme song may still be echoing in the ears of young Cody Ferguson, who recently spent a week at Walt Disney World in Orlando, Fla., as a guest of the Make-A-Wish Foundation. The Hagerstown boy has Garrett County roots through his mother, Sue (Mason) Newton, who grew up in the Oakland area, and his grandparents on both sides, who still reside here.

The men who sat at this desk to sign the Declaration of Independence on July 4, 1776 were very different from one another. They were from separate colonies. They came from various socio-economic backgrounds–young lawyers and seasoned statesmen. They were handsome and homely, shy and scandalous. Their philosophies varied as well as their religious persuasions, yet each had a strong common goal...that "all men are created equal with certain unalienable rights...life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

In the United States of today, the differences are much greater than they were more than two hundred years ago, yet the Declaration of Independence still stands for the equality of all people regardless of their differences. Let us strive to uphold this belief; for upon it, democracy has its foundation and because of it, the many faces of freedom have become as one.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALLHOUSE

STAYING WITHIN THE LIMIT

July 5, 1998

Background Scripture:
Proverbs 2:1-15
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 53:1-6

The books of Ecclesiastes, Job and Proverbs are called "the Wisdom Books" of the Bible. The purposes of these books is not to tell a story, but to impart wisdom, a characteristic highly valued by the Hebrews.

The Book of Proverbs is different than Job and Ecclesiastes in that it is simply a large collection of proverbs—wise and vivid sayings especially, but not exclusively, for the instruction of the young. Historically, Proverbs is a compendium of the religious and moral instruction given to Jewish youth by professional sages in the period after the return from the Babylonian captivity, although many of the proverbs date to much earlier times.

Many of us remember some of the proverbs our parents taught us: "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again." "People who live in glass houses shouldn't throw stones." "A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush." The genius of proverbs is that they say so much in so few words. The source of proverbial wisdom is experience and the purpose is always practical: to help us live wisely.

DATA vs. WISDOM

Maybe the reason we do not very often hear proverbs quoted today is that wisdom is not highly valued in our society. It is said that we live in an "information age." But information by itself does not add up to wisdom. Computers may supply us with more information than we can use, but not the wisdom with which to use it.

What is really valued in our world today is toughness and power. In every political campaign I read ringing testimonies that this or that candidate is "tough" on crime, spending, corruption or on whatever they think people want them to be tough. I rarely hear of anyone being celebrated for their wisdom. That brings to mind a little passage from Ecclesiastes 9:14-16:

There was a little city with few men in it; and a great king came against it and besieged it...But there was found in it a poor wise man, and he by his wisdom delivered the city. Yet no one remembered that poor man. But I say that wisdom is better than might, though the poor man's wisdom is despised, and his words are not heeded.

SEEKING AND FINDING

Proverbs 2 sums up the themes of the whole book. First, says the sage, if you truly seek wisdom from the Lord, you will receive it. "If you cry out for insight and raise your voice for understanding, if you seek it like silver and search for it as for hidden treasure; then you will understand the fear of the Lord and find the knowledge of God" (2:3-5). In New Testament times Gnostics taught that the gospel was a mystery that could be known by only a select few, but the Old Testament sage indicates that the only bar to wisdom is our own personal desire and receptivity.

Secondly, the sage says that if we accept the wisdom God imparts to us, then it will show up in our living. The wise person will "walk in integrity, guarding the paths of justice and equity." Knowing what to do is only half of it; doing it is the other inseparable half. So we seek wisdom, not to accumulate a mental library of teachings, but to live wisely in the sight of God.

Third and finally, if we receive wisdom and live wisely, there are great benefits from the Lord: "discretion will watch over you, understanding will guard you; delivering you from the way of evil, from men of perverted speech...men whose paths are crooked..." (11-15).

Elbert Hubbard once said: "Every man is a damn fool for at least five minutes every day. Wisdom consists in not exceeding that limit." With God's help we can stay within the limit.

FISCAL YEAR 1999 BUDGET MESSAGE
MAY 5, 1998

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners is pleased to present the Fiscal Year 1999 Operating and Capital Budget. The County Administrator and the Finance Department have dedicated their efforts to making this budget possible. Our goal of financial accountability to the people of Garrett County was the basis for this final budget. This year's budget reflects an increase of $3,138,362 over Fiscal Year 1998 Amended/Approved Budget without an increase in the property tax rate of $2.59 per hundred. However, this increase requires an explanation that will clearly define the actual appropriation of County revenue and associated expenditures. Fiscal Year 1999 Operating and Capital Budget includes State of Maryland funding of $2,100,000 for Mountain Top Mental Health Associates, Inc. The purposes of this non-profit corporation are to plan, manage, and monitor the public mental health services system and to promote full community participation in the planning and delivery of mental health services in Garrett County. The actual increase in Fiscal Year 1999 Budget is $1,038,362 over that of Fiscal Year 1998 and is outlined in the Budget Report.

Fiscal Year 1998 Operating and Capital Budget	$35,210,848
Fiscal Year 1999 Operating and Capital Budget	38,349,210
1999 over 1998	3,138,362
Less MTMHA	(2,100,000)
ACTUAL INCREASE 1999 OVER 1999	$ 1,038,362

The Board remains conscious of the financial deficit that limited the expenditure of funding over the past three fiscal years. Public funds were directed to a reserve account, deficit reduction, and contingency. Unaudited financial indications are that the deficit will be non-existent at the beginning of Fiscal Year 1999; however, the County is obligated to appropriate funds to restoring a solvent financial position. Funds are again directed to Contingency ($200,000), Reserve Fund ($200,000), and Deficit Reduction ($300,000).

The largest expenditure in the Budget for Fiscal Year 1999 is Education, which continues to be the significant priority for funding. Thirty-nine percent [39%] of the total Operating and Capital Budget for Fiscal Year 1998 is designated for education. Public Works continues to be the second highest segment of Fiscal Year 1999 Operating and Capital Budget with twenty-seven percent [27%] of the total Budget appropriated for the County Roads Department, the Department of Solid Waste and Recycling, and County Airport. Public Safety comprises seven percent [7%] of appropriated funds to the Sheriff's Department, Detention Center, Animal Control, and Emergency Management.

The Board of County Commissioners will continue to make Economic Development and Tourism top priorities with plans to improve infrastructure in the Southern and Northern Garrett Industrial Parks. The Visitor's Center, located at Deep Creek Lake, is expected to be completed by the end of the second quarter of Fiscal Year 1999.

Future year commitments for capital funding allocations are reviewed by the Board of County Commissioners, the County Administrator, and the Finance Department as part of the Five-Year Capital Improvement Plan. Debt service for Fiscal Year 1999 will remain basically the same as Fiscal Year 1998. The Capital Expenditure section outlines capital improvement projects and capital equipment purchases, which are investment resources, which the County is able to fund by financing. The current debt percentage of 8% is consistent with recommended levels outlined in the Debt Affordability Study completed in Fiscal Year 1998.

The County is committed to financial and strategic planning that will rely on the statement that good business decisions have to become exceptional and the County must operate more efficiently than at any time in the past. The provision of public services to the citizenry of Garrett County will continually be enhanced and improved by our team of dedicated and proficient employees. We cannot say enough about these individuals. We will continue to focus on aggressively moving toward better systems, better processes, and better trained employees. The Board of County Commissioners and each employee will continue to prioritize the appropriation of public funds to effectively serve the citizens of Garrett County.

The Board of County Commissioners has established mutual goals of innovation, growth through knowledge management, open communication, and a commitment to continually improve the quality of our obligations.

Dear Commissioners:

It is my opinion that the passage of the Fiscal Year 1999 Operating and Capital Budget will continue this Board of County Commissioner's record of accomplishment by meeting the requirements of Garrett County residents without an increase in property tax revenue. At your direction, Garrett County Government has aggressively automated various departments, improved responsiveness to the public, and increased proficiency. The positive changes that have taken place will continue to grow with the approval of this budget.

I would like to express my direct appreciation to Wendy Yoder, Finance Supervisor, and Scott Weeks, Staff Accountant, for their many hours of concentration in preparing this budget. Prior year actual expenditures were evaluated along with statistical estimation in calculating anticipated revenue. The Finance Office produces year to date revenue and expenditure reports on a monthly basis that are distributed to each department. As a result of uncompromising fiscal discipline, our financial position is again solvent. As impressive as the past two fiscal years have been, we must not rely on past efforts to ensure a continuation of our progress.

The efforts of this Board of County Commissioners, the professional competencies of your department heads [John Nelson, Lee Thorne, Rodney Glotfelty, Jim Hinebaugh, and Gary Mullich], the expertise of other component agency managers, and the dedication and hard work of all our employees have made this budget achievable.

I am looking forward to accomplishing the many goals that we have set for Fiscal Year 1999.

Respectfully,
R. Lamont Pagenhardt

COVER STORY

Linkletter finds kids still say darndest things

Art Linkletter

Bill Cosby may be the current host of the CBS Friday hit Kids Say the Darndest Things, but Art Linkletter first made that discovery more than half a century ago after recording a chat with his then-little son, Jack.

In the late 1930s, Linkletter, at the time the host of a big band radio program, played a recording of a conversation with Jack for his listeners. The switchboard lit up with calls.

As the 85-year-old TV personality remembers it, "I told my wife, 'Honey, I'm the star and you're the producer.' Four kids later, we turned to the public school system."

The schools Linkletter refers to were the source of the children who appeared on Art Linkletter's House Party, the CBS hit that aired from 1952 to 1969.

"I wouldn't ask the teachers for their best or their smartest students," Linkletter says with a chuckle. "I would tell them to give me the student from whom they would love a few blessed hours of relief."

Even the chattiest kids could be intimidated by the lights, cameras and audience, Linkletter explains. "And a kid who is kind of shy would be under the chair entirely. So we went with the children who almost couldn't shut up."

Linkletter's show would send a stretch limousine to pick up the children and bring them to the studio.

En route, a school chaperon would eavesdrop on the conversation and try to scribble notes for Linkletter, such as, "Billy recently got a new dog."

Even so, the kids were unpredictable on camera.

"Sometimes I'd ask that kid, 'So, any new animals in your life?' and he'd look blank and go, 'No.' Either he forgot or didn't want to talk about it or he had just made the story up in the car," Linkletter recalls.

One thing he learned very quickly was never to ask a child a question that could be answered with a simple yes or no, because usually that's all you would get, Linkletter says.

"It was better to ask questions like 'What do you think about this?' or 'What kind of animal would you like to be, and why?' "

At a time when adults weren't allowed to say 'pregnant" on TV, Linkletter explains, the usually rigid network censors were more lenient with children.

"I asked one little boy what he had done over the summer, and he said he had been in the hospital," Linkletter recalls. "I said, 'I'm sorry. What was wrong?' The little boy replied, 'Oh, I got circumcised.' "

Linkletter says today's children, starting at about age 8, are more sophisticated than earlier generations, but youngsters of 5 and 6 retain the simple perspective they've always had.

"Their world is their family, and they have the most wonderful way of expressing themselves," he says. "A little boy once asked me how old I was. I told him, and he asked, 'How high do you want to go?' "

"That's what I mean," the octogenarian concludes. "And they say things like that all the time."

TV PIPELINE

Cartman, Kyle and Stan

Q: In the theme song to South Park, what does Kenny sing? He tends to mumble. –Randy Wilde, San Francisco.

A: Kenny's mumblings are the subject of much fan conjecture. If you check the South Park Information Center Website (the address is www.beefcake.com), which Park creators Trey Parker and Matt Stone often visit, you'll find some pretty persuasive guesses about what Kenny says.

Unfortunately, they're all unprintable here.

Q: What was the name of the TV show about oil people that starred Richard Egan and Anne Seymour? –Angela F., Deland, Fla.

A: You're thinking of Empire, a Western drama that ran on NBC during the 1962-63 season. The show was canceled after that season, but Egan and his character, Jim Redigo, returned the following fall in a half-hour show called Redigo. It lasted only 13 episodes.

Q: Are Charles Perez and Michele Dabney-Perez of American Journal related? –L. Alvestad, Longview, Wash.

A: They're brother and sister.

Q: A good friend of mine insists that Cher was the actress who gave the gushing Oscar speech that went, "You like me! You really like me!" Please tell her it was Sally Field. –Kim Thore-Watts, Charlotte, N.C.

A: When Field accepted her second Oscar in 1984 for Places in the Heart, she made the Oscar speech that has haunted her ever since.

"This means so much more to me this time – I don't know why," Field said. "I think the first time I hardly felt it because it was all too new. I haven't had an orthodox career, and I wanted more than anything to have your respect.

"The first time I didn't feel it, but this time I feel it, and I can't deny the fact you like me. Right now, you LIKE me!"

Q: Who was the actress who played Todd's mother recently on Suddenly Susan? I say she used to be on L.A. Law, but someone else says she played Georgette on The Mary Tyler Moore Show. –Linda in Kamloops, B.C.

A: That was former L.A. Law regular Susan Ruttan on Susan.

Q: Who did the voice of the robot on the old Lost in Space series? –Mike Franz, Erie, Pa.

A: That was Bob May, who repeated his voice role in the recent Lost in Space feature film.

Q: Please settle an argument: Are Donald and Kiefer Sutherland really father and son? –Anne via e-mail.

A: Yes.

TRIVIA

Elvis Presley and Buddy Holly both flunked their auditions for appearances on Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scouts.

TRIVIA

Brad Garrett of Everybody Loves Raymond once worked as a stand-up comic and a clown with Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus.

TRIVIA

William Conrad was narrator for The Bullwinkle Show and The Fugitive before starring in the series Cannon and Jake and the Fatman.

TRIVIA

Before the introduction of single-negative Technicolor in 1942, all full-color films were made with three negatives exposed simultaneously.

Gasoline Prices Remain Lower

As Maryland residents hit the road for peak summer vacation weeks, they'll pay 10.6 cents per gallon less for regular, self-service unleaded than last June, according to AAA Mid-Atlantic. Although prices have been up since the summer season began, this June's average of $1.085 per gallon is a break from the $1.204 that travelers paid last June. Prices are just slightly lower than the $1.089 motorists were paying a month ago. This is the lowest pre-July 4th price since 1990.

Lower prices may be attributed to the Asian financial crisis and last winter's warmer than usual weather, which lowered the demand for oil. Crude oil prices have fallen 43 percent in the last eight months.

Q. I've been buying vintage clothing. Some of the men's trousers I've bought have button flies and are cut to fit tight, while others with the button flies are very baggy. Can they be dated from this information?

A. Men's trousers were made with button flies until the early 1930s, when zippers began to be used.

Between 1920 and 1929, the cut of men's trousers went from snug to baggy. Oxford University students are credited with starting the trend toward baggy pants, which sometimes are called "Oxford bags."

Other dating clues for trousers: Cuffs were added at the turn of the century. Front creases were worn after World War I. Wool flannel was popular during the 1920s.

Q. A metal label on the back of my Oriental-type chair says, "From Studios of David Zork, Chicago." Can you date the chair?

A. David Zork worked as a salesman and general manager for several Chicago-area furniture companies before he founded his own company in 1914. The Zork Manufacturing Co. made reproductions of antique furniture for sale in his shop and for interior decorators. Zork stayed in business until he died in 1957.

BAY LEAVES – This is for Linda P. of New York, N.Y.:

While she's sealing her food from roaches, that's fine. But those nasty bugs crawl on dishes and silverware.

Get rid of roaches forever. Put bay leaves in every drawer or cabinet in your home or apartment. I put them behind the refrigerator and stove, under the sinks, everywhere. In other words, I use these bay leaves all over the house and have used them for many years – NO ROACHES. Get your neighbors in their apartments to use them as well. Mabel S., Cressville, Tenn.

POTPOURRI OF TIPS – I freeze lemon juice in plastic medicine bottles and run them under hot water to thaw when needed.

I put bleach in used wine vinegar squeeze bottles. I have it on my counter to place in water to freshen dish cloths.

I cut up cereal boxes to a handy size for my bag and pocket. I never lose them and they're great for my grocery list.

When I make a pot of beans, I put them into meal-size plastic bags and freeze. Just drop them into hot water to heat. Ellie M., Canada

PHOTO FINISH – I have finally decided to tackle all the photos and negatives and thought I would pass along my evolving file system.

The 8-by-10s and 5-by-7s go into those great clear sleeves from the office-supply store and then into three-ring binders. The clear plastic sheets used for sports trading cards also go into the binder with chronological wallet-size pictures of the kids and grandchildren.

JUDY GARLAND: FOREVER FRAGILE, FOREVER FABULOUS

Born Frances Gumm, Judy Garland was barely two when, directed by her mother, she appeared on stage with her older sisters. As recounted in July's Biography magazine, fellow vaudevillian George Jessel eventually rechristened them The Garland Sisters. Frances changed her name to Judy.

At 12, Garland was summoned to MGM. Studio boss Louis B. Mayer ordered, "Make her slim down," telling the commissary to give her nothing but chicken soup. When that didn't work, a studio doctor prescribed diet pills. When she couldn't sleep, he gave her sedatives. By 15, Garland was on the way to becoming an addict.

Between 1938 and 1948, Garland made 25 films, including the Andy Hardy series with Mickey Rooney and "The Wizard of Oz," which set box office records for its time. Her portrayal of Dorothy earned her an Academy Award for "Best Juvenile Actor," the only Oscar she ever received.

During that decade, Garland became increasingly dependent on pills and booze. Her marriages to composer Danny Rose and director Vincente Minnelli fizzled. At 27, she checked into a psychiatric hospital. Subsequently, MGM terminated her contract, and Garland returned to the stage where she met third husband Sid Luft. Audiences and critics loved her, hailing her the performer of the century. Luft engineered the production of "A Star Is Born," now seen as among Garland's best works. But the disastrous box office reception at the time ended her Hollywood career.

The last 10 years were a blur of alcohol and pills. She divorced Luft, married again, divorced, and married Mickey Deans, a waiter who sold her drugs. Just three months later, Deans found her dead at 47 of an accidental overdose. As Vincent Canby wrote, "The greatest shock about her death was that there was no shock. One simply wondered how she survived for so long."

Hazards Of Home Fireworks Noted By Authorities

Maryland State Fire Marshal Rocco J. Gabriele and physicians from across the state are encouraging families to attend public fireworks displays in place of using fireworks at home this Fourth of July holiday. This recommendation is made as part of a national campaign sponsored in part by the American Academy of Ophthomology and the National Association of State Fire Marshals.

"Illegal fireworks are dangerous and can lead to tragic consequences, which will mar an otherwise wonderful holiday," said Gabriele, who suggests that Marylanders enjoy the fireworks at one of the more than 200 licensed and supervised displays. He added that gold-labeled sparklers and the ground fireworks known as "snap-n-pops," "black cobra snakes," and "party poppers" are allowed to be used and possessed in Maryland without a license.

The fire marshal went on to caution citizens against using a variety of illegal fireworks which may be brought into Maryland from Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia, Ohio, or other states. Maryland law prohibits the shipping or transportation of fireworks into the state if the fireworks are to be possessed, used, sold, or distributed by Maryland citizens. "Illegal fireworks found in Maryland will be subject to seizure by deputy state fire marshals or other law enforcement authorities," emphasized Gabriele.

Persons found possessing illegal fireworks with the intent to use them run the risk of criminal charges and confiscation of the fireworks. Fines for possession of illegal fireworks total $250 and those found selling or distributing illegal fireworks may be fined $1,000.

Gabriele urges Marylanders to avoid using what are referred to as common "class C" fireworks, which often result in severe burns, eye injuries, and amputations. Estimates put the death toll from illegal fireworks accidents at as many as 7,000 fatalities each year.

For further information regarding fireworks safety, interested persons may contact the Office of the State Fire Marshal at 1-800-525-3124 or consult the National Association of State Fire Marshals website at www.firmarshals.org. To report illegal fireworks sales or activity in Garrett County, contact either the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, the Maryland State Police, the Natural Resources Police, or the Oakland City Police, as appropriate.

Mountain Fresh Tailgate Market To Open 7/11

One of the first "grower to consumer" farmers' markets in the state, the Mt. Fresh Tailgate Market established in 1988 by Mt Fresh Producers, will open for the season on Saturday, July 11, at 10 a.m. at the Mt. Fresh pavilion in the Oakland town parking lot.

Early summer produce such as squash, green beans, lettuce, onions, kohlrabi, cucumbers, kale, and peas will be available. Consumers are invited to bring their own basket and fill it up with locally grown fruits, vegetables, baked goods, and crafts.

The Mt. Fresh Tailgate Market will be open on Wednesdays and Saturdays at 10 a.m. throughout the summer.

There are more opportunities than ever across the state this season for consumers to share in the fresh flavor and bounty of the state's fruits and vegetables, as a record 66 community farmers' markets will be operating throughout Maryland during 1998.

This is three more markets than operated in 1997, according to Dr. Henry A. Virts, Maryland secretary of agriculture.

New markets will be opening in the counties of Anne Arundel, Carroll, Harford, Prince George's, Queen Anne's, and Talbot.

That makes a total of seven new markets. Two markets in the Columbia section of Howard County combined at one location and a market in Federalsburg, Caroline County, will not operate. Two markets in Montgomery County are dropping out.

The new market at Queenstown is notable in that it brings a farmers' market to Queen Anne's County for the first time in recent years. Only two of Maryland's 23 counties (Cecil and Somerset) are not yet home to a farmers' market.

Helping this year's new markets develop, as well as helping the majority of the 63 continuing markets, has been the goal of the Maryland Department of Agriculture's farmers' market program, which began across the state in 1990 and has played an active role in about 40 of the state's markets using the already established Mt. Fresh Producers Tailgate Market as a model. Mt. Fresh Producers includes growers in Garrett and Allegany counties in Maryland and Preston and Tucker counties in West Virginia, with the number of market locations growing over the years from just the Oakland tailgate market, to markets in downtown Cumberland, Country Club Mall in LaVale, and Frostburg.

Most Maryland farmers' markets operate on the "producer's only" rule, meaning that vendors are permitted to sell only what they produce on their farms or in their homes.

Those interested in joining Mt. Fresh Producers may contact Cathy Sanders at the Garrett County Extension Office by calling 301-334-6960.

Ethanol Vehicle Challenge Teams Arrive In D.C.

On June 1 the Maryland Grain Producers Association (MGPA) hosted a press event to welcome the Ethanol Vehicle Challenge teams from 14 competing universities and colleges nationwide. The challenge—sponsored by the General Motors, U.S. Department of Energy (DOE), and Natural Resources Canada—hopes to spur automotive technology toward clean, renewable fuel.

The goals of the challenge are three-fold, according to Bob Larsen of Argonne National Laboratory and project coordinator for the event. "We're trying to attack technology barriers that prevent dedicated ethanol vehicles from competing with conventional automotive technologies. We're training automotive engineers that will be the future of this industry. Technology is worthless without those who know how to use it. And finally, we're raising visibility of ethanol as a clean alternative fuel."

The state of Maryland has operated E85 (85% ethanol, 15% gasoline) flexible fueled vehicles (FFVs) since last year. FFVs can operate on any combination of ethanol up to 85% or gasoline. The E85 FFVs were purchased by federal and state agencies to comply with the Energy Policy Act of 1992 (EPACT). Charles "Jamie" Jamison, on behalf of the MGPA, indicated that the association is committed to placing refueling infrastructure where adequate vehicles are stationed. "We need the cooperation of the state to place sufficient vehicles into a refueling area to justify Maryland's first E85 station. We hope to open an E85 station in the state by the end of the year."

Maryland agriculture has benefited from the national fuel ethanol program since its inception in the early '70s, according to Pat McMillan, director of intergovernmental relations for the Maryland Department of Agriculture. "Corn sold to produce ethanol in the Midwest raises the price of corn sold in Maryland by $0.45 per bushel. On average, we sell 45 million bushels of corn per year. This equates to about $20 million annually for the state," said McMillan. He also thanked the students for contributing technology to help America meet its energy goals.

The competition, which began at the General Motors Proving Grounds in Milford, Mich., ended as the motorcade arrived at the nation's capitol for the DOE Clean Cities Conference. During an awards banquet held in the Cannon House Office Building on Capitol Hill, the following awards were presented: 1st place - Wayne State University, Michigan; 2nd place - University of Waterloo, Ontario, Canada; 3rd plac - University of Illinois, Chicago; 4th place - University of California, Riverside; 5th place - Cedarville College, Ohio; and 6th place - Illinois Institute of Technology.

Mountain Fresh Needs Vegetable & Fruit Producers!

The Mountain Fresh Producers Association has a very successful outdoor market at the Mt. Fresh Pavilion in Oakland. Every Wednesday and Saturday morning people crowd the building to purchase fresh home-grown vegetables, fruits, flowers, and baked goods. The major problem is that all the producers are generally sold out within the first hour. The association needs more producers to sell at the market. It is not necessary to be a large grower to sell your products. If you would like more information, please call my office at 301-334-6960. The market will be opening Saturday, July 11, and continue every Saturday and Wednesday through October.

"What's Those Bugs with Pincers on Their Tail?"

Earwigs are one of the most disliked insects. The name earwig originated from the story that they would crawl into a person's ear while they were sleeping. There is a large population in our area and can be found outside and inside the home. Earwigs are reddish-brown with antennae and a noticeable set of pincers which protrude from the abdomen. Earwigs wait for darkness to begin their search for food and shelter. They enjoy dark, moist areas and feed on decaying plant and animal matter.

Normally, I do not recommend chemical control of earwigs. Earwig traps are easy to construct and are very economical. Take a rolled up newspaper, a piece of corrugated cardboard, or a paper towel tube filled with straw and seal it on one end. Place it in an area where earwigs have been observed. When the earwigs crawl inside, it is next to impossible for them to escape. A bit of honey or peanut butter can be used to attract earwigs to these traps, but it is not necessary. Another trapping method is to place a shallow dish or can in a hole so that the top of it is at ground level. If a tin can is used, an empty tuna or sardine can with oil remaining on the inside is best. In the morning, check the traps and shake all captured earwigs into a bucket of soapy water. To limit the number of earwigs which find a way into the household, take time to shake and look at objects before bringing them inside, seal cracks, and check window openings and doors. Also check damp hiding places such as windows, flooring and under sinks.

Carroll Co. Road Officials Impressed By Soy-Based Dust Suppressant

Dustkill, a soybean-based dust suppressant, could be a boon to the environment and save road departments both money and time. So says Jack Coleman, a Pennsylvania dairy and grain farmer who is the local distributor for the product, one of scores of "new uses" for the widely grown agricultural commodity.

At a recent demonstration of Dustkill, hosted and funded by the Maryland Soybean Board, Benton Watson, chief of the Bureau of Roads Operations for Carroll County, agreed as Coleman began application of the product on an 1,800-foot stretch of Motter Road in the northern section of the county.

Motter Road was chosen because it gets a lot of heavy traffic not only from farm equipment but from a logging business located on the road.

"It's also used heavily as a detour road when traffic must be re-routed from the main highway, Rt. 97, during accidents, which is quite frequently," Watson said.

Also, within a short distance, Motter Road offers a section in heavy shade and another that receives direct sunlight all day.

Coleman has been a distributor for Dustkill for four years. This was the first application to roads in Maryland. Similar demonstrations have been funded by soybean checkoff boards in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

"They have been using Dustkill on some roads in Indiana for some time," Coleman said, "and have found it to be non-corrosive, easy to clean up, environmentally safe, and longer lasting than the petroleum-based products."

In fact, in Tipton County, Ind., Dustkill-applied roads were found to be in excellent condition after nine months of beating sun, drenching rain, and one of the worst winters the area has ever experienced, according to the Indiana Soybean Board.

Carroll County has been using calcium chloride (salt) on its 90 miles of gravel roads for more than 25 years, Watson said, adding that he feels it will probably be easy to get the county to make the switch to Dustkill if the demonstration lives up to expectations.

Watson explained that calcium chloride does not "soak in" if the roadway has not been freshly graded. On the other hand, Dustkill adheres to the road, even if it has not been recently graded, and, unlike calcium chloride, there is little, if any, runoff.

"And what does run off is environmentally safe," Coleman added.

Because Dustkill stabilizes in the roadway after it has been applied once or twice, "there is no need for further application for two or three years," Coleman said. This is in contrast to the need for continued applications and gradings during the year, required by calcium chloride.

Dustkill acts as a bonding agent, keeping the road material in place. Rain doesn't affect the product. It doesn't emulsify with water but dries the surface of the road and water runs right off.

Dustkill is not only friendly to the environment, Coleman continued, but it's friendly to cars and other equipment that use the roads and can be washed off with soap and water. It also dries in just hours after application.

Watson noted that a slightly higher initial expense for Dustkill would be more than made up in savings in extra labor and applications.

The Motter Road Dustkill demonstration was funded with part of a grant of $5,200 from the Maryland Soybean Board. A second Maryland demonstration is planned.

Bob Bounds, who is chairman of the Maryland Soybean Board and was present at the demonstration, said, "There is tremendous potential in the entire group of agriculturally based products including Dustkill, corn-based ethanol, soybean-based biodiesel, and soy-based oil-spill cleanup product. They could prove extremely valuable in saving our environment.

"There are so many products being used whose impact on the environment is unknown and might be unknown for years.

"These products made from soybeans and corn are from renewable resources and they are biodegradable. They are made from crops grown right here by Maryland farmers. By using them we are not only helping to save the environment but to stimulate the economy and especially the agricultural economy," Bounds added.

The Motter Road demonstration may be viewed. It is located northwest of Westminster, off Rt. 97 between Union Mills and Littlestown.

New Fibers Offer Economic Options To Nation's Farms

by David Morris

Reprinted with permission from Co-Op America Quarterly, Summer 1998.

Urban-based environmentalists want to wean us from our habit of cutting down old trees. Rural-based family farmers want new sources of income.

It is a match made in heaven. Urban consumers and rural producers, working together for a common purpose: to establish a new materials foundation for the next economy—fibers from plants that can be grown annually. These annual fibers have minimal environmental impact, create jobs, and can save family farms.

Americans use more than 300 million tons of wood fibers each year for lumber or paper. By a happy coincidence, the nation also boasts over 300 million tons of economically and environmentally recoverable agricultural residues like rice, wheat, and grass straw and corn and soybean stalks, according to data gathered by the Institute for Local Self-Reliance (ILSR).

The nation also has more than 30 million acres of idle agriculture land that could generate 100-200 million tons of high-grade fiber from new crops like kenaf, hemp, and switchgrass.

In brief, the nation has sufficient quantities of annual fibers to meet our lumber and paper needs. These annual fibers that mature in a few months can significantly reduce our need to harvest trees that are many decades old.

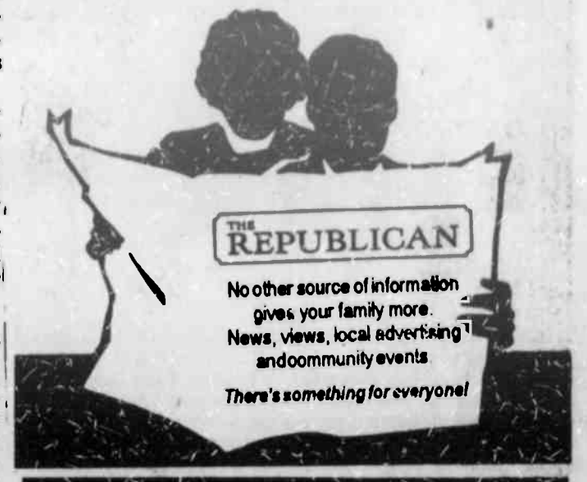
A new kind of fiber industry is emerging. According to a recent ILSR report, in 1994 some 110,000 tons of construction products and paper were made from non-tree fibers. The vast majority of the fibers came from recycled paper; less than 10,000 tons came from crops. By the year 2000, as much as 700,000 tons of construction products in North America could be made from annual fibers.

ILSR's new newsletter, The Carbohydrate Economy, reports on the emergence of this alternative fiber economy. Among some of its recent stories:

- A dozen manufacturing plants that make construction boards from formerly discarded wheat straw are springing up in Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba, the largest being a $100 million plant in Elie, Manitoba, Canada.
- One company is planning to make high quality paper from the stalks of corn in Nebraska. Another is about to break ground on a large kenaf-based newsprint company in south Texas.
- Two years ago American farmers planted only 4,000 acres of kenaf. This year acreage has grown to 18,000.
- Last year industrial hemp was still banned in Canada, as it has been for 60 years. This year the government lifted its prohibition, and Canadian farmers may plant as much as 10,000 acres.

Weyerhauser, International Paper, and other paper companies are experimenting with treeless fibers.

- Ford, BMW, and other car companies are beginning to use hemp, flax, and kenaf fibers in their car bodies.



If we do shift from a fiber economy based on cutting down 30- to 500-year-old trees to one based on harvesting 6-month-old crops, we may also shift from a fiber industry dominated by multinational corporations to one dominated by local farmer-owned crops. Let me explain.

Agricultural crops are bulky and hard to transport. Thus, they tend to be processed near where they are grown. Agricultural crop-based manufacturing facilities may be smaller than their tree-based counterparts. They may lend themselves well to being owned by the very group that grows the raw material. A key organizational form for doing this is the cooperative.

For more than 100 years, farmers have formed cooperatives in order to increase the price they receive for their crops or to lower the cost of their seed or fertilizer. Recently farmers have begun to organize a new type of cooperative: cooperatively owned factories. In the last eight years more than 40 cooperatively owned manufacturing enterprises have started in the upper midwest alone, with a combined investment of more than $3 billion, more than a third of it invested by the farmer-owners themselves. These cooperative factories can provide the organizational foundation for the next fiber economy.

By combining environmental and economic goals, we can successfully marry the desires of urban consumers and the needs of rural producers. The campaign for tree-free paper can, and should, become not only a campaign to save old growth forests but a campaign to reinvigorate rural communities, to promote a more rooted economy, both literally and figuratively.

David Morris is director of the Institute for Local Self-Reliance in Washington, D.C. To order The Carbohydrate Economy newsletter, contact 1313 5th Street, SE, Minneapolis, MN 55414.

NOTICE TO PUBLIC OF FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT AND NOTICE OF INTENT TO REQUEST RELEASE OF FUNDS TOWN OF DEER PARK

The purpose of this Notice is to identify two separate but related actions to be taken by the town of Deer Park.

On or about July 13, 1996, the above named town will request that the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development release funds under the Small Cities Community Development Block Grant Program to be used for the following project:

Project Title: Deer Park Sewer Connection Program

Purpose of Project: To connect income eligible residents to the recently installed sewage system.

Finding of No Significant Impact

Notice is hereby given that the above named municipality has prepared an Environmental Review Record on the project described in this Notice and has determined that said project will have no significant effect on the quality of the human environment. No further environmental review of said project is proposed prior to requesting Release of Funds.

The Finding of No Significant Impact is based on the following:

The project involves only the connecting of individual house laterals to the recently installed septic tanks. Environmental disturbances are minimal in nature in that no streams will be directly impacted by the installation, and by virtue of the fact that the average depth of excavation will be approximately two feet. The Contractor will be required to return the disturbed area to a condition equal to or better than that which existed prior to excavation, including adequate reseeding and mulching.

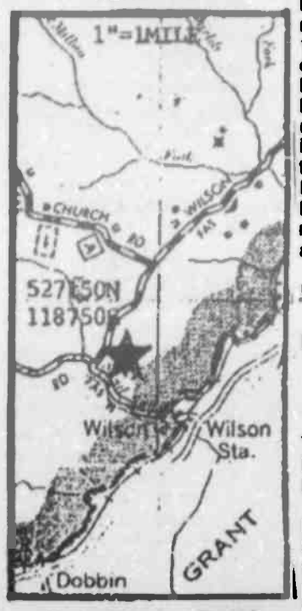
The Environmental Review Record which documents the Environmental Review of this project is available for public examination at the town office during normal business hours.

Public Comments on Finding

All interested agencies, groups and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments respecting the environmental impacts of the described project to the offices of the town and to the Department of Housing and Community Development. All such comments must be received no later than July 13, 1998. All comments will be considered and the town will not request the release of funds nor take any action on the project prior to this date.

REQUEST FOR RELEASE OF FUNDS

The town will undertake the project described above with Small Cities Community Development Block Grant Funds. This Notice also certifies that Donald Dawson, serving in the official capacity of Mayor, consents to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal Courts if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to environmental reviews decision making and action; and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval, the town may use the Small Cities Community Development Block Grant Funds and the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development will have satisfied its responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.



Objections to Release of Funds

Objections to the release of funds will be accepted by the Department of Housing and Community Development only if it is on one of the following bases:

a) that the certification was not in fact executed by the Certifying Officer; or (b) that the town Environmental Review Record for the project indicated omission of a required decision finding or step applicable to the program in the Environmental Review Process; (c) no opportunity was given to the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation or its Executive Director to review the effect of the project on a property listed on the National Register of Historic Places, or found to be eligible for such listing by the Secretary of the Interior, in accordance with 36 CFR Part 800(d) Objections by a Federal Agency. All interested agencies, groups, and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments to the Town of Deer Park and to the SCCDBG Program Manager, MD Department of Housing and Community Development, 100 Community Place, Crownsville, MD 21032-2023. All such comments must be received no later than July 29, 1998.

WET YEAR MAKING "FIRST CUTTIN" TOUGH — Local farmers are hoping and praying for some full days of warm sunshine, as many work this week to bring in the "first cuttin'" of hay. By all reports, this season's wet weather has made the annual task difficult. If rain falls on cut hay, the farmer almost always takes a loss, being forced to sell the stuff as mulch. However, the forecast for the next several days is more favorable for the hard-working harvesters, as sunshine and clear skies are predicted. Fields will surely be alive with activity, as all will heed the familiar advice: "Make hay while the sun shines."

Oakland's Global Hardwoods Grows After Going Global

Global Hardwoods Inc., a family-owned lumber company based in Oakland, has been rapidly increasing sales over the past three years by exporting to new overseas markets. The company's fiscal growth has translated into a number of new jobs it has provided for residents of the Garrett County region, as 65 new employees have been hired by Global Hardwoods since it began reaching out to Europe, the Far East, and other foreign markets.

This new marketing strategy was implemented with the assistance of a $1.3 million working capital line of credit guaranteed by the Export-Import Bank of the United States. Global Hardwoods president Reginald A. Messenger cited the 1996 loan as crucial to the company's increase in total annual sales volume from $10 million three years ago to over $30 million today.

After nearly 50 years in business, Messenger explained "we went to the First National Bank of Maryland looking for an expansion of credit for production and working capital to start up an export company.

"First National suggested working through Ex-Im Bank," Messenger continued. "Our affiliate lumber manufacturing company, Wood Products Inc., [which produces products sold by Global Hardwoods] went from 65 employees three years ago to 130 employees now. Two-thirds of that increase is due to our foreign sales. Ex-Im Bank financing allows us to open our eyes to the world and to reach out to new markets."

Messenger said that the

Students who have left high school prior to graduation will have the opportunity to return to the classroom to acquire the skills that could lead to successful completion of the high school career without further interruption. The opportunity will be provided by a program called "Back-To-School School" (BSS) to be offered at Northern and Southern high schools August 3-5, from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. each day.

The student will be expected to complete all three days of BSS," Massi emphasized.

Successful completion of the BSS is required for any

Chestnut Ridge Store Fined For Alcohol Sales

The Garrett County Liquor Control Board levied the maximum fine allowable by law and imposed a 30-day liquor license suspension on the owners of Grantsville's Chestnut Ridge Gas and Liquors this week. The action comes as a result of a sting by the Maryland State Police, who sent underage police cadets into several liquor stores around the county to identify which stores might be selling alcohol to persons under the age of 21.

The Chestnut Ridge store had allegedly sold alcohol to the underage cadets on three separate occasions. The $1,000 fine and month-long suspension was approved by a 2-1 vote of the Liquor Control Board, which could have imposed a one-year liquor license suspension.

Chestnut Ridge owners Alan and Laurie Turner reportedly told the board that in the wake of the sting they were adopting more restrictive sales policies for their employees, including the installation of additional surveillance cameras, programming the cash registers to display reminder messages, posting additional warning signs, and instituting a blanket carding policy for unfamiliar customers who appear to be "under retirement age."

Accident Man Pleads Guilty To Child Abuse

An Accident man entered guilty pleas in Garrett County Circuit Court last week to the charges of child abuse and assault. Steven A. Elliott, 33, was arrested in March by the Maryland State Police after a child reported to authorities that he had assaulted her.

Judge James Sherbin accepted Elliott's pleas and revoked his bail. He sent the defendant to the Garrett County Jail, where he will remain until a presentence investigation is completed by the Division of Parole and Probation. According to a report from the state's attorney's office, Elliott faces up to 35 years in prison for his offenses.

The defendant is accused of sexually molesting a young girl on more than one occasion at her residence, according to the report.

In another circuit court case, an Oakland man was found not guilty of second degree assault. James M. Reckart, 44, was arrested in March by deputies of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office after he allegedly assaulted a woman during a domestic dispute. The not-guilty verdict came about because the victim would not testify against Reckart, according to the state's attorney.

The incident took place at the residence shared by the defendant and the victim, and since the time of the assault, the woman has married the defendant, according to the report. She apparently appeared in circuit court for her husband's trial and asserted her spousal privilege (did not testify).

Lisa Thayer Welch, state's attorney, stated that this is the sort of situation being addressed by the recent adoption of "zero tolerance" policies, and by the recent training of law enforcement officials in the use of a domestic violence supplemental reporting form, among other items. The idea is to make as many cases "prosecutable" as possible, Welch said.

"Not every case will be prosecutable without the victim, but we expect to greatly increase that possibility now that all officers will be using the new forms and the investigators in my office will be looking for evidence other than testimony of the victim to use in court," she said.

In a third circuit court case last week, an Oakland man was sentenced to several years in jail for his connection to a rash of burglaries last fall. Kevin A. Lipscomb, 19, will serve two 18-month prison terms and will be on three years of supervised probation after his release.

Lipscomb pleaded guilty in an April hearing to four

LANG AND SPRENGER BOOST GLAF — The Garrett Lakes Arts Festival has been helped greatly by two local individuals, husband and wife Jane Lang and Paul Sprenger of Deep Creek Lake. The two are season sponsors of GLAF, meaning they have donated at least $5,000 to the non-profit performing arts organization. Two specific programs funded by the couple are the Mountain Lakes Young Writers' and Artists' Workshops. These week-long events take place at Fantasy Valley, near McHenry. The young participants, 25 in each workshop, are given intense, individual instruction from accomplished persons in the writing or art fields. The artists' workshop is sponsored by the Jane Lang and Paul Sprenger Family Foundation, and the writers' event is sponsored by the Eugene M. Lang Foundation. (Jane Lang is the daughter of Eugene.) The workshops are filled to capacity and are set to begin next week. Pictured left to right are Fred Stample, GLAF executive director, and Lang and Sprenger.

Fiddlers, Banjo Contest Slated In Friendsville

The 34th Annual Fiddlers and Banjo Contest will be held Saturday, July 18, at the town park in Friendsville.

"Folks will enjoy a foot stompin' good time along the banks of the Youghiogheny in what the Native Americans used to call 'the hunters bowl,' so lush was the vegetation and plentiful the wildlife where the mountains rise up to form a valley, or 'bowl,'" said Carol Calhoun, an organizer of the event.

Sponsored since 1965 as a major fund-raising event by the Friendsville Rotary and Lions clubs, the contests help these clubs better serve their community and help those in need, Calhoun said. The contests are open to all amateur fiddlers and banjo players.

The top prize for Middle (20-59 years) and Senior (60 plus) is $200. The top teen prize is $100, and all children (up to 12 years) receive $10 just for entering. The top three winners receive trophies.

The day will begin at 3 p.m. with pre-show entertainment provided by the Acoustic Shadows of the Blue & Gray who perform traditional music, focusing primarily on the era of the Civil War. A spokesperson explained that an "acoustic shadow" is a phenomenon whereby sound such as the "thunder" of artillery during a battle can be clearly heard far in the distance and yet be unheard by observers closer to the source. The members of the Blue & Gray are also re-enactors in the ranks of the 11th Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry Co. 1, and the band performs in full military dress from the era of the Civil War.

Square dancers and cloggers will also be performing at this time. The contest begins at 7 p.m.

Refreshments will be available, and spectators are encouraged to bring lawn chairs. Parking is free. Organizers ask that guests do not bring alcohol, drugs, or pets inside the park. Admission will be $5 for adults and $2 for children under 12.

For more information, persons may call Calhoun at 800-446-7554. Information on this and other events can also be obtained from the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, 200 South Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550; telephone 301-334-1948; E-mail info@garrettchamber.com.

D'Amore Duo To Be Featured At Penn Alps

The D'Amore Duo, combining the virtuosity of guitarist William Feasley and oboist Vladimir Lande, will perform in the Great Hall of Penn Alps, Grantsville, this Saturday, July 11, at 7:30 p.m. as part of the Music at Penn Alps concert series.

The chamber music created by the duo highlights the contrasting instruments and musical heritage of the two performers.

Feasley, originally from Oregon, was the first guitarist to receive the Peabody Conservatory's Artist Diploma. Selected to play for Andres Segovia at the master's historic last class, he was later featured on the CBS special "Eulogy of Segovia."

Lande, born in Leningrad, graduated from the Leningrad Conservatory and served as principal oboist with the Leningrad Philharmonic Orchestra. He has won many prizes, performed throughout Europe, and has recorded with many orchestras and groups.

At present, Lande performs with the Concert Artists of Baltimore and the Baltimore Opera Orchestra and is on the faculties of St. Mary's College and Washington Conservatory.

The duo has performed recently in London at Cathedral of St. Martin in the Fields and toured New Zealand, Australia, and the Caribbean. The two have also released their first compact disc Simplicity, based on a piece written for them by actor/composer Michael Moriarty.

The program at Penn Alps by Feasley and Lande will include Moriarty's Simplicity, George Gershwin's Three Pieces, Manuel de Falla's The Miller's Wife's Dance, Two Rags by William Bolcomb and Harry Lincoln, and Napoleone Coste's Le Montagnard, Opus 34. The evening's concert is sponsored by Hobby House Press.

Survey Gauges Perception Of Abuse Problem

A survey was taken recently to learn how area residents assess the problem of child abuse in Garrett County.

The Garrett County Health Department has conducted an automated telephone survey as part of the Local Management Board's Personal Safety Initiative.

A random list of telephone numbers was entered into the automatic dialer database. Out of 159 households contacted, 87 adults completed the 38-item questionnaire.

"There are some notable differences in the community's ranking of child abuse as a problem and the responses of seven Child Protective Service workers at the Department of Social Services, who also answered the first set of survey questions," said a spokesperson for the Personal Safety Initiative.

Community respondents were asked to rank the issues of domestic violence, the under-reporting of child abuse, and child neglect as the "biggest" problems on a scale of 1 to 5.

One hundred percent of the Child Protective Service workers rated domestic violence and child neglect as big problems in Garrett County, Of community respondents, ouly 52% rated domestic violence as a big problem and 40% rated child neglect as a big problem.

There was general agreement between the two groups on the topic of physical child abuse, with 34% of community respondents and 28% of CPS workers rating physical child abuse as a big problem in the county.

"Again, there was a difference in perceptions on the topic of child sexual abuse between the two groups, with 86% of the CPS workers ranking child sexual abuse as a big problem in Garrett County, and only 27% of the conunnuity respondents ranking child sexual abuse as a big problem in Garrett County," the spokesperson said.

The preliminary results of the Child Safety Survey were reviewed at a town meeting on family violence prevention held at Garrett Community College recently. Larry Bruch, Child Protective Services supervisor, was asked to explain why the conmunity ranked child sexual abuse as the least severe problem out of seven areas of concern while six out of seven CPS workers said they believe child sexual abuse is a big problem in our community.

"Bruch offered the fact that child sexual abuse investigations (as well as all CPS cases) are kept confidential, so the general public may not realize the frequency of these types of investigations in Garrett County," the spokesperson reported.

In many child sexual abuse cases, there is not enough evidence to convict an alleged perpetrator, and the public only hears about the cases at the time of a trial or a conviction. Also, when an adult is not related to a child or is not responsible for the care of a minor, cases of alleged sexual misconduct are charged as assault cases, and not as child sexual abuse cases.

The Personal Safety Initiative will address reporting protocols iu cases of suspected personal abuse and launch a series of grassroots prevention-through-education forums in the near future.

Domestic Dispute Ends In Arrest Of Both Parties

A pair of Swanton residents were arrested last night after Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to a domestic altercation at the residence the two share.

Deputies had been called to the home at 11:20 p.m. by Tonya Lynn Warnick, 23, who told them her boyfriend, James Robert Collins, 28, had struck her during the course of an argument earlier in the night. As the deputies were carrying out their on-scene investigation, Warnick reportedly maintained a loud and disorderly disposition, and had to be asked on several occasions to keep her voice down.

When Warnick was informed that Collins was going to be placed under arrest and charged with assault based on her written statement, she allegedly attempted to grab the statement out of the deputy's hands and then reportedly tried to pull Collins away from the scene as he was being handcuffed. These actions led to her arrest as well.

Collins faces charges of second-degree assault, and Warnick faces charges of failure to obey a lawful order of a police officer and obstructing and hindering a police officer in the performance of his duties. Both were released on their own recognizance.

In other sheriff's news, a Swanton man was arrested Monday night in connection with a domestic assault at his home.

Maximillian Andrew Paape Jr., 34, had allegedly assaulted his wife during an argument shortly after 10 p.m. and then reportedly fled the scene. When deputies responded after being summoned by the alleged victim, they could not locate Paape at the home or in the nearby area, and the canine unit was called in. The dog Hanno located Paape hiding in a crawl space inside the home.

Paape, who faces charges of second-degree assault, was released on his own recognizance.

Andrew Eugene Upton, 41, no fixed address, was arrested last night shortly after 10 p.m. and charged with trespassing on private property. Deputies responding to a report of a possible breaking and entering in progress at a garage on Cherry Lane Road in Friendsville located Upton there on the scene, and the owner of the property stated that Upton did not have permission to be there. Upton was later released on his own recognizance.

A complaint of a loud and disorderly group of men in an N Street apartment in Mtn. Lake Park resulted in the arrest of Joseph Ottawa Friend, 18, Swanton, for possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

Deputies arriving at the apartment building at 11 p.m. this past Wednesday night observed three disorderly men getting into a car in front of the building. Upon approaching the group the smell of burnt marijuana was reportedly noted by the deputies, who asked the trio to place their hands on the vehicle. Friend allegedly attempted to argue, and when he was patted down a pipe commonly used for smoking marijuana was found in a pocket. After his arrest he was released on his own recognizance.

A domestic dispute this past Wednesday evening resulted in the arrest of Thomas Willard Friend, 42, Oakland. He allegedly struck a female who shares a home with him, reportedly drawing blood from her nose. After being arrested and charged with second-degree assault, Friend posted a $500 bond and was released.

A burglary was reported for the second time in as many months at the Mastel-ler Coal Company site in the 15000 block of Maryland Highway. Employees arriving for work at the site on Backbone Mountain Tuesday morning discovered that nine miming lights and one breaker, with an aggregate value of $3,700, had been taken the night before.

A storm door was damaged on a house that a local real estate company has for sale in the 100 block of Mitchell Drive in Oakland. A realtor discovered the damage on Friday, but nothing appeared to have been taken from the house and it was not readily apparent that entry had actually been gained. The damage was estimated at $200.

Woman Hurt As Boat Strikes Rt. 219 Bridge Piling

A Pennsylvania woman was injured while boating on Deep Creek Lake on the night of July 4 when the boat she was riding in struck a piling of the Route 219 bridge.

Johnnie Ruth Treece, 59, Bethel Park, Pa., struck her head on the windshield of her family's 21-foot Cobalt boat that was being operated by her husband Kenneth in rainy conditions. According to the Natural Resources Police the boat's top was up, making it difficult to see clearly at the time of the 9:40 p.m. mishap.

The Deep Creek Lake Volunteer Fire Company's Boat and Rescue Squad and NRP responded immediately, and Johnnie Treece was transported by the Deep Creek VFD to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where she was treated for minor head lacerations and released.

Kenneth Treece was charged with failing to maintain a proper lookout by NRP.

Continental One, Oakland Bypass Roundtable Set

G.C./CARE will conduct a roundtable discussion about the proposed Continental One superhighway and the Oakland bypass issue on Monday, July 13, 7-9 p.m., in the Garrett Community College auditorium.

George Falter, spokesperson for the group, said the focus of the discussion will be on the Oakland bypass, which, he said, "appears to be the first step in the process of building the highway."

Representatives of the State Highway Administration will be in attendance to provide information and to answer questions, Falter said.

For more information, Falter can be contacted at 301-387-2544 or E-mailed at <gfalter@juno.com>.

LOCAL COMPANY ACCEPTS AWARD - Sincell Publishing Company Inc., which publishes The Republican newspaper, was recently honored at an awards dinner and ceremony at the Peabody Institute in Baltimore. The company was named the 1998 state winner for its support of the arts, Small Company Division, and was one of nine honorees at the ceremony, each of which received a trophy presented by Governor Parris Glendening. A video about each of the nominees preceded each of the presentations. Accepting the award from Gov. Glendening was Donald W. Sincell, pictured left, co-owner of Sincell Publishing and editor of The Republican. The local business, which was recognized for its support of the arts not only through its extensive promotion of arts events via stories and editorials in The Republican, but also for its financial support of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival and other art-related endeavors, was one of 72 small companies from around the state that were nominated for the small company award. "As Governor it was indeed my privilege to present to your company the Small Company Award at the Governor's Arts Awards at ArtSalute," stated Gov. Glendening in a letter following the ceremony. "As an avid supporter of the arts, it also was a pleasure and an honor to personally recognize the outstanding contributions your company and your family have made in support of the arts in Garrett County... Working together — artists, citizens, non-profits, businesses, foundations, and government — we can make a difference in our communities and in our state. Sincell Publishing serves as an outstanding example of how one company can make a difference."

Tolbert Notes Final Plans For Town Charrette

As plans are completed for the Friday morning Charrette in Oakland, a public forum to discuss possible uses of a commercial property on Second Street, burned in a 1994 fire. Town manager Glenn Tolbert has noted the agenda for the meeting.

Those attending are asked to gather at the Mountain Fresh Pavilion at 8 a.m. to receive some handouts and information that is being coordinated by architect Doug Devlin. Maps of the immediate area will be given out as well as information about the history of building.

From the pavilion the group will proceed to the building for a tour of the premises. "We're asking everyone to bring flashlights if they can. It will be pretty dark in there," Tolbert explained.

After the walk-through, the group will return to the pavilion for discussions to be led by Devlin. He will display drawings and overlay suggested changes as they are developed by members of the group.

"The meeting could go on until noon, but it will be flexible. People can come and go as they need to," Tolbert said.

Many citizens have voiced an interest in this town project, he noted. "We hope to get a lot people involved so they can have a say in what is done with the building," he stated.

Donuts and coffee will be served to those participating in the forum. Anyone wishing further information on this or any other project in Oakland may call City Hall at 301-334-2691.

Summer Concert Series Offering Jazz Performance

Jazz vocalist Diane Hubka will perform in Oakland on Wednesday, July 15, as part of the free summer concert series. Scheduled on the courthouse roof terrace, the evening's entertainment will begin at 7 p.m.

Hubka, a native of Western Maryland, improvises through a repertoire of jazz, blues, and bossa nova with a style combining influences of Billie Holiday, Ella Fitzgerald, and Carmen McRae.

Her performance credits include Blues Alley, Park Place Café, and Fort Dupont Summer Theater in Washington, D.C. She has also entertained jazz fans in such New York venues as Birdland, Cleopatra's Needle, Trumpets, The West End Gate, and The Squire.

Returning to Maryland recently, Hubka was as the guest soloist with the Western Maryland Symphony.

She developed her skill and style studying under such instructors as master jazz vocalist Anne Marie Moss, guitarists Gene Bertoncini and John Hart and pianist Harold Danko.

A review of her music in The Washington Post described Hubka's style as "disarmingly uncomplicated." The article also noted that the singer "has the agility and range to keep up with the fine area musicians she's enlisted to back her up. Hubka's recently released compact disk is titled Haven't We Met?

Other Summer Concerts

Three other concerts at the courthouse remain on the summer schedule. They are as follows:

July 22: Wendy Miller and Lisa Moscatiello — Celtic and folk music.

July 29: Smoking Joe Fusion — rock music.

Aug. 5: Jeff Gilbert and Friends — pop/rock music.

Plaque Unveiling Set At Our Town

The Our Town Theatre (OTT) will begin its summer play reading series on Sunday, July 12, with Thornton Wilder's Our Town. Before the reading begins, however, the OTT board of directors will unveil the bronze plaque listing all the founding members of the theatre.

The unveiling will take place at approximately 7 p.m., followed by the reading of the play, according to Richard Hill, president of the board. The plaque was received this week, Hill said.

"It's beautiful," he commented. "Everyone who helped get this theatre started ought to come see it."

The plaque will be permanently affixed to the theatre, which is located along Center Street in Oakland.

OTT has a variety of events scheduled throughout the summer, in addition to the Sunday evening play reading series. A celebration in memory of Felix Robinson is slated for July 10, and a children's improvisation event is set for Saturday, July 11.

For information on the OTT schedule, persons may call the theatre at 301-334-5640.

thanks the people of Garrett County who have adopted dogs and cats from the county animal shelter, and The Republican newspaper for regularly publishing information about the available pets. The rate of adoption has increased greatly, with more animals being adopted in a few months than were taken over all of last year. We know that the loyalty and love that these people receive from the helpless and once doomed animals adds immeasurable joy to their lives. If you're thinking about getting a pet, please go the shelter and rescue an innocent animal. You won't regret it.

Big Business Rules...

We are exceedingly disappointed that the Republican-dominated Congress caved in to the influence, wealth, and pressure of our nation's tobacco companies a few weeks ago, as this "august" body refused to pass the tobacco bill. It is inconceivable to us that our most powerful decision-making body is so gutless when it comes to big business, even when the product of that business is one that kills hundreds of thousands of our citizens every single year.

We celebrated the birth of our nation once again this past weekend, but those who wanted to rejoice with fireworks and remain in compliance with state law used only sparklers. All other fireworks are illegal in Maryland. Why? Because if misused they can hurt, or even kill, people.

We are also breaking the law if we do not wear our seat belts, if we exceed the posted speed limit, if we operate a motorcycle without a helmet, or if we are carrying a loaded weapon in our vehicles. Violation of such laws, or any one of hundreds of other motor vehicle regulations, can result in injuries, and sometimes death.

We put people in jail every day for smoking marijuana. There are laws against such a practice, even though this substance is not even directly linked to lung cancer, heart disease, and strokes. We also have many laws against the use of scores of harmful drugs, and rightly so in most cases.

It's so comforting to know that our lawmakers are so concerned about our health and safety! What a great bunch of people they are to take such good care of us!

Meanwhile, the number of deaths that result from breaking all of the laws just described, in a year's time, do not come close to the number of deaths caused by the use of tobacco. Besides the enormous mortality rate, the financial cost to our nation in taking care of these people, in taking care of their sur-vivors, in time lost in the work place, and in increased insurance premiums for all of us is in the billions (not million, but billions) of dollars annually.

Our federal government is also assisting the tobacco companies in the enormous exportation of cigarettes, a practice that is now killing millions of people in other nations. It's downright immoral.

At least our courts/judges are beginning to nail the tobacco companies by awarding huge settlements in a number of class-action lawsuits, which may ultimately result in their demise. Obviously we cannot rely on our esteemed Congress to do it.

It sickens us each time our own elected officials, who are supposed to represent us and make decisions that are in our best interest, so quickly become the patsies and puppets of an evil industry. Big business and big money rules. It's as simple as that.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Voter service activities are being planned by the League of Women Voters of Garrett County, with the assistance of several other civic groups. All such activities will be strictly nonpartisan, the goal being to help citizens make informed choices when voting in the primary and general elections.

A Voters Guide listing all candidates and their profiles will be published in The Republican prior to the September 15 primary. Candidates for county, state, and national offices will receive a mailing shortly, asking for this information.

Because of the large slate of candidates, two forums are being planned for later this summer. The tentative dates are for the Sunday afternoons of August 30 and September 13. The Aug. 30 forum will likely cover the races for judge of the circuit court, sheriff, state senate, state delegate, and the U.S. House of Representatives. The Sept. 13 forum will cover the board of education and the county commissioner races.

Those who wish to submit questions for the candidates may send them, preferably printed or typewritten, along with their names and phone numbers in case of questions, to: LWVGC, P.O. Box 115, Oakland, MD 21550.

Those who would like more information concerning voter service activities may contact the league president, Ginny Grove, at 301-334-8269 or ggrove@gcnet.net, or the voter service chair, Dotty Leighton, at 301-334-3315, or any other board member.

To the Editor:

Today I read an interesting article in the Cumberland Sunday Times, about the job growth in Hardy County, W.Va.

I worked there for three years and wondered every day how a little town like Moorefield kept coming up with good paying jobs, when in Garrett County you practically have to fight someone for a minimum wage job. It seems that Hardy County government is doing one heck of a job; more than I can say about our government.

All of our commissioners keep worrying about the [illegible] County official's a little more money and have them move to Garrett County. Then maybe we could have some decent paying jobs.

I, for one, say drain the lake. It seems like the only ones who go there are out-of-towners. I bet if a survey was taken I wouldn't be the only one voting for it. I work away from home to make a living that's decent for my family. One thing's for sure: that lake doesn't pay my bills or put food on my table.

It seems that every time before an election, we hear a lot of talk from the commissioners. And most of it is never followed through with. I get tired of hearing it. We need three people who make good payment jobs their #1 priority not Deep Creek Lake.

One more example: look at our roads. It seems the good ones all head for the lake. And, yea, I pay my taxes, just like the next person.

Enough is enough,
James A. Tasker

P.S. Ask yourselves, could you support a family on minimum wage?
Dear Mr. Tasker,
The taxes you pay would quadruple and the number of jobs we already have would be cut in half if we drained the lake.

To the Editor:

The Oakland Bypass citizens' workshop that we conducted on June 30 was very productive. Not only did we come up with some low cost/low impact alternatives at the meeting, we also received some interesting solutions and suggestions from people who called after the meeting.

We were also told of a study which ostensibly confirms the need for a bypass. However, despite the advance notice of our meeting and our specific request for this study prior to the meeting, neither the State Highway representative nor the public official who spoke of this study were willing or able to produce a copy of this study.

Some other concerns did emerge during our meeting, such as the effect that a bypass would have on the flood control dam which lies in its path. Another concern is the safety of the schoolchildren who might be in the vicinity of a bypass. And, of course, the inevitable rerouting of the school buses was brought up. Additional concerns [illegible] were expressed in [illegible] phone calls; all of these, in addition to the loss of farmland.

We did learn that the state has already purchased a property which will help alleviate some of the truck problems.

We are now more convinced than ever that a bypass is not only not needed, but in fact will do more harm than good. We also continue to believe that this bypass is just another way of bringing the construction of a super highway in through the back door.

We do, however, believe that there may be some traffic problems which need to be addressed. We are conducting a follow-up workshop on Monday, July 13, in the GCC auditorium between 7 and 9 p.m. We have formed a Citizens' Planning Committee and would appreciate your input. Please attend.

To the Editor:

With the death on July 1 of Gerald A. Polansky, Garrett County has lost a powerful voice for the public good. Yes, Jerry had a home in Montgomery County and worked for many years in Washington, D.C., and, because of that, can be considered "an outsider" in Garrett County.

Jerry was a good citizen of every community in which he lived. For many years, Jerry assumed a variety of leadership roles at Montgomery General Hospital in Olney, and the Lutheran Church of Saint Andrew in Silver Spring, and was nationally recognized in the field of accountancy, rising to the presidency of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

Jerry built a home in Garrett County on Deep Creek Lake in the early seventies, and became a model citizen of this county as well. For years, Jerry was one of the major forces behind the success of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival and, at the time of his death, was the president of the Property Owners' Association of Deep Creek Lake. During his presidency, Jerry gave enormously of his time and talents, especially during the last year in which he spent many hundreds of hours dealing with the variety of issues arising out of the pending sale of Deep Creek Lake.

When Helmuth Heise needed a helping hand at the Wisp Resort, Jerry immediately pitched in and assumed the position of chief financial officer. When the county commissioners appointed a committee to advise it with respect to issues relating to the sale of Deep Creek Lake, it was no surprise that Jerry Polansky was chosen to be one of its members. Jerry worked in close cooperation with its chair, Judge Fred Thayer, and earned the respect of all with whom he worked.

Whether he was involved in the business community, the arts in Garrett County, hospital matters in Montgomery County, or the future of Deep Creek Lake, Jerry Polansky gave of himself to the fullest. He will be sorely missed.

Sincerely yours,
Roger W. Titus
Vice President
Property Owners' Association of

To the Editor:

I would like to correct erroneous impressions Mr. George Falter has published regarding my position on the concept of a north/south interstate through Garrett County.

The record clearly shows that I have advocated a north/south interstate highway through Garrett County and I have labeled it the "219 corridor"—"an international trade & travel corridor." This corridor would be known as "Continental One" in the same manner as U.S. Route 40 was named the "National Road" because of its significance in moving trade and travel in our country in its time.

I define the "219 corridor" as any north/south route within the county allowing prudent and economical connection to 219 in Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

I envision the "219 corridor" providing similar and complementary benefits as those we experienced with I-68. Where are the negative effects this development has had on our community?

The concept of a north/south, four-lane, divided, limited-access highway is endorsed by the Garrett County Board of County Commissioners, the three municipalities which currently have a portion of U.S. 219 within their towns, the Greater Oakland Business Association, the Greater Grantsville Business Association, the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, and the Deep Creek Lake Property Owners Association.

The record clearly shows (see The Republican 10/2/97) I support an eastern alignment within the county similar to the former Meadow Mountain Scenic Highway proposal and not using the existing 219 roadway. This just makes common sense when you look at the existing roadway and its current state of development.

An alternative route outlined by Senator John Hafer and Delegate George Edwards along the Garrett/Allegany border merits serious consideration. It would serve a major corporate client in both counties — Westvaco Corporation — and could be designed so as not to impact any existing business or homes in either county.

I endorse the construction of an Oakland bypass, but not designed to be a part of this north/south interstate proposal. Given the incredibly long time between conception of a roadway proposal and its eventual construction, we may be looking at 8-10 years in the future before such a bypass is here.

We have congestion and "choke points" now and will have additional tourism traffic with the addition of the Simon Pearce Glass manufacturing plant. If this project had been agreed to 20 years ago, we would not be having this discussion and the homes of some of our citizens would not be impacted as they now may be.

I thoroughly admire the position taken by the Scheffel family and verbalized by Mr. George Scheffel. The bypass will impact five members of his family's homes and will probably take his brother Matt's home entirely. Progress is sometimes painful, but they all realize the community needs this bypass.

Matt Scheffel, like many others in our community, built his home himself, from the ground up and from his own design. He purchased adjoining land and created a pond. He and his family are making the major sacrifice because this project was not done when it should have been.

They are looking to the future, as should we all.

GETTYSBURG

Last week was the 135th anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg. The fighting took place over the first three days of July. The remembering of it has taken place ever since.

I cannot recall my first visit to Gettysburg, but it seems as if I have been going there my whole life. It is a place that never grows stale. It is truly hallowed ground, hallowed first, as Lincoln said, by "...the brave men, living and dead,... who...consecrated it, far above our poor power to add or detract."

Lincoln was absolutely right, but not quite right. It was precisely because of the brave men who struggled there and who consecrated 20,000 acres of battlefield with their blood that others have been able to add to the hallowing.

Lincoln was modest, but wrong, when he said, "The world will little note, nor long remember, what we say here...." Of course, we have remembered extremely well what he said there. His Gettysburg Address is second only to the Declaration of Independence in expressing the accepted vision of the American Republic.

The hallowing of Gettysburg, begun by soldiers, has continued in the remembering.

I was impressed on this most recent visit, as I have been on all past visits, how much respect people show the battlefield. In this age of turning everything into a theme park, it is nothing short of amazing that Gettysburg continues to draw visitors from every quarter of our nation.

Gettysburg is so many things: site of a historic battle, graveyard of men and of the southern cause. Gettysburg is a place where Americans dream, recalling a past of triumph and tragedy commingled, hoping for a future of responsible freedom. It is also, by the way, an open air museum of sculpture.

The innumerable monuments are themselves remarkable for their quality, quantity, and location. We found substantial monuments at the end of our aerobic trek up Big Round Top. We pondered a moment or two how those massive carved pieces were placed there before the days of heavy equipment.

There are the equestrian statues of Generals Meade and Lee facing each other a mile apart across the ground where "Pickett's Charge" took place. There is the grand Pennsylvania Memorial, which can be seen from almost every vantage point of the battlefield.

The most moving and spectacular monuments, however, are those erected by southern states which began to appear only about the time of World War I and afterwards. I wondered if the coinciding of those events arose from the fact that it was only then that southerners in large numbers had again worn the uniform of the United States.

The North Carolina memorial was sculpted by the same artist who later carved Mount Rushmore. The Louisiana memorial conjures the image of the archangel sounding the last trumpet. These remembrances in bronze perpetuate the hallowing.

There is a new battle of Gettysburg going on over the building of a new visitors center. Opponents complain that the proposal will diminish the air of reverence that permeates the place. Supporters say that Gettysburg is crowded and that a new facility is needed.

On our visit, Gettysburg certainly was crowded. I was impressed by the patience people showed, the same kind of patience I have observed in the lines of people waiting to pay their respects at a viewing.

Whatever is done to accommodate the growing crowds of people who want to see Gettysburg must be done in the same spirit as all else has been done to date. Whatever addition is made must possess the quality of sacred sorrow, but of sacred sorrow which is the renewed beginning of a work both good and great—"government of the people, by the people, for the people."

Falter Files For Commissioner In District Three

A McHenry area resident has joined the list of those seeking a seat on the Garrett County Board of Commissioners. George Falter Jr., Hoyes Run Road, announced this week that he has filed as a Democrat candidate in District III. He is the only Democrat candidate in that district, and thus will face one of five Republican candidates in the general election. Wayne Johnson is the incumbent.

Falter, 63, is a native of Baltimore and has been a property owner in Garrett County for many years. He established full-time residency a few years ago, following his retirement from a business career. He holds a bachelor of science degree in business organization and management, with a minor in accounting, from Johns Hopkins University. He also participated in a master's program at Johns Hopkins, which he was unable to complete because of career and family obligations.

He served eight years with the United States Navy, including two years of active duty aboard the destroyer USS Hawkins, and six years in the Naval Reserve. He was honorably discharged.

In the community, Falter works with the Deep Creek Lions Club, specifically with the Blind Skier Program at the Wisp Ski Area, for which he has served as a volunteer for 10 years. He enjoys gardening and reading, but says his primary interest is his family. He and his wife Jean, who is a registered nurse and currently works at Towson State University, are the parents of five children: George III and Jennifer, both of whom are attorneys; James, a business owner; Laura Quinn, a CPA; and Charles, a mechanical engineer.

"I take great pride in the many achievements of my children," Falter said, "particularly in light of the fact that they came about as a result of hard work. They got their degrees by working their way through college and earning academic scholarships. I am most proud of them, however, because they are good, fair-minded citizens."

Falter submitted the following statement with his announcement:

Since I first came up to the mountaintop 40 years ago, I have seen many changes take place. Some of them have not been done in the best interest of the people of Garrett County. The superhighway known as Continental One, which is currently being promoted to be constructed along U.S. 219, is one which, if built, will forever change the way of life in Garrett County. I could not, in good conscience, stand by and do nothing. I am therefore hoping to get elected and do whatever I can from the inside on behalf of the people of Garrett County to prevent it from happening. My candidacy will also give the people the opportunity to register their feelings on this issue—something that they have not been able to do thus far. Most people know what my position on this is, so the choice will be clear.

I will not, however, be a one-issue candidate, as there are many other things which need to be done on behalf of the people in this county. I will work diligently towards getting good-paying jobs brought to the county. (I have already spoken to Congressman Bartlett and he seems to be receptive about one suggestion which I made.)

Property taxes will be tackled head-on. We will not talk about the tax rate, which can be very misleading; instead, we will talk about actual taxes paid, a more accurate indicator. I will actively solicit input from the people to help set priorities, and property taxes will then be based on what the people want.

I will aggressively pursue those things that we are entitled to from state government. We have missed out on some of these because no one went after them. People who know me know that my middle name is "Persistence."

I will do what I can to encourage the participation of the people in this county in their local government. My first step toward this will be well-advertised meetings on all important issues. These meetings will be held at a time and place convenient for working people to attend. I will be a commissioner who works in partnership with the people. I will restore meaning to the term "Public Servant."

I am not seeking this office for employment and will donate part of my salary for the purpose of setting up various funds in the name of some of the unsung heroes in this county, of which there are many. I now have the time to devote full-time to doing my civic duty by participating in my government.

I believe that my experience as a former business owner, combined with my educational background, will enable me to deal with the problems that we will be faced with in the future in a manner that will serve the people well.

I have appointed Dick Friend to serve as my treasurer; however, we will not be asking for contributions from anyone, nor will we have any fund-raisers. We will instead rely on the grace of God, the support of the people, and our own ingenuity to get our message out. All we ask for is your prayers and, of course, your vote.

Tichnell Files For Garrett County Sheriff

Harland Tichnell has recently announced his candidacy for the office of sheriff on the Republican ballot. Tichnell is a native of Garrett County, and resides in the Hoyes area with his wife Linda and son R.C.

A 1969 graduate of Southern High School, Tichnell began a career with the Sheriff's Office in 1976 and graduated from the Western Maryland Police Academy in Hagerstown later that same year. During his 19-year career, Tichnell has attended numerous specialized law enforcement schools and conferences, including the Harvard Associates of Police Science. He also has the distinction of graduating from the FBI National Academy in Quantico, Va., with a focus on police administration.

Tichnell spent 14 of his 19 years performing both investigative and supervision duties for the Sheriff's Office. This prestige includes two years as assistant chief deputy and nine years as chief deputy. As chief deputy, he was required to perform the duties of the sheriff in the sheriff's absence. Tichnell was also responsible for the selection, training, scheduling, and supervision of employees.

Tichnell has assisted with the attainment of grants for community programs such as Seniors and Law Enforcement Together (S.A.L.T.) and Drug Abuse Resistance Education (DARE), and has written grants as well. He obtained Governor Awards for the Sheriff's Office and Garrett County citizens for their involvement in the elementary school's safety program.

"Our youth, senior citizens, and all citizens alike, face many different types of challenges. We must continue with these programs and explore other worthwhile programs to help meet these challenges," said Tichnell.

As a former chief deputy, Tichnell said he knows the importance of working closely with local, state, and federal agencies. He added that "it is imperative that each agency work together and share information. By doing so, each agency can share the ultimate goal—the betterment of our community and the citizens we serve."

In Tichnell's own words, "It will require training, knowledge, experience, as well as honesty, integrity, and dedication to perform the duties of sheriff. I believe I possess these attributes, as well as the professionalism and experience to provide the citizens of Garrett County with a Sheriff's Office that will be efficient, trusted, and most of all, respected."

Two Keyser Men Arrested In MLP On Drug Charges

A pair of Keyser, W.Va., men face drug charges after being arrested last Wednesday evening near Mtn. Lake Park by the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force, according to Garrett County Sheriff and Task Force spokesperson Dick Sanders.

Richard H. Livingston, 21, and Donald Denton Hanlin, 19, were traveling together on Maryland Highway when Task Force members, acting on a tip that Livingston was wanted in Mineral County, W.Va., stopped their 1985 Chevrolet at approximately 8 p.m. on July 1. A subsequent vehicle search uncovered a quantity of marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

Livingston, who had initially given police officers an alias in an alleged attempt to hide his identity, was transported to the sheriff's office, where his fingerprints were transmitted to the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which identified them as belonging to Livingston.

Currently being held in the Garrett County jail on a $20,000 bond, Livingston faces charges of possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia, and giving false information to a police officer, as well as fugitive charges from West Virginia.

Hanlin was charged with possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia. He was released after posting a $1,000 bond.

Meals Volunteer

Spring.

Howell was nominated for the award by Barbara Hornyak, program coordinator for Area Agency on Aging. "Ms. Howell has volunteered at the Swanton Nutrition Site since its inception in January 1976," Hornyak commented, "and has faithfully volunteered 12 hours per week, two days weekly, year-round, barring family illnesses since 1980.

"One of the original volunteers, Howell helped make the program the success it is today," continued Hornyak. "Swanton was one of the first nutrition sites for Garrett County seniors, which initially depended totally on volunteers. Prior to the program coming under the auspices of the Commission on Aging Howell, along with other volunteers, assured the site adhered to established Nutrition Program guidelines."

Reynolds company official John Lowrie stated through a press release, "These volunteers dedicate so much of their time and energy to helping others. They deserve special recognition for the outstanding services and companionship they provide to the frail, elderly homebound."

"Volunteers are the lifeblood of any meal program," commented Enid Borden, executive director of the ProjectMeal Foundation. "Without dedicated volunteers Meals on Wheels programs would not exist."

Meals on Wheels originated in Great Britain during World War II when people lost their homes and had no place to prepare meals. The Women's Volunteer Service for Civil Defense delivered prepared meals to disadvantaged neighbors. These same women served refreshments in canteens to servicemen during World War II. The canteens were known as "Meals On Wheels." The Meals on Wheels idea spread, and the first U.S. home-delivered meals program started in 1954 in Philadelphia, Pa.

Last year the Reynolds company implemented a volunteer recruiting effort, which to date has resulted in more than 60,000 new volunteers for Meals on Wheels programs around the country. Persons interested in volunteering may contact the Garrett County Community Action Committee at 301-334-9431 or by calling the toll-free volunteer hotline established by the Reynolds company at 1-888-MEAL-HELP.

Barton Man Hospitalized After Accident

A 58-year-old Barton man was hospitalized after a Saturday afternoon single-vehicle accident on Maryland Highway.

According to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, Carl Edward Bittinger apparently fell asleep at the wheel of his 1991 Chevrolet Lumina near the Backbone Mountain Youth Camp. His vehicle struck a tree on the right side of the road and was totally disabled, and Bittinger was transported to Cumberland Memorial Hospital by the State Police helicopter. The Bloomington Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad responded as well.

Bittinger was hospitalized for a short time at Cumberland Memorial in stable condition, and has since been released. No charges have been filed in the accident.

Hardwoods Grows

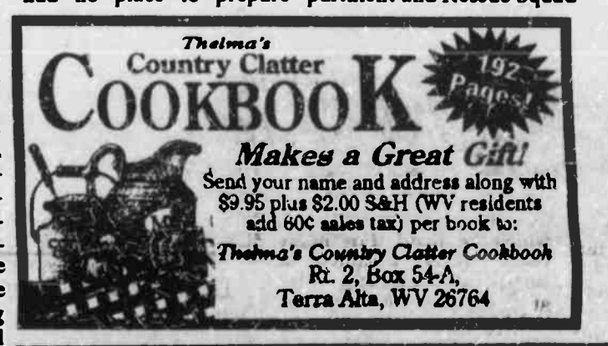
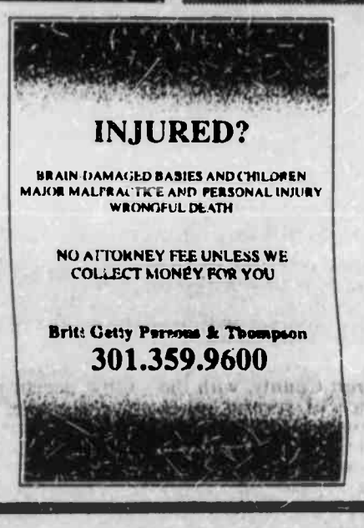
export strategy, in combination with strong domestic sales, has proved so successful that "we've increased production by 60 percent because sales have been so strong. We've even had to add another shift [to keep up with the demand]," he said. "We expect to reach $34 million in total sales for 1998, and our goal is to reach $50 million by the year 2000." Messenger added that if that goal is attained his company could add 30 to 40 new jobs by that date.

Senator Paul Sarbanes, a leading advocate in promoting Maryland's export potential, said he recognized the economic benefits of these export sales in Garrett County, long known for one of the state's highest unemployment rates. "With this Ex-Im Bank-backed initiative, Global Hardwoods is helping grow business, grow jobs, and grow economic development for western Maryland and the state," commented Sarbanes.



Over the past five years, according to Ex-Im Bank spokesperson Marianna Ohe, the bank has helped finance $535 million in exports for 86 Maryland companies in 36 communities. More than half of those companies are small businesses, and the increased exports sustained an estimated 7,758 jobs in Maryland.



Ohe added that the Ex-Im Bank, an independent federal government agency, helped to support $15 billion in U.S. exports in fiscal year 1997. The bank was established in 1934 by President Franklin Delano Roosevelt to help the depression-stricken U.S. economy by providing assistance to domestic companies that export their goods and services around the world.

FSU To Host Conference For Foster Youth

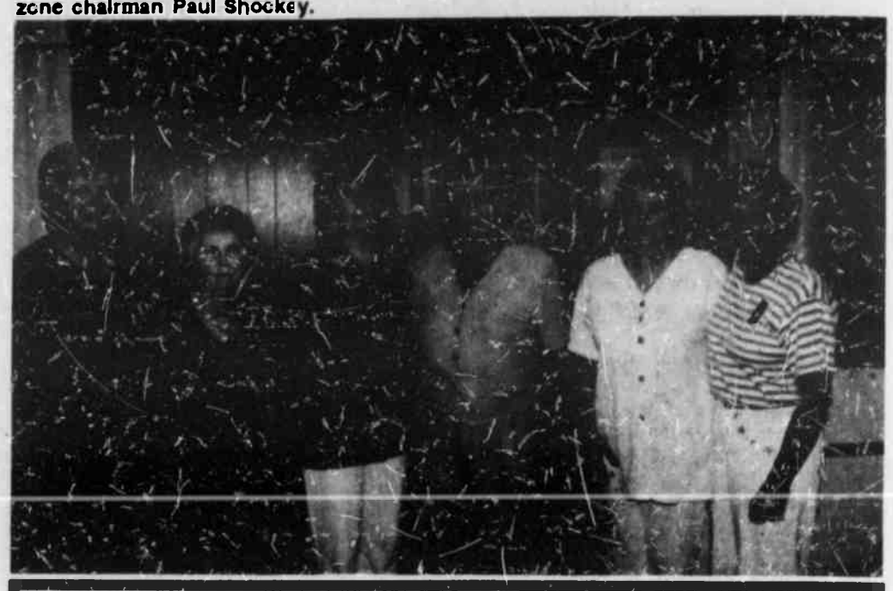
Approximately 300 foster care youth from across the state will convene at Frostburg State University on July 24-26 for the fifth annual statewide conference sponsored by the Maryland Department of Human Resources' Independent Living Program. The conference theme, "Raising the Roof," will promote the idea that "opportunities are unlimited." Additionally, the conference will provide information for foster teens that will help them prepare for independent living after they leave the state's foster care program.

According to Patrick Patrong, State Independent Living coordinator, Maryland provides independent living preparation services to youth ages 16 through 21 in foster care. Presently, there are 8,227 children in the state's foster care system. The monthly average of children in foster care between June 1996 and June 1997 has been 7,907. Approximately 1,812 foster care youth received independent living services in fiscal year 1997.

The conference, a collaborative effort between local departments of social services and DHR's Social Services Administration, will consist of a variety of workshops and activities that highlight such topics as employment readiness, educational awareness, money management, social skills, and health issues. Workshop activities will be geared toward the conference theme and include youth sexuality, self-esteem, leadership and youth development, communications, budget preparation, job readiness, and health concerns.

A notable addition to this year's conference is the inclusion of the National Welfare to Work Computer Literacy Workshop. This session allows youth to receive hands-on training and to explore career opportunities in the compurer field. Several workshops reflect the value of education and employment and the means of achieving them both.

"Frostburg State University provides a collegiate atmosphere and presents the idea that a higher education is obtainable for foster care teens," stated Patrong. The youth will spend the weekend in campus dormitories, dine in the university cafeteria, and participate in activities popular on national college campuses." American colleges and universities have submitted information and applications for inclusion in conference packets.



A dozen foster youth from Garrett County have registered to attend the conference.

For more information about Maryland's Independent Living program, persons may telephone Patrong at 410-767-7634 or e-mail him at ppatrong@aol.com.

Miss Bittinger Weds Mr. Wright In Double-Ring Ceremony

Elonda Fay Bittinger and Kevin Charles Wright were united in marriage Oct. 4, 1997. The double-ring ceremony took place at the Meyersdale Church of the Brethren, with the Pastor Mike Swick officiating. Linda Gibson, cousin of the bride, provided the organ music. Paul and Teresa Werner and Jeff and Lisa Moser provided several vocal selections. Jenny Knauff read the scripture and a poem written by the late Ann Grindle of Westernport.

The bride is the daughter of Willard and Lois Bittinger, Grantsville. The bridegroom is the son of Edward Wright, Eckhart, and Marlene Broadwater, Mt. Savage.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted down the aisle by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin and handbeaded lace, designed by the bride and made by Linda Knox, Midland.

The gown featured a lace sweatheart neckline and an open heart-shaped back, adorned with pearl drops, appliqués, and sequins. The basque bodice and princess tapered sleeves were enhanced with sequins and pearls. The V-shaped waistline held a full skirt, accented with pearl and sequin appliqués, and fell to a scalloped hemline sweeping to a long, cathedral train. Lace rose appliqués enhanced the skirt and train. The back of the waistline was adorned by a two-layered lace bustle enhanced with a bow.

The bride wore a designer crown-style headpiece adorned with tiny pearls, sequins, and crystal beads with baby's breath. The crown held a pouf and a chapel-length veil of French illusion trimmed with a pencil edge. The bride carried a bouquet of fresh white roses, purple and pink carnations, baby's breath, and ivy. The bouquet was accented with a sheer dangling ribbon. The bride carried a handkerchief, from her aunt Racheal Fazenbaker, with her bouquet.

Serving as matron of honor was Carrie Maxwell, Reedsville, W.Va., friend of the bride. Bridesmaids were Christine Reynolds, Boynton, Pa., cousin of the bride; Tresa Litteral, Scottstown, Ohio, friend of the bride; Becky Murray, Meyeradale, Pa., friend of the bride; and Teresa Durst, Florida, friend of the bride. Serving as junior bridesmaid was Danielle Fazenbaker, Boynton, cousin of the bride. The flower girl was Ashley Hotchkiss, Philadelphia, Pa., cousin of the bride.

The matron of honor and the bridesmaids wore satin purple tea-length dresses, with an open back and a bow at the top of the neckline. All the girls carried glass votive cups with lit candles, accented with fresh carnations, daisies, roses, ferns, and ivy with sheer ribbon dangling. Each girl dropped dried rose petals along the aisle.

Serving as best man was David Bolden, Frostburg, friend of the bridegroom. Groomsmen were Rick Bolden and Joseph Cutter, friends of the bridegroom from Frostburg, and Terry Bittinger, Canton, Ohio, brother of the bride. The junior groomsman was Eric Bolden, Frostburg, friend of the bridegroom. The ring bearer was Curtis Gomer Jr., Frostburg, nephew of the bridegroom.

Vicki Bittinger, Canton, sister-in-law of the bride, served as the personal attendant for the bride and helped with wedding decorations. Kari Gomer, sister of the bridegroom, served as guest book attendant. Jennifer Fiscus, cousin of the bride, distributed programs. Duane Hare and Paul Fazenbaker Jr., cousins of the bride, distributed balloons. Lori Hare, cousin of the bride, and Vicki Bittinger, distributed wedding bubbles.

The altar was decorated with baskets of fresh flowers and candelabras. A candle was placed on the altar was in loving memory of Brian Hare, cousin of the bride. The pews were decoratcd with candles, satin bows, and ivy. Candles and flowers enhanced the window panels.

The bride and bridegroom rode to the reception hall in a 1976 red Corvette owned by Paul Fazenbaker Sr., uncle of the bride. The reception was held at the Salisbury fire hall. The buffet style dinner was prepared by the bride's mother.

The wedding cake, 45" sheet cake with two 10" round cakes on pedestals, was baked and decorated with pearls and fresh flowers by Linda Knox. The cake was served by Betty Albright, great-aunt of the bride, and Brenda Auers, cousin of the bride.

The reception hall was decorated in purple, lavender, and white. Hall decorations were provided by the bride's family and Treasures of the Heart. Music was provided by DJ Frankie Ryan. MOTHER HAS FALLEN ASLEEP

Mother was tired and weary,
Weary with toil and pain;
Put by her glasses and rocker,
She will not need them again.
Into Heaven's mansions she's entered,
Never to sigh or weep,
After long years with life's struggles
Mother has fallen asleep.

Near other loved ones we'll lay her,
Low in the churchyard to lie,
And though our hearts are near broken.
Yet we would not question "why?"
She will not rest 'neath the grasses,
Though o'er her dear grave they'll creep;
She has gon into the Kingdom,
Mother has fallen asleep

Rest the tired feet now forever,
Dear wrinkled hands are so still;
Blast of the earth shall no longer
Throw o'er our loved one a chill
Angels through Heaven will guide her,
Jesus will still bless and keep;
Not for the world we wake her,
Mother has fallen asleep

Beautiful rest for the weary,
Well deserved rest for the true;
When our life's journey has ended,
We shall again be with you
This helps to quiet our weeping,
Hark! Angels, music so sweet!
He giveth to His beloved,
Beautiful, beautiful sleep.

Sadly missed by her children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren.

Notes from Bittinger

Chicken Barbecue

It's time for another one of those delicious chicken barbecue dinners, which will be held at the Bittinger fire hall this Saturday. Dinners are served from 4 p.m. to approximately 7 p.m., or until sold out.

Family Reunion

The children of the late Ed and Bess Buckel met with their families for their annual 4th of July reunion, held at Harvey's Peninsula. Over 100 family members and guests were in attendance, including brothers Blair, Max, and Dave Buckel, and sisters June Green, Ferne Beachy, Beulah Moon, and JoEllen Graham and their families.

Birthday Celebration

About 30 family members and friends celebrated Abby Collins' first birthday on June 28 at the Bittinger fire hall. She is a real cup cake, and is lucky that she was not eaten at her birthday party.

Fireworks Cookout

Kyle and Valerie Morrison, McHenry, made a valent effort in sponsoring a fireworks viewing at their home Saturday night. Unfortunately, the rain and fog put a damper on the festivities, and the fireworks were postponed. Sunday night viewers included Cindy and Leah Stanton, cousins and friends, Dale Glotfelty, Ruth DiPaolo, Rodney Glotfelty and children, Lloyd Sussman and daughters, and Carol and Kevin Bass and family.

Kyle, who had looked forward to a spectacular view from his deck, missed the show because he had to return to Scout Camp. Just think, Kyle, another year to plan and anticipate for. It'll go fast!

We did not completely escape the July 4th traffic snarl. Traffic was bumper-to-bumper for miles within a 10 mile radius of McHenry.

Sunday evening I somehow missed the chance to do it again. Instead, I sat on my deck enjoying a firework show straight ahead and on my left, a full silver moon shining through the maple leaves. On my right was a nice soft pink and blue sunset. Instead of the "in your face" fireworks, mountains between here and there created just nice puffs of light and not much bigger than the moon. Occasionally just a pop or soft rumbling noise, much nicer than right there with the big bangs.

The steady stream of traffic that night on Rock Lodge Road made it look like everyone in Bittinger and Grantsville came out to the lake to get a good view of the fireworks. The road was just a strip of diamond and ruby lights. The only things missing were the shooting stars and lightning bugs. They seem so much rarer now than when I was a kid.

4-H Event

The Bittinger 4-H Club made a singing visit to the Goodwill Nursing Home on Monday evening. This year's fair exibitors' books were passed out to members.

Little League

The Little League season reached a climax with the playoffs and All-Star game. Following the All-Star game on Thursday evening, the champion "Phillies," including Torrey Poholsky, Brent Housley, and Jordon Brenneman, and coaches Ron Brenneman and Lenny Poholsky, celebrated their victory with a pizza party at Smiley's Pizzeria. Robbie Glotfelty, Matthew Bass, and Max Beitzel missed the game because they chose to stay at the 4-H Campfire for the final night at camp.

The Central Garrett 9- and 10-year-old All-Star team has started tournament play in Lonaconing. So far they are undefeated in two games. Players from Bittinger area include Max Beitzel, Scott Bass, and Charlie Smith.

Memorial Service

Ann McLister and children from Frederick visited with her mom (Margaret Hershberger Wagner) and friends in the community last week. They were present for the beautiful memorial service for her grandmother, Ruth Hershberger, on Sunday afternoon. Services were held at the United Church of Christ in Grantsville.

Class Reunion of '53

Friday overnight guests of Jim and Margaret Wagner were Mark and Edith Fruehan of Ford City, Pa. They attended the 45th year reunion of the Class of '53, the first graduating class of Northern Garrett County Junior-Senior High School. It was held on July 3 at the Silver Tree Inn. Margaret and Mark were members of the class and they all attended the Accident Homecoming Celebration on July 4th in Accident.

Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Merl Hershberger, Patricia Cooper, and Jack Hershberger of Salisbury, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hershberger, Vienna, Va., Mrs. Michael Power and children of Clarion, Pa., and Mrs. Michael McLister and children of Leesburg, Va., were recent visitors in the Wagner home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wagner and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hershberger were Saturday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bowman, McHenry.

Nate Blatchy and Jennifer Greathouse stopped by on Monday evening at Joan Sussman's to show off Jennifer's "new, used" car, which was a college graduation gift for Jennifer from her Aunt Joan.

Weekend visitors of the Sam Stanton family and Ferne Beachy were Kendra, Kelsey, and Ashley Wells of Rockville and Amy Williams of Wales. Lindsey and Lauren Greer were also guests over the weekend.

Billy Bogus of Laurel is spending the week with Torrey Poholsky.

Brook, Kerry, and Brent Greer spent the weekend with Bill and Sheila Southerly and sons. Bill, Kristin, Billy, and Blake Bogus also stayed with the Southerlys.

Ferne and Dave Beachy spent Monday in Huntingdon, Pa., to attend the funeral of Dorothy Beachy. She was the 96-year-old wife of the late S. Homer Beachy. Her daughter, Ruth Beachy, survives.

Weekend visitors of Lenny, Sally, and Torrey Poholsky were Tim and Alison Mazer and daughters Amanda and Ashley of Ellicott City, and Steve and Donna Mazer and daughters Morgan and Lindsey of Severn.

The Sam Stanton family and Ferne Beachy held a cookout at their home for the holiday guests, who included Blair Buckel, Dave and Nancy Beachy, Brent, Kelly, and Wyatt Beachy, Bill, Sheila, Landon, and Tyler Southerly, Brook, Kerry, Lindsey, Lauren, and Brent Greer, Max and Bee Buckel, Kendra, Kelsey, and Ashley Wells, Amy Williams, Bill, Kristin, Billy, and Blake Bogus, Lenny, Sally, and Torrey Poholsky, Denny Buckel, and Peggy Chapman.

My mother, Ruth Glotfelty DiPaolo, was a late evening caller at the courthouse, where she threw her name in the race for judge of the Orphans' Court. Way to go, Mom!

SUPPORTING A BIG CAUSE - It was with a sense of pride and commitment that the management of Fuel City took the lead as the first local business to contribute toward the purchase price of new fire fighting equipment. They presented a check for $2,000 to the Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department to help defray the cost of the new pumper engine that is currently being built for Grantsville. "We're proud to be part of this effort because it means better protection for our community. These fire fighters deserve our support. They do a great job in this community," said Greg Tunstall, vice president of Fuel City. "This is a much needed new truck. The one it is replacing has been on the road for 25 years," said Gene Stein, a fire fighter and an employee at Fuel City. Present for the donation, left to right in the photo, were Gene Stein, Greg Tunstall, Skip Lapp, VFD president, and Duane Stein, VFD chief. Since this contribution by Fuel City, Flushing Shirt Factory donated $2,500 and the town of Grantsville also contributed $2,500.

Three Exchange Students Return To Their Homes

Three International Cultural Exchange Services students who lived in the northern part of Garrett County for the past 10 months have returned to their homes, according to Linda Daugherty, program spokesperson.

Zang Zhi, a student from Qingdao, China, has resided with Bill and Becky Aiken, Accident, since last August. He attended Northern High School throughout the year, where he was a member of the math team and a winner in the annual talent show. He also sang in the youth choir at Zion Lutheran Church in Accident.

Leonid Danilenko haled from Moscow, Russia. His host parent was Ellinor Benedict, Grantsville. Danilenko also attended Northern, where he excelled academically and played soccer. His mother, Larisa, was a guest of Ms. Benedict for four days in June prior to his departure from the county.

A French student, Cecile Chorvot, resided throughout her visit with Steve and Ellinor Hamilton, Accident. She was an honor roll student at Northern this year.

Daugherty said the three students will be missed by their friends and host families, and that they are "wished the best of luck" in all their future endeavors.

Persons interested in hosting an exchange student may call Daugherty at 1-800-981-6801.

Oakland Team In Finals Of District Tourney

Oakland Little League's 13-Year-old All-Star Team entered post season play this week in the District 1 Tournament which has attracted eight teams to participate in the double-elimination tournament. Teams competing in this year's post-season play include Oakland, Conococheague, Halfway, Hancock, Maugansville, South Mountain, Valley, and Clear Spring.

In the first round game played Saturday at Oakland, Tobi Stoner pitched the local team to a hard-fought 3-2 victory over a strong Clear Spring team. The team traveled to the Hagerstown area on Sunday to face Maugansville. Kevin Goralski, A.J. Bender, and Danny O'Brien pitched the locals to their second win, 12-2.

Oakland faced Halfway, another Hagerstown team, on Tuesday night to determine the champion of the winner's bracket. The 9-2 loss to Halfway set up a home game for the Oakland All-Stars for this Saturday, July 11, at Broadford Park. The game is slated to begin at 5:30 p.m. A win on Saturday for the Oakland players will allow them to travel back to Hagerstown for a rematch with the Halfway team for the championship.

Members of the Oakland Junior League All-Stars are: A.J. Bender, Daniel Cathell, Randy Chapman, Kevin Goralski, Rex Hoalcraft, Brandon Louden, Danny O'Brien, Matthew Savage, Matthew Stephens, Tobi Stoner, Dennis Tressler, and Brandon Wilt. Manager of the team is Bob Tressler, and coaches are Dave Bender and Ron O'Brien.

9-10 TEAM LOSES

The Oakland Little League's 9-10 All-Star team was eliminated from District I play this week by losing to PVAA, 5-3. Ryan Hesselbach had two singles for Oakland and Nick Green and Anthony Daniels each hit a double.

Oaks Take Two In Tournament; Still In First

The Oakland Oaks remain in fust place in the Pen-Mar League's standings after a non-league open tournament at Garrett Community College this past weekend involving the Oaks and teams from Pittsburgh, Pa., and Huntington, W.Va.

The Oaks took a pair of 9-2 victories over two Stan Musial league teams from Huntington, W.Va., during the tournament, with pitcher Kent Taylor hurling the first win and Justin Foutz taking the victory on the mound in the second game. In an unusual scenario for the power-hitting Oakland lineup, not a single Oaks home run cleared the GCC fences during either contest.

The non-league victories did not affect the Oaks' 11-5 record, which remains tops in the Pen-Mar League, one game ahead of Hyndman's 8-4 mark and one game in front of Bridgeport's 10-6 tally. The Oaks' coming schedule includes a 2 p.m. doubleheader against struggling Morgantown (4-8) on Sunday at GCC, followed by a Tuesday doubleheader at GCC against Morgantown which will begin at 6 p.m.

Pen-Mar League offensive statistics released this week show the Oak's Jeremy Fitzwater holding first place in batting average with a .604 mark. Other league-leading marks from Oakland's lineup are Alan Sebold's 31 hits and 28 RBI, and Fitzwater's, Sebold's, and Ryan Folk's eight doubles apiece.

Fitzwater's 29 hits and 23 RBI are second behind Sebold's tally, and his four home runs tie him for second behind league leader Jeff Barclay of Cumberland, who has belted five round-trippers.

Sebold is fourth in the batting race with a .508 average, and is tied for third in homers with three.

Folk's .455 batting average is 10th in league play, and his 25 hits put him in fourth place.

Ernie Galusky is tied for eighth place in hits with 19.

Garrett Co. Splits Two Games With Fort Cumberland

Garrett County's American Legion baseball team met Fort Cumberland twice this past week, once in McHenry and once in Cumberland. The local team won the first contest, 7-6, but dropped the second, 7-2, to give Fort Cumberland the first-half season championship in the Mountain District American Legion league.

A two-run homer by Keith Parks in the sixth inning of last Thursday's game, played at Garrett Community College, gave Garrett County the lead for good, and Josh Bosley added a solo shot in the seventh which proved to be the winning run, as Fort Cumberland rallied for a run in the top of the ninth.

Matt Fritz pitched the first eight innings for Garrett and Bosley came on in the ninth to record a save. The two gave up eight hits and struck out 10 batters.

Bosley had a double to go with his home run, while Parks also hit a single. Jordan Uphold rapped four singles for three RBI and Mike Shahan stroked a pair of singles.

Leading Fort Cumberland's offense were Matt Wright with a two-run homer and a run-producing single, and Jeremy Bolyard and Brian Powell, who each hit a double and a single.

This was the first game in the second half of the Mountain District season.

The first half of the season was won by Fort Cumberland yesterday with its 7-2 win over Garrett County. The host team recorded four home runs in the process, with Matt Wright, Brian Powell, Jim Barrett, and Mike Thomas all smacking round-trippers.

Wright's three-run blast was the highlight of the four-run first inning, and Powell and Barnett each hit solo shots in the third to give Fort Cumberland a 6-0 lead. Thomas added a solo homer in the eighth.

Garrett County was limited to just five hits by Angelo Baacelli, with Mike Shahan being the only multiple hitter with a double and a single.

Sam Long had three singles for Fort Cumberland, as Matt Fritz took the loss.

Storey's Whips Dapper Dans, Falls To Metco

The local girls' softball team sponsored by Timothy J. Storey Construction and playing in the Sugar & Spice League recorded an easy 18-0 victory over the Dapper Dans of Cumberland last Thursday, but then dropped a pair of contests to Metco, 15-5 in the completion of a suspended game and 8-2 in the second contest on Monday. Storey's then picked up a forfeit win from Midland Tuesday.

The victory over the Dapper Dans required only five innings of play because of the 10-run rule, as Storey's took control of the game right away by scoring nine runs in the first inning. Jennifer Bosley recorded a no-hitter on the mound, as she struck out seven batters and allowed just two walks.

Bosley also led her team offensively, as she smacked a triple, a double, and a single in the Storey's 14-hit performance. Ashley Liller and Nicole Kitzmiller each hit a double and two singles, while Mika Myers tripled and singled, and Melissa Kuykendall added a double.

Taking the loss was Mandy Talley, who issued five walks and had no strikeouts.

Monday's losses to Metco were the first of the season for Storey's. Corinthia Kendall was the winning pitcher in the first game, as she allowed seven hits, struck out three, and walked two. Jennifer Sanders had a pair of singles for Storey's.

Despite allowing only two hits, Jennifer Bosley took the loss on the mound. She pitched two innings, struck out five, and walked five. Jennifer Teagarden then took the mound and gave up five hits, walked two, and struck out five. Kim Twigg led Metco's hitting with two singles.

Storey's was limited to just two hits in the second game, a double by Teagarden and a single by Liller. Carrie Liller was the winner on the mound for Metco, as she struck out 10 and walked only one.

Bosley, who took the loss for Storey's, struck out seven and allowed nine hits and four walks. Kim Twigg hit a home run and two singles for the winners, Kristie Stone finished with two singles, and Manda Widemeyer contributed a triple.

The results left Storey's with a record of 11-2-1. The local team will play again Monday by hosting Betz in a 6:30 contest. The league's double-elimination tournament will follow the weekend of July 18-19 in Cresaptown.

What is dental sealant?
A dental sealant is a resin (plastic) coating placed on the chewing surface of the permanent back teeth.
The back teeth (molars and premolars) have depressions and deep grooves called pits and fissures on the chewing surface. These are so small that they are often impossible to keep clean, even with proper brushing.
Plaque (containing food, bacteria, and acid) builds up in these areas and can lead to tooth decay. The sealant is placed to block out the plaque, which protects the chewing surface of the tooth.
Dental sealants, in combination with fluoride, proper home care and regular dental visits, are essential in comprehensive dental prevention.

Hot Stove League Action

TCI Takes Two Out Of Three; Garrett Splits; #214 Dumped

It was open season on elk in the leadoff contest for the Hot Stove League this week as TCI Computers skinned, stuffed, and mounted the Cumberland Elks 11-1 on Thursday.

Pitcher Adam Brenneman allowed only a single hit in the complete-game win as he struck out six Elks. Brenneman was his own best friend at the plate as well, belting a three-run homer in the first inning to which he added five more RBI on a triple and a single. Trey Brenneman complimented that effort with a pair of singles of his own. For their part the Elks threw a total of four pitchers at TCI's batting lineup, only to be greeted with an eight-hit barrage overall and a seven-run outburst in the fourth inning.

TCI's tables turned in Ridgeley on Monday as Ridgeley VFW pitcher Justin Jenkins put on a "Brennemanesque" performance of his own by dominating TCI on the mound, at the plate, and on the basepaths in an 11-0 Ridgeley win, the home team's 10th straight victory.

Jenkins blanked TCI's batters with a no-hitter, struck out 12, and walked only three. He belted a two-run homer in the fourth inning after singling and stealing second, third, and home in the previous stanza. A trio of doubles and an RBI by Michael Hutchinson, a two-run single by Brandon Derrick, a run-scoring double by Josh Albert and a run-scoring single by Derrick Morgan filled out the Ridgeley attack.

Yesterday afternoon TCI rebounded for a one-run, 8-7 comeback win over Keyboard World at Northern High behind Trey Brenneman's two-run sixth-inning single.

Brenneman also drove in a run on a fourth-inning single, and Brian Schroyer added two singles and Ryan Brenneman contributed a double. Greg Whittemore started the game on the mound and was relieved by Cliff Everett in the third inning. In the sixth inning Adam Brenneman came on to take the win. Tim Thomas had two singles for Keyboard World.

TCI's upcoming slate of contests includes a Monday game at Garrett Community College against Fort Ashby, followed the next day by a visit to Allegany High School to take on the Cumberland Moose.

Western Garrett's week resulted in a 10-5 win over Cycle World on Friday and a 8-2 loss to Frankfort on Monday.

Keith Artice struck out seven Cycle World batters in his complete-game win, which was matched by seven strikeouts by losing pitcher Matt Miller. Garrett's Greg Speicher tripled, Bryan Lenhart doubled, and Jeremy Frazee, Mark Wolf, and Artice each singled twice. Eddie Kimbel doubled for Cycle World, one of only four hits allowed by Artice.

A road trip to Short Gap left Western Garrett's batters swinging at air as a trio of Frankfort pitchers, Matt Graziano, Justin Albright, and Josh Dolly, held the visitors to a lone hit. Frankfort's offense was led by a two-run single by Adam Tipton and a one-run single by Albright, and Graziano doubled as well.

Western Garrett will host Oldtown at Friendsville tonight, and will travel to Allegany College of Maryland to take on the Kiwanis Wednesday.

Grantsville Post #214 faltered in a big way Friday, as a combined one-hitter by Cumberland Optimist pitchers T.J. Smith and David Neff led the way to a 13-0 shutout win for the visitors.

Cumberland rocketed 17 hits off Grantsville's pitching, including a pair of two-run doubles and a single by Frank Izat. Chris Martin and Matt Lumm each doubled and singled twice, Smith singled three times, and Bobby Hadra added two singles. Grantsville's lone hit was a fourth-inning single by D. Hetrick.

Grantsville takes on the Cumberland Lions Tuesday in Cumberland.

Area Speedway Review

Interstate 79 Speedway

A record 10 features plus heat races gave a full night of racing action at Interstate 79 Speedway on Friday evening. After last week's early end to the evening because of rain, four make-up features were run followed by heat race and features for six divisions.

Doug Horton was victorious in the late model make-up to grab his second win of the year. Following Horton to the line were Mike Hawkins, Frank Wilson, Robbie Scott, and Tim Harsh.

Jerry Haseleu started his evening off with a win in the semi-late class. He held off a hard-charging Scott Chenoweth. Rounding out the top five were Steve Wilmoth, Greg Lemley, and Jon Messenger.

The UMP modified make-up event went to Steve Cook. He was followed to the line by Dave Defibaugh, Shawn Davis, Lonie Krushansky, and Sonny Stutler.

Jimmy Bendishaw bested the pure stockers as he was the winner over Gary Tonkery, Jay Martin, Doug Thompson, and Jeff Keasling. All feature winners were presented trophies by American Homes.

After the make-up features were completed, the heat races were run in the five regular divisions plus the dwarf cars. The fans saw 14 heats and 10 features for the admission price of $7.

The late model feature was two races in one. The battle for the top spot was between Mike Hawkins and Nolan Dalton. Dalton tried every possible move to get around and even pulled alongside Hawkins at one point but could not make the pass. While the battle raged up front, positions three through six were being contested by Tim Harsh, Scott Miles, Robbie Scott, and Paul Wilmoth Jr. These four drivers put on a show for fans as they ran side by side, even three abreast at times. At the finish, it was Hawkins getting the win in his spec motor #37 ahead of Dalton, Harsh, Scott, Miles, Wilmoth, Doug Horton, Frank Wilson, Jeff Thomas, and Mark Myers. Heat race winners were Harsh and Miles.

Jerry Haseleu was two for two in the feature department as he pulled off a win in the second feature also. He was followed by Duane Moreland, Rick Strickler, Chris Smith, and Jon Messenger. Moreland and Scott Chenoweth were heat winners.

Vic Vandergrift led the entire UMP modified feature as he pulled away from Shawn Davis, Sonny Stutler, Dave Defibaugh, and Louie Krushansky for the win. Heat wins went to Vandergrift, Gary Cooper, and Ron Clevenger.

The only perfect night belonged to Jimmy Bendishaw, who won all three races on Friday—the make-up feature, heat race, and feature event. Bendishaw showed the competition no mercy during the evening. Second through fifth were Jeff Kesling, Gary Tonkery, Doug Thompson, and John Maxwell. Jay Martin and Jim Byers also won heat races.

Dave Summers continued his winning ways in the 4 cylinder class. Mike Simpson, Jeff Pennington, Shawn Phillips and Sonny Crayton followed him to the checkered. Heats went to Summers and Simpson.

The once-a-month appearance by the dwarf cars fonnd John Cogar getting the victory ahead of Steve Mason, Terry Hall, Randy Triplett, and Paul Statta. Mason and Cogar won heats.

Racing will continue this Friday night at I-79 when it will be Pit Appreciation Night, with racing in five divisions being sponsored by Clinical & Pharmacologic Research Inc.

Weston, W.Va.'s, Tim Hitt took the home track advantage at Interstate 79 Speedway on Sunday evening to win the third race of the West Virginia State Championship Series.

Steve Francis bested the field of 37 late models by setting fast time of the night with a run of 16.568. Heat race winners were Dave Groves, Scott Hartley, and Paul Wilmoth. Steve Shaver won the fast dash.

The 22 car starting field came to the green flag paced by the front row of Shaver and Hitt. With Shaver jumping into the early lead, Hitt gave chase. Shaver led the first 13 circuits, with Hitt a close second. From laps 14 to 18, the duo ran side by side while diving through lapped traffic. On lap 19, Hitt used a lapped car to get by Shaver. From that point on, Hitt would not be denied the win.

The only caution to fly during the 40 lap event

MILLER IS TOP OUTLAW (RACER) - Local kart racer Jason Miller, above, dominated the action at the Outlaw Speedway Friday by winning both heat races in the gas and oil class and then lapping the entire field in the feature competition. Miller currently stands atop his class with four main event wins. Cody Hardesty took a stock medium class heat race and went on to win the "dash for cash" against the other top five racers in the class, and on his first night out in a brand-new kart he won the main event. A seven-kart pileup in the fourth corner stymied Jeremy Murphy's run from the back of the pack, as three karts were destroyed. Murphy then retired to the pits for good on lap eight.

FIRECRACKER REGATTA; JUNE SERIES AWARDS

by Dan Muse

The Firecracker Regatta this year had two races on Saturday and one on Sunday scheduled. Sailors always pray for wind just as skiers pray for snow, but the prayers are particularly strong for sailors on the fourth of July weekend. This is because every motorboat with a wet bottom is out tearing around the lake with throttle wide open and the water gets a bit "lumpy." Well, lumpy is OK if there is a solid breeze so the sailboat can power through, but if the winds are light the waves literally knock the wind out of our sails.

The weather forecast for Saturday was partly cloudy, although most of us could not see much "partly." The sky was heavy with low-lying dark clouds threatening rain and the wind was light, out of the west, but swinging northwest. But that really wasn't too bad because motorboaters do not tear around the lake much when it's threatening rain, so the sailing was actually quite nice—and it didn't rain—except for a little. So there were 35 sails out there in three fleets, and the first race went off without incident.

The sailors then headed into the Turkey Neck Yacht Club for lunch. After lunch the lake was smooth; what little wind there was had died and the sky still looked threatening. So the race commander wisely sounded two horns and raised the red and white postponement flag. He then announced that the second race was postponed to Sunday at noon and that the third race would go off immediately after we finished the second.

The weather forecast for Sunday was for a nice, sunny day, but the morning looked just like the day before; however, there was a good breeze out of the north and we sailed races two and three back to back and, sure enough, the sun came out and so did the motor boats. Just as we were finishing, the wind died and we lurched back to our moorings.

LETHAL WEAPON 4

Rated R - Running time: Unavailable

Who would have thought that Lethal Weapon (1987), a so-so action picture with a few clever lines, would ever have evolved into what it has become. At this point, putting Danny Glover and Mel Gibson together under the LW banner would probably be profitable no matter what kind of trash was produced. Fortunately, what is produced by director Richard Donner is definitely not trash; in fact, this series has matured over the years just like its characters. Lethal Weapon has mutated from a brainless shoot-em-up into a well-rounded character study, adding new wrinkles (literally) along the way, and allowing us to watch the characters expand into 3-dimensional people we actually care about.

The addition of a new principal character for each film has helped this series immeasuably: in LW, we had only an odd-couple of detectives: Roger Murtaugh (Glover), a family man who hates to take chances, and Martin Riggs (Gibson) a suicidal psycho who doesn't care and therefore loves extreme risk. In LW2 (1989), the irritating-but-lovable Leo Getz (Joe Pesci) was added, enhancing the humor aspect and elevating what would have been an abysmal sequel to at least the level of the first. By LW3 (1992), we were introduced to Lorna Cole (Rene Russo), the internal affairs cop who first suspects our duo of wrongdoing, but ends up as a third partner and Riggs's love interest. And now, in LW4, we have detective Lee Butters (Chris Rock), whose involvement with Murtaugh's now-adult daughter Risnne (played all four times by Traci Wolfe) adds a next-generation feel to the story.

The only problem I can see is for fans of the original film: the 1987 premise has virtually evaporated, and those who liked the first film for that device will be sorely disappointed. Gibson's Martin Riggs was really over his psychotic episode in LW2, and is now a full fledged family man with a wife and a baby on the way.

In fact, the family theme is so prevalent in this film it is practically driven home with a sledgehammer. Penned by Channing Gibson, it would almost be a "family film" except for violence and excessive use of the f-word (which, to be fair, is not written but ad-libbed).

In an action-oriented plot that seems included only as a side issue to the interpersonal relationship story, a group of illegal Chinese immigrants is discovered by our guys while trying to enter the country. But we soon learn that this isn't just a regular boatful of refugees; their passage has been bought in exchange for a kind of indentured servitude. Much like the old slaving days, the people on board will be "sold" to work off their ticket fare, perhaps for many years. When Murtaugh learns this, he can't help but associate it with the fates of his forefathers, and he decides to help a family by illegally adopting and smuggling them into the country.

But this was the wrong family to mess with. Their transport was arranged by killer Wah Sing Ku (Jet Li), in exchange for the exquisite artistry of another family member who is forced to produce counterfeit Chinese money against his will. The family is kidnapped from Murtaugh's home, and his own family is nearly killed in the process. So even as Piggs and Murtaugh await the arrival of their child and grandchild, respectively, they must get involved in another extremely dangerous pursuit to rescue the hostage family and bring justice to the perpetrators.

As usual, this film's action sequences are full of discrepancies, and, though exciting, sometimes go on until you're saying, "enough already!" The bad guy plot is dull and tiresome; the real charm of the film lies in its comedic elements and character relationships. The usual style of partially ad-libbed dialogue between the principals is used to great effect, and after 11 years together, the team clicks along like a well-oiled machine. Murtaugh's four family members have been played by the same actors all along, so we get a sense of the kids growing up in real time, and they are quite comfortable together. The bond between Riggs and Lorna also deepens. The ending is more like a romantic comedy than a cop thriller, but that style works better anyway. The only thing that doesn't fit now is the title. The next sequel can't possibly be called LW5. It'll have to be something like Three Men & Two Babies. ★★★★

News from Preston, Tucker, Grant and Mineral Counties.

ONE OF THE MANY UNITS in Saturday's parade was this 1929 fire truck displayed by volunteers from the Reedsville Volunteer Fire Department. The July 4 celebration and parade are sponsored by the Terra Alta Volunteer Fire Department, and they are joined each year by fire and rescue units from the tri-state area.

MISS FIREWORKS 1998 KAYLA ELY and her court were among the many units in Terra Alta's 4th of July Parade. Miss Ely, shown standing at the rear of the float, is joined by her maids of honor, Laina Smith, front, and Ashley Dawn Miller, facing opposite side. Seated in the center of the float are princesses Tracy Fields, front, and Hailey Fultz (with back to camera). Seated out of view were this year's flower girl Chelsie Fultz, and the crown bearer, Brody Barker.

TO THE DELIGHT OF THE CROWDS, Dr. Paul Getty performed a juggling act while riding his trademark unicycle through the nearly two miles of Terra Alta's parade route on Saturday morning.

Comptroller Louis Goldstein Dies; Barnes Appointed

Louis L. Goldstein, comptroller of Maryland and the longest serving state official in Maryland's history, died suddenly on July 3 at Calvert Memorial Hospital in Prince Frederick. He had served the state for 60 years, with 39 as comptroller, and had just filed for re-election to the post. He was 85 years old.

Governor Parris N. Glendening has named former U.S. Representative Michael D. Barnes to succeed Goldstein for the remainder of the term. Numerous individuals hurriedly filed Monday to vie for the position in the state election this fall. The candidates include former governor William Donald Schaefer, Baltimore comptroller Joan M. Pratt, former Baltimore City council president Mary Pat Clarke, and former Maryland senator Julian L. Lapides.

Eileen M. Rehrmann, candidate for governor, reportedly resisted other Democrats' suggestion that she abandon her race against Glendening and run instead for comptroller.

Glendening selected Barnes after what he referred to as a "frantic two days" of discussion with other public officials and potential appointees.

"No one ever can replace Louie Goldstein," Glendening said. "But Mike Barnes brings many of Louie's attributes to the comptroller's office."

Barnes, a Democrat from Montgomery County, has been out of office since losing the 1986 primary for the U.S. Senate to Barbara A. Mikulski. He reported stated that the governor's appointment has "gotten his adrenalin flowing" to reenter the political arena.

Louis Goldstein was born in Prince Frederick, Calvert County, on March 14, 1913. He was educated in Baltimore City and Calvert County public schools, at Washington College, Chestertown, Maryland (B.S., 1935), and the University of Maryland School of Law (J.D., 1938). He was an elected delegate from Calvert County to the Maryland General Assembly from 1939 to 1942, at which time he enlisted in the U.S. Marine Corps as a private. He was discharged in 1946 as a first lieutenant, having served in the Asiatic and Pacific theaters. He was a captain (retired) in the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve.

Goldstein was a state senator from Calvert County from 1947 through 1958. In 1958, he was elected as comptroller of the treasury, and was re-elected in 1962, 1966, 1970, 1974, 1978, 1982, 1986, 1990, and 1994.

Goldstein was married for 48 years to the late Hazel Goldstein, with whom he had shared a legal practice in Prince Frederick until he was elected comptroller. The couple had three children: Philip, Louisa, and Margaret.

Goldstein's body lay in state under the rotunda of the Maryland State House on Monday. The remains were transported Tuesday, under a state police honor guard escort, to Calvert County for a service at the Trinity United Methodist Church in Prince Frederick. Interment was in the Wesley Cemetery, next to the deceased's wife's remains, and a 21-gun salute was rendered for the veteran.

The family requested that no flowers be sent, but contributions in Goldstein's name may be made to the Calvert Memorial Hospital or to the comptroller's alma mater, Washington College in Chestertown.

W.E. Walters Enters Race For Treasurer

W.E. "Walt" Walters, Grantsville, has entered the race for Garrett County treasurer. He is currently employed at Diehl's Ford Sales in Grantsville as the auto detailing manager.

Walters, a registered Democrat, is married to the former Teresa Ann Burns of Hampton, Va., and the couple has four children: Hannah, Caleb, Ruthanne, and Jesse.

At Diehl's Ford, Walters is responsible to keep each vehicle cleaned and fueled for clients purchasing new or pre-owned vehicles. The candidate is also the Thursday afternoon paper deliverer for The Republican newspaper, bringing the publication to numerous businesses in the northern part of the county. The delivery job was created by Walters and editor Don Sincell in response to the wishes of residents in that part of the county who had not been receiving their papers until Friday.

Previous employers of the candidate have been Brown and Root Construction Co., the Cumberland Times-News, Freedom Chapel, Curtis Chimney Service, Service Master of Allegany County, Western Maryland Food Bank, and LaVale Chapel.

Walters is a U.S. Air Force veteran with four years of service, 1983-1987. He was honorably discharged. During his service, he was with the 1st Civil Engineering Squadron stationed at the Langley Air Force Base, Va. His field contingency training consisted of RRR (Rapid Runway Repair), a division of the Prime BEEF (Base Engineer Emergency Force). He began service as an airman basic in San Antonio, Texas. After basic training, he went to Wichita Falls, Texas, to attend plumbing technical school with the 3775th Squadron.

After tech school, Walters went to Langley, where he progressed through the ranks of Airman First Class, Senior Airman, and Sergeant E-4. He also graduated from the Non-Commissioned Officers Leadership School.

Awards he received included the AF Training Ribbon, Good Conduct Medal, Outstanding Unit Award, Small Arms Expert Marksmanship Ribbon, and the Air Force Achievement Medal.

Walters said his desire is to work for the people of Garrett County.

"If elected, my aims are to gain the trust of all the taxpayers and to answer taxpayer questions when asked," Walters said. He encouraged local residents who are not registered to vote to register as Democrats.

"The people do make a difference in Garrett County and I will not be able to make it without your vote," the candidate said.

Teresa Ann Walters is serving as the candidate's campaign manager. Persons who wish to contact Walters may call him at 301-895-3827 or write to him at 1182 Springs Road, Grantsville, MD 21536-1223.

FIRE SMART KIDS is the name of a safety brochure that has been produced as a joint project between the Deer Park Community Volunteer Fire Department and the MFWC Civic Club of Oakland, and their product has garnered several local and state awards. In the photo above, Deer Park firefighters Richard Wildesen and Charlie Harvey proudly display the Maryland State Fireman's Association and the Garrett/Allegany Association awards for fire prevention, Special Project division. The awards were presented at the MSFA convention in June. Below, Civic Club members Dorothy Cethell and Martha Jachowski display first-place certificates awarded the club by the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs for safety and the MFWC Western District for "Cherish a Child." The brochure, developed for use with very young children, was illustrated by another club member and retired local art teacher, Pat Fitzinger. The third printing of the brochure was distributed to local grade schools and continues to be available to Head Start centers. TAKE A HIKE - How about a 1,200-mile hike? That is what the Patrick brothers, Dan left, and Parry, did. They walked out of Macon City, Iowa, on June 2 bound for Washington, D.C. Trekking along Route 40, they passed through Garrett County last week and stopped for a chat, and a well-deserved rest, on a steep grade coming out of Grantsville. They hope the documentary video of the trip will highlight what is good about America today. There was to be a reception for the duo in D.C. on July 4th.

You Can Get There From Here

Walking To Washington With Positive Message For Youth

by Peggy Santamaria

The Patrick brothers from Mason City, Iowa, had a feeling that good, neighborly people could be found anywhere one might travel across the country. So they set out to see if their speculations were accurate. They did so on foot.

On June 2, Perry S. Patrick Sr. and Dan Patrick, both military veterans, laced up their Nikes and hit the bricks. They were headed for Washington, D.C., with the goal of documenting their journey on film. The video product they hoped would tell the positive tale of people reaching out to help other people. "We wanted to make this documentary to be shown in schools for kids in grades 5 to 8," Perry said.

What were the Patrick men finding as they trudged along the hundreds of miles of asphalt? Stopping for a chat last week on the steep upward grade of Route 40 east of Grantsville, the men had only good things to say about the 900 miles they had logged up to that point. "America is a positive place. There are solid, hard-working, God-fearing people everywhere we go," Perry said. "It's awesome to see."

Another message they want to convey to young people is that it is possible to achieve the goals one sets. "There are helping hands out there. You just need to open doors. People will help you if you are not afraid to reach out," they concurred.

Traveling with the Patricks was a camera crew filming at various stops on the route. The crew was waiting for them in Cumberland as Dan and Perry walked their three-wheeled cycle with its wire basket full of water bottles along the old National Pike.

The Patricks hoped that their journey and their message might encourage young people to set out on their own adventures in life — to choose what they want to accomplish and "go for it."

The shirts that the brothers wore were printed with the statement, "Making Life Choices Inc." This is the name the Patricks selected for its reflection of their mission.

"I promised God while I was in Desert Storm that if I got out alive and got back to my family again, I would do something to make a difference," Perry explained.

Brother Dan joined with Perry to fulfill that promise by doing something very tangible to encourage young people to take responsibility for the directions they go in life, just as the Patrick brothers selected their journey of 1,200 miles and stuck to it through treacherous weather and physical pain.

"We plan to arrive in Washington, D.C., by July 4th," Dan said. A reception for the brothers was to be given by Sen. Grassley from Iowa, he explained. "We'd like to see the president while we're there," Perry smiled.

With admittedly aching, sore feet but unflagging spirits, the Patrick brothers from Mason City, Iowa, took their leave, heading for their rendezvous in Cumberland. Along with the many water bottles in the wire basket, they carried with them a copy of The Republican.

Anyone wishing to contribute to the Patrick brothers's non-profit project may write to them at Making Life Choices Inc., P.O. Box 535, Mason City, IA 50401.

THE FOURTH ANNUAL FARM SAFETY DAY CAMP, sponsored by the Agricultural Care & Education (ACE) Program in conjunction with Progressive Farmer magazine and the University of Maryland and West Virginia University Cooperative Extension services, will be held on Saturday, July 25, from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry. Nearly 200 children and teens attended last year's camp, which teaches young people about farming's safety hazards. The cost of the camp is just $5.00, which includes lunch, snacks, a T-shirt and packet of safety materials. For more information or to register for the camp, those interested may call Garrett County Memorial Hospital at 301-334-2155, ext. 453 or the Garrett County Health Department at 301-334-8111. Pictured above are the 1997 Farm Safety Day Camp participants. For more information on this year's Farm Safety Day Camp, see separate article.

Farm Safety Day Camp Set For July 25

The Agricultural Care & Education (ACE) Program of Garrett County Memorial Hospital, the Garrett County Health Department and the Maryland Institute for Emergency Medical Services (MIEMSS), in conjunction with Progressive Farmer magazine and the University of Maryland and West Virginia University Cooperative Extension services, will host the fourth annual Farm Safety Day Camp on Saturday, July 25.

The Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry will serve as the site for the camp, which targets children and teens ages 9 to 18 who are involved in farming or the timber industry. The day-long camp, which teaches participants to be aware of safety hazards on farms, will take place from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Students attending or assisting with the camp may earn credit toward their service learning requirement.

Classes will be age appropriate and will feature interactive activities, according to Charlotte Garner, project director. "This year's topics will include basic first aid, an agriculture JeopardyTM game, animal safety, and other new and exciting classes dealing with health and safety designed for different interests and ages," explained Garner.

Garner noted that the continued success of Garrett County's camp is due in large part to community support. "A lot of people volunteer their time and expertise as instructors, group leaders and general staff support to make this camp such a success," she said.

Progressive Farmer is published by the Southern Progress Corporation, which also publishes Southern Living, Southern Accents and Cooking Light magazines, as well as Oxmoor House books. The Birmingham, Ala.-based company is the largest regional publisher of books and magazines in the country.

The deadline to register for the Farm Safety Day Camp is July 17. A fee of $5.00 per participant includes the cost of lunch, snacks, T-shirt and packet of safety materials. For more information, or to register or assist with the camp, those interested may call Garrett Memorial at 301-334-2155, ext. 453 or Community Health Education and Outreach, Garrett County Health Department, at 301-334-8122.

(The project described was supported by grant number CSD000190 from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, and its contents are solely the responsibility of the authors and do not necessarily represent the official views of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.)

TOWN NEWS

The mayor and town council have accepted the proposal from Deep Creek Refuge to do the town's trash hauling. The three-year contract becomes effective immediately and trash removal will be the same day and time as before.

Concerns have been voiced by citizens about speeders on Maple Street and the loud noise of car stereos. Citizens are encouraged to notify the state police or sheriff's department with these complaints.

Preliminary work on the paving of some of the town streets has begun. As soon as the Garrett County Sanitary District is finished with all of its drain work, Keystone will finish paving.

The mayor and town council have applied for a $25,000 grant through the state's Waterway Improvement Program. If the grant is approved they plan to use it to improve the changing room facilities at the town park by putting restrooms and electrical service in the facilities. They also plan to improve the parking area by the changing rooms.

A reported concern of the mayor and town council is the continuing "trashing" of the restrooms during ball tournaments. They would like to again encourage everyone in charge to keep an eye on these facilities. Also, garbage cans at the town park are continually being upset, and citizens are urged to watch for this vandalism and to report to the mayor and town council if they witness this act.

At the request of the mayor and town council, the Garrett County Roads Department has rolled all of the fields at the town park.

Therefore, if residents have any questions or feel there are problems with their cable bills, they are asked to inform FrontierVision at the 1-800 number printed on the bill.

Local Literacy Council Members Attend Conference

The Garrett County Literary Council recently sent a delegation to the biennial conference of Laubach Literacy Action in Columbus, Ohio. The local Literacy Council is a non-profit group of volunteers who provide literacy services to adults and older youth in Garrett County, and local representatives who attended the four-day conference included Amy Rolf, Susan Friend, Wayne Caple, Lorraine Ledden, and Bonnie Evans.

The Laubach Conference drew tutors, tutor trainers, literacy program managers, volunteers, and students from Laubach Literacy Action, the nation's largest literacy organization. The event, the 15th such conference, featured more than 100 educational seminars, a technology center, an exhibit hall, and a bookstore by Laubach's publishing division, New Readers Press.

"Conference highlights included a speech by former U.S. Senator Paul Simon," Evans said. Co-sponsor of the 1991 National Adult Literacy Act and a longtime literacy advocate, Simon was also the first recipient of Laubach's Paul Simon Literacy Award. Evans added that the conference also featured recognition of the work of tutors, trainers, and program managers in the literacy field through awards and student testimonials.

Laubach Literacy Action is the U.S. program division of Laubach Literacy, the oldest and largest literacy organization in the world. Laubach Literacy is a non-profit educational corporation dedicated to helping adults of all ages improve their lives and their communities by learning reading, writing, and problem-solving skills. Founded in 1955 by literacy pioneer Dr. Frank C. Laubach, the organization has 1,058 member programs throughout the United States and 68 partner programs in 34 developing countries in Africa, Asia, Latin America, and the Caribbean.

Persons interested in obtaining more information about the Garrett County Literacy Council or who may be interested in volunteering may call 301-334-8606.

St. John's Lutheran Sets New Services

St. John's Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, is adding a new regularly scheduled evening worship service beginning July 19. St. John's Lutheran, located on Cove Road near Northern High School, will be offering the new worship service at 7:30 p.m. each Sunday.

"In an effort to achieve our church's mission of building on the past, striving for the future, and reaching out with Jesus Christ, we are pleased to announce this new and exciting opportunity to worship, especially for those who might otherwise be unable to," said Rev. Douglas R. Kabell, pastor of St. John's.

"Offered as an alternative to the traditional Sunday morning worship, this service will be a casual celebration of worship and praise," Kabell continued. "While Sunday evening worship services have been a tradition for many Evangelical churches, this is a totally new concept for our congregation. Our members are so excited, they have been telling everyone [about it].

"If you are unable to worship on Sunday morning due to work, lifestyle, or other commitments, you are invited to join in this time of celebration. Come in your shorts or whatever you feel comfortable wearing," said Kabell.

St. John's Missouri Synod Lutheran Church is located at 1065 Cove Road. Persons interested in more information may call the church at 301-746-8466.

Betty's Doll House

BETTY'S DOLL HOUSE - Pictured above are just a few of the beautiful and unique dolls to be found at Betty's Doll House at the Baldwin Cottage in Mountain Lake Park. The shop can be reached by calling 301-334-5607.

Having recently purchased the Baldwin Cottage at 311 N Street in Mountain Lake Park, circa 1882-83, Betty DiCarlo has opened a doll and doll accessory shop in her home. Called Betty's Doll House, the shop offers handcrafted porcelain dolls, carriages, benches, chairs and other doll accessories. Some of the dolls are porcelain limited editions. She also has an heirloom-quality line of handcrafted and hand painted children's furniture.

Victorian prints by Mildred Wyatt are also available. Betty says that in keeping with the style of her home, she has Victorian Santas and angels, also.

"Having formally owned Crafty Critters, I feel I have once again returned to business, in a smaller scale but still looking for the unusual," Betty said.

The shop hours are Wednesday through Saturday from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. or by appointment. The shop can be reached by calling 301-334-5607.

Teachers Attend RESA Workshop

AN ADVANCED CALCULATOR-BASED WORKSHOP, sponsored by the Regional Education Service Agency, was held recently at Allegany College in Cumberland for Western Maryland public school teachers. Among those teachers from Garrett County who participated in the workshop were, from left above, Betsy Deem and Liz McDowell, both of Northern High School, and Charlee Plauger of Southern High School. See story.

Teachers from Allegany, Garrett, and Washington county school systems recently attended an advanced calculator-based workshop at Allegany College of Maryland in Cumberland, sponsored by the Regional Education Service Agency in cooperation with Project CREST and the county boards of education. Science supervisor Karen Bundy, Allegany County Board of Education, facilitated the workshop.

Nusret Hisim of Walkersville High School in Frederick County was presenter in the morning session. As a review of the Introductory CBL Workshop held in the fall, Hisim went over sources for the CBL equipment, lab books, and software. He reviewed how to load GraphLink and Vernier software onto a computer, how to load the CBL programs into the calculator using TI-GraphLink, and how to copy programs from one calculator to another by having teachers load the programs they would need for the day's workshop. He then demonstrated several applications of the CBL technology in earth science, biology, chemistry, and physics classes.

Workshop participants spent the remainder of the morning completing investigations titled Acid Rain, An Insulated Cola Bottle and Sugar Fermentation in Yeast, which gave them experience using various probeware.

In the afternoon, teachers completed two additional investigations titled Teaching Enzyme Action Using CBL Technology and Physical Fitness: Physiology of the Cardiovascular System Using Vernier and Logal Software and CPL Probeware. Both of the afternoon investigations are model lesson plans for meeting the Science Core Learning Goals.

Presenters for the sessions were Stephanie Winner of Flintstone School and Kevin Wallace of Allegany High School. Steve Wilson, Westmar High School, and Gene Pustolski, Fort Hill High School, assisted during the day in downloading information.

Funding for the calculator-based laboratory workshop was provided through the CREST Program, a federally funded effort through the Maryland Higher Education Commission and Prince George's Community College. The RESA director, Frank Peto, stated, "RESA-member institutions have benefited enormously for a number of years from CREST funds that provided staff development workshops such as the CBL for teachers in Western Maryland. The CREST grant ended June 30. The benefits of the program will be realized by the three county boards of education for many years yet to come."

We have it all.

Trip Planned To Renaissance Faire In Pa.

The Friends of the House of Hope are sponsoring a bus trip to the Pennsylvania Renaissance Faire near Lancaster, Pa., on Monday, Aug. 3. The Faire is billed as "an authentic 35 acres re-creation of a 16th century village in merrie olde England."

Tickets are $44 per person and include the bus trip and admission into the festival. DeWitt Charters in Accident is providing the bus at a special discount, and all proceeds from the event will benefit the House of Hope.

"This is a great family-oriented activity and it is a great way to help an organization which has been serving local families for the past 20 years," said Carol Slawson, fund-raising chair.

Activities at the Faire, which has been named one of the Top Ten Events in Pennsylvania, include a costumed cast of merry-makers, Elizabethan food and drink, crafts from the guildsmen of the Elizabethan era, and games of skill.

The Faire site boasts over 100 authentic Tudor structures, including 12 stages and a three-story re-creation of Shakespeare's Globe Theater. There will be over 60 shows daily, including battles with lances and shields, performed by the Faire's five-member jousting troupe.

Special events for children include puppet shows, sword swallowing, juggling, rope walking, miscellaneous performances, and a petting zoo.

The bus will leave Accident at 6 a.m. on Aug. 3 and return at 9 p.m. Tickets are available at Just Us Styling & Tanning Salon and Animal Crackers Pet Grooming, both located in Accident, and at Pizzazz Pizzeria at Wisp Resort in McHenry. Interested persons may call 301-746-6344 for further information.

SOLD

Dear Mr. Huebner:
My husband and I recently purchased a home in the Monte Vista development of Deep Creek Lake. We want to let you know how extremely pleased we were with the service and attention given to us in our search for the ideal vacation home by one of your agents, Mrs. Goldie Shugars. . . We were told by friends who had previously bought at the lake that Goldie at Coldwell Banker was the agent we should ask to help us. . . From the moment we met Goldie . . until our closing just 3 weeks ago, we wholeheartedly have agreed with our friends. Goldie was always available to answer our questions, was unfailingly correct in her answers, and was consistently patient with us even as we changed our minds . . . Her professional manner and pleasant personality are real assets to your office. . . We will recommend Goldie as an ideal agent to any of our friends who may also be searching for homes in the lake area.
Very Truly Yours,
Mr. and Mrs. Michael Scott

EACH DAY CAN BE A NEW BEGINNING

With certain few exceptions your body has the means to restore itself. If your muscles are weak, you can exercise to increase your strength. If a bone is broken, it can be healed.

If your body does not serve you well, you can assist it to do a better job. Whatever the problem, the odds are that your physicians can help you correct it. Depend less on self-treatments and more on a physician's guidance. You will save much sickness, time.

There seems to be a continual search for the fountain of youth. We search for it in bottles filled with liquids guaranteed to erase our wrinkles. We search for youth in nutrition stores and health spas. We search for it in cosmetic procedures that only hold the tides of time at bay.

This couple is no longer young in years. Wrinkles have cut furrows in the landscape of youth. Cataracts have clouded the blue of their eyes. Age has overtaken agility in the race against time. Yet, there is something that time cannot touch.

What sustains their love after all these years? If asked, each still sees the other as the handsome young man and the beautiful young woman who fell in love so long ago. Lasting love is forever young.

Look deeply into the eyes of your beloved. If the spark of love is there you have no fear, for the fountain of youth lies in the eyes of the beloved.

WISE UP!
July 12, 1998

Background Scripture:
Proverbs 2:1-15
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 53:1-6

Children are often confused about the words they hear in church. As a boy, I thought the words in the Apostles' Creed meant that Jesus was coming to "quicken" the dead. So I do not find it hard to believe a colleague of mine who said that in his younger years he always thought the hymn was "Wise Up, O Men of God."

Every time I sing that hymn I think of that alternate wording and contemplate that many times in our lives it would be quite relevant. Men and women of God often need to "wise up" as well as "rise up." In fact, there is some danger in "rising up" before we "wise up."

Many years ago when I first read

Va. Volunteers Assist In Local Habitat Efforts

Volunteer workers from outside the area have arrived in Western Maryland to join forces with local workers. Garrett County Habitat for Humanity Inc. recently welcomed its first work camp group for this summer. The group is from Lewinsburg Presbyterian Church, McLean, Va.

Barbara Briggs, executive director of Garrett County Habitat, said that the assistance provided by such groups is essential. "Our work could not be done without the help of volunteers who come in from outside our area," she stated.

The volunteers are staying at the Pleasant Valley Community Center and are using shower facilities at Southern High School. Breakfast and lunch foods have been provided by Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty, and evening meals will be served at several locations.

Dinner for the volunteers will be prepared on Monday by the Oakland Church of Christ, on Tuesday by Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty, on Wednesday by Habitat board of directors with chicken provided by the Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club, and on Thursday by the Gortner Amish community.

Habitat workers are currently building two homes on Wheeling Street, Mtn. Lake Park. Anyone interested in volunteering to work on this project may contact the Habitat office at 301-334-9431, ext. 113.

Good Will At Goodwill

News From Goodwill Retirement Village
by Clara Withnell

We finally planted the garden between showers. The onions and sage that wintered over are so fragrant that residents said they reminded then of turkey and dressing. We're hoping for a good growing season for the celery, cucumbers, tomatoes, crookneck squash, peppers, and cabbage. The marigolds should protect the vegetables from the bugs and also add color.

Everyone enjoyed the car rides to Mt. Davis to see the beautiful mountain laurel. Another nature note: Jim Doyle of the maintenance department brought horse-hair in early April and now we're seeing it around the grounds as building material in birds' nests.

Goodwill's contribution to the Grantsville Days Parade was a float titled "Good Old Days and Priceless Antiques." It won first prize in the non-profit category. Ed Yoder donated and drove the tractor that pulled the float carrying Lawrence Hartle, Carney Silber, David Pryor, Claude Maust, Emaline Carter, Helen Shay, Amanda Wilburn, and Elleu Saunders. Verda Tice rode on the back, scrubbing clothes on a washboard and then hung them on a clothes line.

Walkers who handed out candy to children were Frank Withnell, Anthony Lehman, Mona Yoder, Sandy Frye, Helen Resh, Una Rounds, Peggy Leasure, Phyllis Tice, Betty Mitchell, Valerie Bender, Levi Schmuck, Verna Bender, and Josh Pritts (Jackie Pritts' son) with his beagle dog, Maggie. The people who worked on the float included: Terry Kemp, Una Rounds, Peggy Leasure, Kevin Yoder, Frank Withnell, Verna Bender, Rachel Bender, and Anthony Lehman.

We're grateful to St. John's Lutheran Church from the Cove, which hosted a birthday party on June 8. Honorees were Lawrence Hartle, Ethel Maust, Edith Kennedy, Catherine Thomas, and Freda Moser, who is a resident member.

Mars Hill Homemakers brought the tea party on June 22. Two of our residents, Ruth Kinsinger and Margaret Durst, are former members.

We really appreciate volunteers like Ruthie Knepp, a pre-teen who had been here with Springs Elemeatary School for balloon tennis and asked if she could come back over the summer vacation.

Chapels were provided by: Irv Huston of Westernport Church of the Brethren (Nellie Bonner's church); Bill Davis of the Church of the Brethren (Dorothy Thompson and Abe Blake's church); Tim Fetterly of Goodwill's maintenance department, from Meadow Mt. Mennonite Church; and Alan Birkby of Harvest Baptist Church.

Programs presented through June were the following: Swanton Mennonite Church, 12 a cappella singers; Brethren Quartet from Salisbury Church of the Brethren (Edna Robison's church); John Yoder of Living Water Church in Meyersdale gave a good Memorial Day tribute; Sarah Jane Lichty played the organ; and Bill and Marian Morgan played the organ and sang.

Bill and Anue Smouse came all the way from beyond Flintstone to play the guitar and sing; Maple Glen Mennonite Church, a cappella singers; Saud Spring Blue Grass singers: Centenary Methodist Church with a 14-member choir and organ (Dorothy and Jack Smouse's church); Jennings Church of God; Ross Glotfelty, piano and singing; Cherry Glade Mennonite Church children sang; St. John's Lutheran Church Kitchen Band (Augusta Witkowski's church); and Sand Springs Church of God played the piano and sang.

Jack Smith, recuperating from bypass surgery came from beyond Hancock to play the banjo and sing; the Hare family sang; the Glory Bound Singers, including Linda Lancaster, LPN, and Wilma Hutzel and Helen Newman of the dietary staff; Jim Miller; Trinity Assembly of God, piano and singing; World Lighthouse Worship Center, tapes and preaching; and children from the Methodist Church Bible School.

Betty Jo Wiley came as a sub even though it was inconvenient; Reverend Dwight Yinkey from the Full Gospel Church; Oak Dale 4-H Club sang; Cherina Lehman, sister of our assistant administrator, Anthony Lehman, played hymns on the organ; Glendale Assembly of God; Swanton Mennonite Church sang a cappella with kids; Starlighters of Berlin; Glade Mennonite Church, piano program; Elmer Beachy of Mountain View Christian Fellowship; and Blooming Rose Methodist Church.

We sincerely appreciate all the volunteers who take their time and talents to come from all over for our chapels and programs.

The Villagers enjoyed another brown-bag lunch with slides by Henry and Mary Yoder of Henry's trip to the near East. We want to welcome Stefan and Alina Jodkwski, who have finally moved into tha village.

A GOOD TIME WAS HAD BY ALL - Grantsville Days, sponsored by the Lions Club and supported by local businesses and community members, offered a weekend for fun and entertainment for children — no matter what their age. Though the skies were gray with rain for much of the festival, spirits were not dampened by the showers. While the pungent aroma of barbecued chicken drifted across the town park and strains of music rang through the air, crowds gathered to cheer on competitors in the tractor pull, top left. Those too young to drive a tractor enjoyed the Barrels of Fun, top center. Others just wanted to bounce around a bit, and they were able to do so in the "moon walk," top right. Getting in the spirit of the event, lots of folks went in for face painting and balloon hats. Fair weather or foul, the 21st annual Grantsville Days celebration was enjoyed by all. The Homemakers Corner

by Joan Schultz

Public Relations Chairperson

The Garrett County FCE Homemakers recently held their annual Achievement Day program at the Bloomington Methodist Church. The ladies of the Bloomington charge hosted the program and once again did a splendid job.

President Opal Fazenbaker opened the program with a welcome presentation. After a brief discussion on topics of interest to the organization, election and installation of officers took place. Elected were: Ann Mitter, vice president and Ellen Shillingberg, treasurer. President Opal Fazenbaker and secretary Mary Simpson have one year left to serve in their posts.

Award certificates were then presented to members for the Homemakers of the Year, Perfect Attendance, and Years of Service to the Homemaker organization.

The 1998 Humanitarian awards were presented to Janna Naylor and Shirley Knowles for their dedication, time, and efforts, which they so generously gave on their recent mission trip to Peru. Janna and Shirley attended our program and shared with us some of their experiences and also gave us a slide presentation about the trip.

They were part of a group whose goal was to travel to a village in Peru, where they would install plumbing and toilets for people with no such facilities. Due to the adverse conditions under which they had to travel, modern equipment could not be taken; therefore, hand tools were used to do all the digging and any other work to be done. They made their own version of a wheel barrow to do any hauling of rocks and materials. A generator provided two hours of electricity each day. The people in the village lived in one-room shacks; women and children slept in a bed, while the men slept in hammocks.

This presentation helped us realize how fortunate we are to be living in such a wonderful country as America. This weekend as all of us are celebrating the Fourth of July, let's take a moment to think of all the people in other countries who live in such adverse conditions.

Children, Family Mental Health Guides Available

As many as 230,000 Maryland children may experience a mental health problem at some point in their lives. Yet only a small fraction of these children receive the help they need. The Mental Health Association of Maryland has released two new publications to help parents and families recognize the warning signs of mental health problems.

Your Child's Mental Health: A Resource Guide for Families focuses on recognizing behavioral, emotional, and mental health problems and finding appropriate services for children and families. It includes sections on working with the school system, accessing community resources, and paying for care through private insurance or public assistance.

Its companion brochure, Your Child's Mental Health: What Every Parent Should Know, helps parents better understand the warning signs of mental health problems and overcome the barriers that often become obstacles to seeking help.

Your Child's Mental Health: A Resource Guide for Families and Your Child's Mental Health: What Every Parent Should Know are publications of the "Caring for Every Child's Mental Health" education campaign. The materials are available, free of charge, from the Mental Health Association of Maryland by calling 410-235-1178.

The Mental Health Association of Maryland is the state's only voluntary citizens' organization concerned with all aspects of mental health and mental illness. Since 1919, the Mental Health Association has operated education, public policy, and community service projects for children and their families.

Quaid turns director for Everything That Rises

Dennis Quaid

An unexpected tragedy reconciles an alienated father and son in Everything That Rises, a heartwarming family drama premiering Sunday, July 12, on TNT.

Leading man Dennis Quaid makes his directorial debut with this TV movie co-starring Emmy winner Mare Winningham along with Harve Presnell and Ryan Merriman (both from The Pretender).

Quaid plays Montana rancher Jim Clay, a proud but taciturn husband and father whose upbringing was lacking in tenderness following the early death of his mother.

Clay's patient wife, Kyle (Winningham), has accepted her husband's emotional aloofness, but his young son, Nathan (Merriman), strives to break through his father's reserve.

When a freak driving accident leaves Nathan paralyzed from the waist down, Jim almost shuts down, unable to cope with the tragedy.

As Kyle, with uncharacteristic firmness, tries to force her husband to confront his responsibilities, it falls to veteran ranch hand Garth (Presnell) to devise a strategy to give Nathan a new reason to live.

The climactic reconciliation between father and son is intensely moving in its simplicity, achieving the same level of impact as the final father-and-son scenes in Field of Dreams.

"Yeah, I think this story really hits anyone who ever has been a father or a son," Quaid says. "I hope everyone is as moved as you evidently were."

The actor, who stars in a remake of The Parent Trap due in theaters this summer, says he looked for a project to direct for some time, but hadn't found the right vehicle.

When he read Everything, Quaid says he intuitively understood the character of Jim.

"My own father wasn't like Jim Clay," he explains. "Actually, my dad was pretty touchy-feely, although there were some other problems we had to deal with. But I've lived in Montana for about 20 years now, and I've met and known guys just like Jim Clay."

While viewers may be put off by Jim's emotional remoteness in the early scenes, Quaid says it's important to understand the man's internal struggle.

"The thing is, Jim wants to be a good father, but he doesn't know how," he explains. "He never got that from his own father. But he tries. He really, really tries hard."

Quaid didn't set out to cast himself in the lead, but directing himself wasn't that big a deal, he says.

"Even when you are deeply into a scene, there's always that little director in your head that is monitoring how and what you are doing," he explains. "If an actor tells you he completely loses himself in a scene, he's lying – or at least exaggerating."

"Besides, that was one less actor I had to worry about as a director," he adds with a laugh.

A very human drama that plays out against spectacular Montana scenery, Everything That Rises is family television at its best.

Keri Russell

Q: In the TV movie The Lottery, I noticed an exciting young actress named Keri Russell. I think I also saw her in a recent TV series set in medieval Ireland. What can you tell me about her background? –Jim via e-mail.

A: The executives at the WB Network hope a lot of other people share your interest, Jim, because the mini-network has signed Russell, 22, to star next season in their Ally McBeal clone, Felicity.

The young actress began her career in 1991 when she joined MMC, the most recent TV incarnation of The Mickey Mouse Club. After leaving that show in 1993, she co-starred in the series Emerald Cove and Daddy's Girls, before landing the prominent role of Chloe Walker in Aaron Spelling's teen soaper Malibu Shores.

She played Claire in the Fox cult hit Roar last summer and will juggle her Felicity duties with a starring role in Mad About Mambo, a drama to be filmed in Ireland, set for release next year. Keep an eye on Russell, she's going places.

Q: On Knots Landing, who was the actor who played the husband of Laura? My husband says it was Kevin Spacey, but I say no way. –F.L.S. via e-mail.

A: Laura, played by Constance McCashin, was married twice during the show's run. She divorced her first husband, Richard Avery (John Pleshette), after discovering his affair with Abby Cunningham (Donna Mills).

Later, she married Sen. Gregory Sumner (William Devane) before dying of a brain tumor.

Q: My mother insists that Telly Savalas starred in a recent Outer Limits episode called "Re-Generation." I told her that Savalas was dead, and it was Daniel Benzali, who also starred in Murder at 1600. What else can you tell me about Benzali? –R.F.W., Owensboro, Ky.

A: First, you're right: Savalas died in 1994, and former Murder One star Benzali was in both projects you mention.

A native of Rio de Janeiro, Benzali, 48, was well regarded on the London stage, starring as Juan Peron in Evita and Max the butler in Sunset Boulevard.

The actor currently is in the United Kingdom filming All the Little Animals with Christian Bale and John Hurt. Respect, in which he stars with Helen Baxendale (Friends) and Dudley Moore, is due out soon.

Q: Did Doug Savant (Godzilla) also star in Major Dad? –Norm Mosher via e-mail.

A: No. You may be thinking of Matt Mulhern, who played Holowachuk on that sitcom.

PETERSHEIM FAMILY RELEASES TAPE - The Petersheim Family has released Homeward Bound, the Pleasant Valley singing group's first cassette recording. Among the 16 selections of a cappella gospel songs is an original work, "Chosen Few," written by local musical artist Shelly Uphole. Recorded in January, the tape is now available at Gragg's Pharmacy, Weber's flower shop, Lamplighter Christian Books, and the Valley View County Store, or by contacting the Petersheim Family at 301-334-9640. "Homeward Bound represents two things," said family patriarch Paul Petersheim, "first, because our family is rapidly maturing we wanted something permanent to remember our singing by; and second, we wanted to honor the requests of many of our friends who have been asking us for a recording. We knew it would be a lot of work, but it's been worth it." The Petersheims are shown above: from left the women are Rachel, Naomi, Deborah, and Rebecca, to whom the family has dedicated the tape; the men are Paul, Matthew, Michael, and Joshua.

GCC Foundation Awards Scholarships To Local High School Graduates

MICHELLE MOLZ

MATTHEW FLETCHER

A pair of recent Garrett County high school graduates have been awarded Move-Along-A-Thon scholarships, annually awarded by the Garrett Community College Foundation, according to advancement officer Bretta Reinhard. Thon are among the approximately 50 scholarships that the GCC Foundation bestows each year.

Michelle Molz, daughter of Thomas and Cynthia Molz of Oakland and a 1998 graduate of Southern High School, plans to obtain an A.A. degree in business administration from GCC. She then intends to transfer to Frostburg State University where she plans to earn a bachelor's degree in marketing. Her career goal is to work in advertising and sales with broadcast media.

Molz was a member of the National Honor Society at Southern, and is a member of the Ecumenical Youth Ministry of Garrett County. She lists sketching and traveling as her hobbies, as well as her newfound sport of snowboarding.

Matthew Fletcher, son of Mel and JoAnn Fletcher of the Frostburg area of Garrett County, graduated this spring from Northern High School. He intends to major in general studies at GCC.

At Northern, Fletcher was selected for Who's Who Among American High School Students, and was named student of the month this past February and the Snow Ball King in 1996. He was also the Huskies' selection as defensive player of the year in soccer, best racketeer in tennis, and earned varsity letters in three separate sports.

Fletcher has served as assistant director and coach of the Northern High School Dribbler's Club. He was awarded a Certificate of Meritorious Service by the Maryland Department of Education for donating over 100 hours of volunteer community service as he and his father worked together to build a practice soccer field at Northern.

Fletcher is the grandson of Marshall and Vianna Fletcher of Flintstone and Ed and Frances Heavner of Fort Ashby, W.Va., and attends the First Church of the Nazarene in Cumberland.

"Two dynamic youth evangelists from Boulder, Colo., will be on hand to present the five-day program, which includes entertaining tricks, dramatized stories, Bible drills, lifetime souvenirs, beautiful daily gifts, contests, gospel magic, and daily refreshments.

"We extend a cordial invitation to all youth, ages 4 to 19, regardless of denomination, to participate in this week of special activity," Leatherman said.

"Fortress Frenzy," a teen rally for teens from seventh through twelfth grades, is slated from 6 to 9 p.m. each evening from this Saturday, July 11, through Thursday, July 16. Thomas Named Asst. Director, Appalachian Lab

James E. Thomas, McHenry, has been named assistant director for support services for the University of Maryland Center for Environmental Sciences' (UMCES) Appalachian Laboratory, which will move to a new building at the end of this year. Thomas will assume his responsibilities for the 46,000 square foot facility effective July 15, 1998.

For the past two years, Thomas has served as the associate director of facilities for Frostburg State University (FSU). In his new position at UMCES, his responsibilities will shift to managing the operations and business office for the region's state-of-the-art environmental science building, located a few hundred yards from the main part of the FSU campus.

"I am really excited about the possibilities of this new position. Whenever you're dealing with a project on this scale and on this high a level of sophistication, it's bound to bring with it some unique challenges," Thomas said.

The new laboratory, slated to open in December, will include high-tech instrumentation specifically designed to study terrestrial, freshwater, and watershed ecology. Classrooms with the latest interactive video capabilities are also part of the new lab. "The new building is long overdue for the UMCES faculty now headquartered in Gunter Hall—a beautiful, but old, building on the campus of FSU," stated an FSU spokesperson. "Laboratory experiments are now conducted in a cramped converted kitchen, and office space is carved from a former dining room."

"James Thomas brings a wealth of experience to this position, much of it gained right here in our own back yard," commented Dr. Louis Pitelka, director of the Appalachian Laboratory. "He not only knows the technical aspects of the job but also knows the personnel involved regionally and statewide to make things work smoothly for this facility," Pitelka continued. "I am delighted to welcome him to our staff."

Thomas's past experience includes success as a senior construction manager at the West Virgima Energy Center and experience in the regional sales and mining industries. He has an associate's degree from Garrett Community College, a bachelor's degree in industrial technology from Roger Williams University, and a master of science degree in business administration from Frostburg State University. Thomas lives with his wife, Mary Pat, and their two sons, Tim and Brent, near Deep Creek Lake.

A successful company learns to manufacture efficiently, and to cut waste. Sometimes the company uses its waste materials to create a product that's unrelated to its main source of income.

The J.W. Murray Manufacturing Co. of Detroit started making stamped metal body parts for automobiles in 1908. Murray realized that the leftover scrap metal could be made into a profitable product, and in 1914, he started to make toy pedal cars.

World War I ended Murray's toy production, but in 1919, he started Murray Products, a toy manufacturing company in Cleveland. The company first made educational toys, including the Drawing Master, which could duplicate a drawing.

By 1923, the company made a 26-inch-long steel model of a full-size White truck plus a line of toys and trucks known as "Steelcraft."

The company also made pedal cars, pull trucks, airplanes, buses, construction toys, tricycles and bicycles.

After World War II, the firm stopped making the smaller toys and concentrated on pedal cars and bikes.

One reason for the company's success as the modern design of its products. Murray hired famous industrial designers such as Viktor Schreckengost, who created famous ceramic designs for Cowan Pottery.

Collectors desire all large steel toys made in the 1920s and '30s. Some, in excellent condition with original paint, sell for thousands of dollars.

Home Tips

OUTDOOR GRILL CLEANING – When finished cooking, lay a wet cloth on your grill – it steams off all food particles and burned-on grease and it makes outside cleanup a joy. Leave the cloth on until you're finished eating and then clean. Rita D., Monroe, N.Y.

CHIP SCRAPS – There are always lots of small broken pieces of chips left in the bottom of a bag of potato chips.

Just dump them into a zipper-top plastic bag and store in the fridge, adding crumbs from time to time – different flavors don't matter. When you have a sufficient amount of pieces, use them to top a casserole. You don't need to add oil or butter, as the crumbs have enough already in them. Jean C., Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio

TOY WARNING – After replacing my tomato pin cushion, I was about to give it to my little daughter to play with in her kitchen set.

To be safe, I squeezed it a few times to check for any pins or needles that might have found their way inside. Well, the more I turned it around and squeezed, the more needles I found. I decided it wasn't worth the risk and I threw it away. My daughter got her very own new tomato.

This was a reminder to me to always be careful when recycling toys or anything else for children.

CHANG AND ENG: THE ORIGINAL SIAMESE TWINS

In a Siamese village in 1811, Nok gave birth to twins joined at the breastbone by a band of flesh. She decided to beat Chang and Eng no differently from her other children. Their remarkable stories are told in July's Biography magazine.

After struggling to learn to walk, they soon ran, swam, even rowed the houseboat with perfect coordination. This activity stretched their connecting ligament enough so they were able to stand side-by-side with arms around each other's shoulders instead of face-to-face.

When the twins were eight, a cholera epidemic took their father and all but two of their seven siblings. To support their family, they became merchants. Their business savvy, plus the curiosity factor, ensured their success.

Robert Hunter, a mercenary Scottish merchant, convinced them of the glamour and riches of world travel, becoming the 18-year-old twins' legal guardians until they were 21. They began a relentless itinerary as touring performers, fascinating crowds internationally. Tired of being underpaid and overworked, they declared their independence at 21, launching their own career. Now famous as "The Siamese Twins," they became cultured and wealthy.

A friend invited them to vacation in North Carolina. They liked it so much, they retired to become gentlemen farmers. They eventually married Adelaide and Sarah Yates over the outraged objection of their parents. Initially, the newlyweds spent their nights in a specially-made four-person bed, but the sisters grew weary of communal living. The two families split their residences, with the brothers alternating homes every three days. They also alternated dominance, with the "host" brother making all decisions.

Over the next 20-odd years, Chang's family produced ten offspring and Eng's, eleven. Chang suffered a stroke from which he never totally recovered. Plagued by deteriorating health, he finally died at 63, with Eng following simply through panic. Today, between 1,000 to 1,500 living relatives remain.

Housing Trust Awards Grant To Garrett County

Garrett was among the 10 counties and Baltimore City named last week as recipients of grants from the Maryland Affordable Housing Trust (MAHT). Awards totaling $708,525 will help provide 330 units of affordable housing around the state.

Funds are designated to assist with acquisition, rehabilitation, construction and start-up costs, and home ownership counseling programs. The amount slated for Garrett County is $100,000, which will be used for pre-development costs for Overlook North, a 60-uuit project of Garrett County Community Action Inc., located in Oakland.

"This continues Maryland's tradition of helping to increase the amount of safe, affordable housing available for low- and moderate-income residents," said Gov. Parris N. Glendening. He also noted that the program is helpful for non-profit agencies dedicated to home ownership and affordable rental projects.

MAHT was created by the Maryland General Assembly in 1992 and is funded by a portion of the interest generated by title company escrow accounts. To date, title companies doing business in Maryland have generated more than $6.6 million dollars for the trust, which has awarded eight rounds of grants. The Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development provides staff assistance for the Trust.

Residents living in MAHT-supported units must have incomes of less that 50 percent of the state or area median income. In some of the developments, only a portion of the project benefits from the grant, meaning only some of the units are restricted to MAHT eligibility standards.

The Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development works with partners to revitalize communities, encourage home ownership, expand affordable housing opportunities, and enhance Maryland's historic sites and traditions.

VICTORY AT HAND - It was estimated that one billion persons worldwide were glued to their television sets Sunday afternoon to watch the finals of the World Cup Soccer Tournament between Brazil and France. A number of Garrett County sets were tuned to the match, but nowhere in the county was there a more interested, enthusiastic group of viewers than in the parish hall of St. Peter's Catholic Church in Oakland. St. Peter's was hosting a 40-member boys choir from Paris, which performed Saturday evening at the church and again during worship services on Sunday. Obviously, the young people were most desirous to have access to a television that afternoon do they could watch the match and rout for their countryman. The photo above was taken as France scored its third goal in the waning moments of the match and went on to record a 3-0 upset victory over the Brazilian team. Within five minutes of the match's conclusion, the boys boarded their bus to move on to their next performance location.

Programs Of Studies For Health, Reading, BSS Reviewed By BOE

Members of the Garrett County Board of Education, meeting Tuesday night in regular session, reviewed and discussed several programs of study, related texts and policies. Among the instructional concerns presented for consideration were the Back to School School policies and procedures, the programs of studies for reading/language arts K-5 and 6-8, and health 6-8, and recommendations on elementary mathematics texts.

Before addressing items on the meeting agenda, school board members and others present observed a moment of silence for teachers Karen Thrasher and Caroline Wilt who died recently.

Back To School School

Wilda Massi, director of pupil services, reviewed with board members information on the new program of Back to School School, a three-day program that will be required for all students wishing to return to school. The goal of this program is to reduce the "revolving door" syndrome of students, dropping out and returning only to drop out again, Massi explained. "We strongly emphasize parental involvement in this program," she said.

Scheduled to run August 3-5, the BSS will result in no additional expense for the BOE, Massi said. The classes will be conducted by the guidance counselors, who are under 11-month contracts.

Massi attributed the concept for the school reentry program to school superintendent Dr. Wendell Teets. "Dr. Teets first suggested this program and we visited the Grafton (W.Va.) school district to see how it worked," she said. Much of the policy for the program is based on the Grafton system, which has a 7-year history.

Alternative School

Massi also introduced a proposal for an alternative school program that would target high school students grades 9-12, who have been recommended for expulsion and reassigned to an interim placement.

This program would be funded through a $50,000 grant from the Garrett County Local Management Board, coordinated by Bob

Stanley Smith Family Foundation Donates $24,000 In First Year

The Stanley P. Smith Family Foundation, which was established just over one year ago "for the benefit of the people of Garrett County," awarded its first donations to eight local not-for-profit organizations/agencies this week in the total amount of $24,000. On hand for the check distributions was Stanley P. Smith Jr., now a resident of Malaga, Spain, who created the foundation in memory of his father, the late Stanley P. Smith, his mother, the late Marion Q. Smith, and his brother, the late Warren Q. Smith.

The foundation was organized on May 30, 1997, as a private, non-operating foundation, and what was distributed this week was a portion of the earnings from the foundation principal. The first benefactors were: the Garrett County Health Department ($3,000), the Oakland Mayor and Town Council ($5,000), the Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross ($2,500), Garrett County Community Action ($2,500), the House of Hope ($3,000), Ruth Enlow Library ($3,000), the Garrett County Arts Council ($3,000), and the Garrett County Historical Society ($2,000).

The elder Mr. Smith was a successful lawyer whose career was spent primarily in Washington, D.C., in the practice of international law. He purchased a house in Oakland in 1951 and spent considerable time in that house, as did his wife and children. Smith died in Oakland in 1972, Mrs. Smith died in Spain in 1992, and Warren Smith died there in 1993. All are interred in Garrett County Memorial Gardens. Stanley P. Smith Jr., who resides in Spain, returned to the Smith house in Oakland a few weeks ago after being away for 22 years.

According to Patrick I. Conroy and his wife Kimberly, foundation trustees, the foundation's initial purpose is to function as a grant-awarding foundation. "Our goal will be to provide funding assistance to selected local non-profit organizations whose work directly affects the lives of the citizens of Garrett County," Pat Conroy said.

The foundation also has an advisory committee, the members of which are Delegate George Edwards, Karen Myers, Rob Michael, Oakland Mayor Asa McCain Jr., Mark Stutzman, and Don Sincell.

The checks were presented Tuesday afternoon at the Oakland municipal building to representatives of the various beneficiary organizations and agencies. "This is indeed a happy day for me," stated Stanley Smith, who assisted with the presentations. "I am very pleased to be in a position to help the good people of Garrett County."

Conroy said that the committee members met several times to determine whom the first benefactors of the foundation should be. "It is their intention, and it is the intent of the foundation, to benefit as many county residents as possible, from Oakland to Friendsville to Bloomington to Finzel," Conroy said. "This, I believe, is indicated

"Front Porch Pickin'" To Be Next Garrett Lakes Offering

Mountain music played on Appalachian instruments, down-home humor, and foot-tapping rhythms are all part of the "Appalachian Echoes: More Front Porch Pickin'" program by Betty Mattingly and Friends, to be presented by the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival at Garrett Community College, July 25 at 8 p.m. and July 26 at 3 p.m. The program will be sponsored by community civic and service organizations.

The program will feature a number of regional performers, many of them family members, who preserve the mountain heritage as they practice their art. Patty Loman, master teacher and musician for the state of West Virginia, will serve as mistress of ceremonies. Loman, a retired school teacher, now spends her time teaching hammered dulcimer, researching, publishing instructional materials, and doing musical programs. She will perform with other hammered dulcimer players Bonnie Friend, Becky Yoder, and Patty Morfoot.

Several family groups will perform in the program. The Speyer Trio from the White Church area, consisting of Gary, Karen, and 14-year-old Katie, will sing and play bass, guitar, and fiddle. Eleven-year-old Bethany Lewis will be accompanied by her father Joe. Kenny and Dowell Kooken, Bloomington, who recently celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary and who have seven grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren, will sing and play mandolin, guitar, and harmonica. The couple frequently entertain at nursing homes in the area. Kenny is retired from Westvaco, with 44 years of service, and is a U.S. Navy veteran of World War 11.

The Gortner Quartet from Gortner Union Church will sing gospel songs a capella in four-part harmony. The group, consisting of Carol Newman, soprano, Harriet Moon, alto, Tony Kanagy, tenor, and Ralph Lichty, bass, have been performing together for 8 to 10 years at local churches, hymn-sings, and for shut-ins and elderly.

Hammers & Strings, a local Garrett County band, will perform with hammered dulcimers, guitar,

Ex-Employee Sentenced For Yoder's Theft

A former employee who was accused of theft from Yoder's Meat Packers and damaging plant property after being terminated was sentenced to five years in jail during last week's Garrett County Circuit Court proceedings.

Joseph Christopher Yutzy, 22, Frostburg (Allegany County), pleaded guilty to felony theft and was handed a five-year jail term by Judge James Sherbin, with 18 months concurrent for a guilty plea to a misdemeanor theft charge.

According to the charging statement, Yutzy and a co-defendant were observed by several Yoder's night shift employees removing items from vehicles in the company parking lot during the early morning hours of January 10. Several employees chased Yutzy, who they recognized as a terminated

IS THE MAYOR ON A SAFARI? Though he was decked out for seeking desperate prey in deepest, darkest jungles, Asa McCain was actually at home in Oakland when this photo was taken Tuesday. In fact, Mayor McCain was knee-deep in the Little Yough River surrounded by rubber ducks. The river-worthiness of the birds had to be tested, and the mayor was up to the job. The most promising of the feathered fowl was selected as the type that will be available for residents to purchase and to enter in the great Oakland rubber duckie race to be held August 31 on the Little Yough. Funds will benefit the Oakland station and the Main Street program. See story on page A5.

Gunman Flees Following Armed Robbery At Deep Creek Business

A man brandishing a semi-automatic weapon fled on foot with $1,400 after holding up an business near Deep Creek Lake Sunday night.

Maryland State Police at the McHenry barrack reported that at approximately 10:49 p.m. a white male carrying a handgun entered the A & D Dairy Delite on Garrett Highway through an unlocked rear door.

The suspect ordered one of the owners to give him the money or be killed for not doing so, the police said. The gunman then allegedly fired one .380 round into an interior wall of the building.

The second owner confronted the suspect, and both owners were then forced, at gunpoint, into a bathroom by the suspect who then fled the scene, the police reported.

The suspect was described as a white male in his early 20s, about 6 feet tall and weighing approximately 200 pounds, with reddish-blond hair, and having a light complexion. He reportedly wore a dark bandanna over his face.

The investigation by state police is continuing. Anyone with information about this case is asked to call the McHenry barrack at 301-387-1101 or 301-895-1101.

DHCD Awards Three Grants For Local Projects

The Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development (DHCD) has approved Neighborhood Business Development Program (NBDP) grants for three projects in Garrett County.

The Appalachian Parent Association (APA) received a $35,575 NBDP grant toward the renovation of the former Shaffer Ford building in Oakland for use as office-administrative space for APA and program space for vocational training. The project will enable APA to consolidate its operations from scattered site locations into the Oakland central business district.

APA provides services to developmentally disabled adults in Garrett County.

The Garrett County Chamber of Commerce/Oakland Downtown Revitalization project received $30,000 towards administrative costs to coordinate revitalization of downtown sites. This grant will provide the administrative resources needed to implement various development goals of the downtown revitalization plan over a three-year period.

The Garrett County Community Action Committee (GCCAC) was the recipient of a $72,800 grant. The NBDP funds will complement training and technical assistance to be provided by the Garrett Community College and the Fire, Rescue Assn. Seeking More Volunteers

The Garrett County Volunteer Fire and Rescue Association, which consists of representatives of the county's fire departments and rescue squads, will meet later this month to develop a plan for the recruitment and retention of additional volunteers for their organizations. This was a topic of discussion at a meeting of the association this past spring, according to Jim Raley, president, who said that several local departments/companies are currently forced to respond to emergency calls with incomplete crews.

"The need is out there and our job is to find ways to involve more people in the volunteer emergency service," Raley said, adding that the association is interested in hearing suggestions from all such organizations on ways to increase the active membership rolls.

"We are getting some new members, but much of the time they disappear within the first year or two," stated Andy Andersen of the Deer Park Community Volunteer Fire Department. He said that some companies are able to produce a crew of only four or five members, especially during the daytime hours when many of them are working and unable to respond.

"The association may be calling upon local businesses for support in our efforts," Raley said, "in the form of allowing volunteers to respond at key times, or in the form of financial assistance to local departments needing and wishing to pursue programs for recruitment and retention."

The next meeting of the association, at which time the issue will be considered in greater detail, will be held July 29 at the Grantsville fire hall, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Three-Vehicle Pileup Sends Trio To Hospital

A Tuesday afternoon collision involving three vehicles at the intersection of Garrett Highway and George Washington Highway sent three people to the hospital for treatment.

According to information provided by the Garrett County Sheriff's Department, shortly before 1 p.m. a Chevrolet Beretta driven by Roger Lynn Gandee, 30, collided with a Chevrolet Cavalier driven by Shannon Leigh McLaughlin, 18, Morgantown, W.Va., totally disabling Mclaughlin's vehicle. As a result of that collision, Gandee's vehicle, which was also occupied by a passenger, David Allen Cutter, 36, Grafton, was thrown into the path of a Peterbuilt semi-tractor cab operated by Dennis Lee Harvey, 47, Oakland.

Emergency personnel from Southern Garrett Rescue Squad, Tucker County EMS, and the Gorman Volunteer Fire Department were called to the scene along with sheriff's deputies. Three of the parties involved, Gandee, Cutter, and McLaughlin, were transported to Garrett Memorial Hospital, where they were each treated and released.

No further information was available, and the investigation is continuing.

Clarification Noted

In a story published in the July 2 issue of The Republican, a report of the most recent county staff meeting was printed. John Nelson, director of the Garrett County Office of Planning and Zoning, was quoted as saying that the plans for the proposed bypass around the town of Oakland have never included the idea of a four-lane road. He later clarified that the initial phase of the construction would be a two-lane roadway, but that the State Highway Administration would be purchasing enough land to have the option of expanding it to a four-lane in the future.

Drama Barter Camp Slated For Children

Registration for Our Town Theatre's Barter Camp has begun. The creative dramatics camp will be held from Monday, July 27, through Friday, July 31, from 10 a.m. to noon.

The participants will be divided into two age groups: children who have just completed kindergarten through second grade, and children who have just completed third through fifth grades. Only 20 campers will be registered in each age group. The community theatre is located at 121 Center Street, Oakland, across the street from the Ruth Enlow Library.

Our Town Theatre's Barter Camp will require an item for the theatre each day in return for the two-hour session. Instead of campers having to pay for admission to the camp, they are asked to bring the following things: Monday, a snack item; Tuesday, a package of toilet paper; Wednesday, a roll of paper towels; Thursday, a box of business-size envelopes; Friday, a book of 32-cent stamps.

Jane Avery, Our Town Theatre's artistic director, and board members Sue Harkins and Liz Rees Gilbert, who are all Garrett County school teachers, will lead the campers through warm-up exercises, an art project, including prop construction and puppetry, movement/voice activities, and a culminating performance each day.

A theme has been selected for each day: Monday, "Who Are You?"; Tuesday, "Animals"; Wednesday, "Circus"; and Thursday, "Where So We Live?" which addresses our regional culture. On Friday, the first hour will be spent in dress rehearsal for the final performance, which will be a showcase of the week's activities, at 11 a.m.

To register, interested persons may call Our Town Theatre at 301-334-5640 and leave the following information: the caller's name, child's name, grade the child has just completed, and the caller's phone number. Callers will receive a confirmation of the child's registration by telephone.

In light of safety issues, Our Town Theatre's board of directors reserves the right to ask the parents of a child behaving inappropriately not to bring their child for the remainder of the week.

Funding for this program is provided, in part, by the Civic Club of Oakland and by the members of Our Town Theatre. The theatre is handicapped-accessible via a ramp to the right of the front door.

According to Jane Avery, "A week of drama and comedy and fun awaits our campers! We welcome children from all over to join us and hope the bartered admission will allow any child who wants this experience to come and be part of a wonderful week."

Child Injured In Deep Creek Lake Boating Accident

A seven-year-old boy sustained a foot injury as a result of a Tuesday evening boating accident on Deep Creek Lake, according to Natural Resources Police (NRP).

The accident occurred in the McHenry cove aboard a 1960 restored Chris Craft at 7:20 p.m. when the boy's foot got caught in a rope that had slipped under the engine cover and wound around the drive shaft. The boat's operator, Kimberly Ann Brady of McHenry, pulled to the shore, where the 911 emergency management center was called.

Responding with NRP to the accident scene were personnel from the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad, Deep Creek Lake Volunteer Fire Company rescue team, Maryland State Police, and park rangers with the Maryland Department of Natural Resources.

Northern Rescue transported the boy to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where he was treated and released. NRP has completed its investigation of the incident and no charges will be filed. Also aboard the craft with Brady and the victim at the time of the accident was another adult and a second child.

Couple Arrested After Loch Lynn Domestic Dispute

Deputies from the Garrett County Sheriff's Office arrested a married couple in Loch Lynn early Saturday morning after a domestic incident at their apartment.

After nearby residents reported a disturbance in the apartment building, sheriff's deputies and officers from the Oakland City Police Department entered the apartment of Russell Eugene Tasker, 26, and his wife, Shelby Ovilene Tasker, 38, and reportedly found holes in the walls, broken furniture and table lamps, and empty beer cans on the floor of the apartment.

Russell Tasker was located lying on a bed, allegedly intoxicated. Shelby Tasker was also in the apartment, and the police report noted that she bore obvious cuts and bruises, and was loud and disorderly.

After investigating the incident, deputies informed the woman that her husband was being arrested for assaulting her; upon hearing this, she allegedly attempted to intervene in the arrest and continued a loud verbal assault upon the deputies, all within earshot of nearby residents. When she was informed that she was being arrested for disorderly conduct, she allegedly struck a deputy, which drew additional charges.

Russell Tasker was charged with second-degree assault, and was subsequently released from jail after posting a $5,000 bond. Shelby Tasker, who was released on her own recognizance, faces charges of second-degree assault, resisting arrest, and disorderly conduct.

In other sheriff's news, a pair of Swanton residents were arrested after a search of their residence this past Thursday uncovered a quantity of suspected marijuana, scales, and drug paraphernalia in the house.

Johnny Ray Barnard, 38, and Bittina Marie Barnard, 36, were both arrested and each was charged with possession of marijuana, possession with intent to distribute marijuana, and possession of drug paraphernalia. Both individuals were released on their own recognizance.

In a separate arrest on the same day, Andrew Eugene Upton, 41, McHenry, was charged with possession of marijuana. He was subsequently released on a $500 bond.

A pair of bicycles and a dog, which may have been injured, were taken from a Crellin Mine Road residence sometime on between Sunday and Tuesday. The complainant reported that the missing mongrel-breed dog had been kept on a rope in the backyard and that there was blood on the ground in that area. The two bicycles, valued at $75 each, were described as a pair of 26-inch boy's 10-speeds, one red and the other black.

Several thefts from parked vehicles occurred in Mtn. Lake Park early Friday morning, and one of the complainants may have come upon the perpetrator as a theft was being carried out.

As a resident was driving up to his Deer Park Avenue home at approximately 12:30 a.m. that morning, he reportedly noticed the interior dome light on in another one of his vehicles parked in front of his residence. As he pulled closer to park and check the situation, a person jumped from the vehicle and fled on foot. Sheriff's deputies were called and a track was begun by a K-9 dog, which proved unsuccessful. The complainant reported that a sum of loose change and several keys were taken from the parked vehicle.

While this incident was being investigated, a second Mtn. Lake Park resident reported that three of his vehicles, all parked near his Broadford Road home, had been entered about the same time. A sum of loose change, several keys, and a pocket knife were taken from those vehicles.

Each vehicle entered that evening was reportedly unlocked. The Garrett County Sheriff's Office, which is seeking leads on these incidents, reminds citizens to secure all cars and homes by keeping them locked at all times.

Mtn. Lake Park Elects Members To Town Council

Residents of Mtn. Lake Park went to the polls on Tuesday to select three members for the town council from among the six candidates on the ballot.

A total of 155 voters, from among approximately 800 registered voters, participated in the municipal election process. The top three vote winners, who will take their seats on the council at the next meeting, were Louis DiCarlo, 110 votes, Harold Murphy, 93 votes, and David Gangler, 70 votes.

Two incumbents, Nancy Learey and Jack Michael, were unseated, with 51 and 58 votes, respectively. Candidate Hannah Sinceil received 57 votes.

Morgantown Man Sentenced For New Year's Eve Assault

A Morgantown, W.Va., man was handed 18 months in jail for assault during his sentencing hearing before visiting Judge Paul Stakem in last week's Garrett County District Court proceedings.

Walter Lee Vincent, 34, had been convicted on three counts of second-degree assault and one count of disorderly conduct in a previous district court trial, at which time he entered a plea of not guilty to each charge. Maryland State Police troopers filed the charges against Vincent after arresting him on New Year's eve for allegedly beating his father and threatening two passersby who had stopped to intervene in the assault.
